French Workers Veto Wage Settlement Plan

STUDENTS BACK GOV'T AGAINST PROTESTERS

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish National Union of Students decided today to close the Stockholm Student Union Building occupied by leftist youth demonstrators since Friday.

The decision followed a threat Sunday night by Swedish Premier Tage Erlander to take tough measures against any violence from the students.

"The government will authorize the police to act against any tendency to violence," he said.

Erlander's views were backed by the opposition parties and even the leader of the Communist party, C. H. Hermansson, declared:

"I dissociate myself decidedly from groups who think that violence and armed power is necessary for advancing the interests of the students or workers."

Many demonstrators left the building during the night and only about 200 remained of the 500 estimated there earlier.

Police have cordoned the building in downtown Stockholm.

The demonstrations started as a protest against the form of university studies in Sweden and an investigation made by a government committee, but the leaders apparently aim at broadening the issue along French lines.

No Progress Made In Paris Peace Talks

Times News Services

PARIS—The United States today called on North Vietnam to join in a request to the International Control Commission of Canada, India and Poland to act immediately to restore the demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams as a neutral buffer zone.

Chief American negotiator W. Averell Harriman made the proposal to North Vietnamese chief delegate Xuan Thuy at the fifth full-scale session of the preliminary peace talks here.

Harriman told the North Vietnamese that agreement on a prompt restoration of the zone to its original status would truly be a step towards peace.

Harriman said that in proposing this "immediate task" for the International Control Commission, the U.S. does not intend to abandon or modify its suggestion made at the first meeting of the conference May 13.

The American delegate said on May 13 that one of the major tasks of the negotiations would be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and ensuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints.

He also said then: "We believe the nations of Asia—which have a crucial interest in the peace and stability of the region—should be associated with the monitoring of the agreements at which we may arrive."

The International Control Commission, now virtually moribund, was set up by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina.

CHARGES AGGRESSION

Harriman today accused North Vietnam of converting demilitarized zone "into a highway for aggression."

Urging North Vietnam to join in an agreement to restore the demilitarized zone's neutral status as a step to help scale down the level of fighting in South Vietnam, he said:

"We believe that the currently constituted International Control Commission has the authority to supervise the restoration and demilitarization of the demilitarized zone . . . and that it should assume this function.

Racial Dispute Hits March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A walkout was threatened today by Mexican-American participants in the Poor People's March, charging they were being discriminated against by the Negro majority. Leaders of the campaign moved quickly to smooth things over and claimed to have succeeded.

"Things are well in hand," said the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy after a long private talk with Reies Tijerina, leader of a contingent of 350 Mexican-Americans who have been housed in a private school since arriving here last week.

Savage Battles In South

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command intensified the Vietnam war during the weekend and for the first time introduced Russian long-range anti-aircraft guns to its air defences just above the demilitarized zone.

Southern allied forces reported killing more than 1,000 Communist troops in a weekend of savage fighting ranging from the outskirts of Saigon to the demilitarized zone.

American casualties were reported as 54 killed and 192 wounded in the series of battles. South Vietnamese losses were termed light.

Sharp fighting continued on three sides of Saigon today. The Viet Cong was believed moving 500 to 1,000 troops toward the capital.

In the air war over North Vietnam, the U.S. command said the Hanoi regime has installed Russian 100-millimetre long-range anti-aircraft guns to bolster its defences just above the demilitarized zone.

A U.S. spokesman said 16 of the big guns were spotted in an area only 38 miles above the DMZ, and American pilots reported destroying or severely damaging all 16 in concentrated attacks Sunday.

HAS LONGER RANGE

U.S. pilots said in the more than three years of air attacks against North Vietnam, the biggest anti-aircraft guns they had seen previously were 85-millimetre, with a range of five miles. The 100-millimetre has a range of 7.7 miles.

The heaviest weekend ground fighting came in the northern sector, where North Vietnamese troops renewed their pressure on the U.S. marine headquarters at Dong Ha, and in the central highlands, where a massive campaign may be shaping up.

U.S. spokesman said superior firepower led to guerrilla defeats in most of the clashes.

About 800 North Vietnamese overran part of a U.S. base 11 miles west of Dak To in the central highlands. In more than seven hours of fighting, 14 U.S. infantrymen were killed and 56 wounded.

THAILAND TO SEND MORE TROOPS

BANGKOK (Reuters)—Thailand will send 5,000 more combat troops to South Vietnam in July at the request of President Johnson, Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today.

Thanom told reporters Johnson requested the dispatch of Thai troops as soon as possible, during Thanom's official visit to Washington last month.

The premier said recruits for a 12,000-man Thai combat division will complete their jungle warfare training at the end of June.

EXTREMISTS STOCKPILE WEAPONS

PARIS (Reuters) — The French interior ministry said today that extremists had stockpiled arms and intended to use them in demonstrations planned by the National Student Union tonight.

A ministry communique said arms depots are known to have been built up.

"A certain number of extremists are intending to use these arms this evening in the course of the demonstrations or after they have dispersed to make a return to law and order impossible.

"The government has taken necessary steps to strengthen the forces of order."

Two Ships Diverted

PARIS (AP) — The French Line announced that the liner France, scheduled to arrive in Le Havre today from New York has been ordered to disembark passengers in Southampton, England, and wait there for further orders because of the strike wave in France.

The liner Antilles, returning from a trip to the Caribbean, was given similar orders Sunday.

The France has 750 passengers and the Antilles 640. Passengers wishing to continue to France will be brought from Southampton aboard foreign liners to Cherbourg.

Postie Head Warns Again Of Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — The leader of 14,000 Canadian postal workers said today that unless the Treasury Board "changes its attitude" there will be a national strike by postal workers "in the near future."

William Kay, national president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, spoke before nearly 400 cheering delegates to the 10th triennial convention here.

While delivering his annual report, he digressed from his text to say:

"It is now my firm conviction that we will be on strike in the near future unless the Treasury Board changes its attitude.

"Accordingly, strike ballots will be mailed May 29 to all locals asking for authority to call a strike."

The CUPW and the 10,000-member Letter Carriers Union of Canada have been bargaining jointly with the government since the last contract expired Aug. 1, 1967.

Under rules for collective bargaining for public servants approved by Parliament last year, the postal workers represented in the dispute can not legally walk off their jobs any earlier than the first week of July.

The legislation allows each side seven days to pick representatives to the conciliation board. A five-day period to agree on a neutral chairman follows.

Concession Fails To End Walkout

PARIS (CP) — The French government today offered a series of costly concessions to meet the grievances of 10,000,000 striking workers and bring an end to the paralysing 11-day general strike, but the immediate response from the workers was "non".

Meetings at big factories in Paris, Lyon, Marseille and Nantes rejected the settlement and for the first time since the strike began Paris was hit by scattered electricity cuts.

Employees of the state-run gas and electricity company were angry because a meeting on their grievances had been put off.

Premier Georges Pompidou announced a settlement among unions, employers and government, including a 10-per-cent pay increase in two stages this year, but union membership reaction was reported bitterly hostile.

Union leaders toured the strikebound factories explaining the agreement, but workers in two key automobile plants in the Paris area rejected the settlement.

Workers shouted their disapproval at the nationalized Renault automobile works and the privately-owned Citroen plant.

Other workers were also voting to continue the strike—at the Berliet truck plant and the Rhodiaceta-Vaise plant at Lyon, the nationalized Sud Aviation airplane plant at Nantes, where the strike wave originated, and nationalized airplane engine factory in Paris.

Trouble developed in another spot this morning when bakery workers went on strike in Toulouse. Only a few residents of the suburbs were able to get bread, a staple of the French diet.

Rumblings were also reported from inside the government. Finance Minister Michel Debre was described as strongly opposed to some of the concessions and sources close to his ministry said he might offer his resignation today.

CONTRARY TO POLICY

Debre viewed the agreement as contrary to the economic policy he was trying to defend, the sources said.

But the major labor leaders expressed cautious satisfaction with the package agreement and said it now would go before the workers.

Georges Seguy, secretary-general of the Communist-led General Confederation of Workers, said acceptance or rejection of the pact should be made "in a short time."

James Maranger, secretary-general of the French Teachers' Union, said the problems of teachers and civil servants were not solved by the agreement and their strike would continue.

Even as Pompidou announced settlement, after 28 hours of urgent talks, weary police prepared to deal with new student demonstrations threatened today.

The settlement also provides for an annual review of wages and shorter working hours—but not the 40-hour week.

It includes a 35-per-cent increase in the minimum wage level to three francs (66 cents) an hour.

Pompidou, looking tired after an overnight session last 15 hours, told reporters: "We have arrived at a whole range of positive solutions and can say they constitute an agreement."

Pompidou said the settlement package included a review of old age benefits and family allowances and a reform of labor union law that would revolutionize relations between employers and salaried workers.

Union leader Seguy said after the meeting: "There still remains much to be done, but our demands have been for the greater part accepted and what has been agreed cannot be dismissed.

"However, we could not give any answer without consulting the workers. We shall explain the results of the talks to them."

Eugene Descamps, head of the more moderate French Confederation of Democratic Labor, also said he would put the agreement before his members. Their answer could take up 48 hours.

In addition to the minimum wage provision, Pompidou said wages in general would be increased by seven per cent June 1 and three per cent Oct. 1.

Pompidou did not announce the working hours agreement, but informed sources said the 48-hour working week would be cut to 46 hours without loss of pay by 1971. Those working between 45 and 48 hours would work one hour less, they said.

The employers agreed to

FRENCH VOTE ON JUNE 16

PARIS (Reuters)—A nationwide referendum which French President de Gaulle said today he will treat as a vote of confidence, will be held June 16, it was announced today.

TRUDEAU'S DATE GETS 'BOUNCE'

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Did the beautiful blonde with the lovely long hair get bounced out of the prime minister's office to the headquarters of the National Liberal Federation because she went dancing with Pierre Elliott Trudeau?

That is the intriguing question making the rounds on Parliament Hill today. The lady in question is Miss Jennifer Rae, 24, charming daughter of Canada's ambassador to Mexico, Sol F. Rae.

A paragraph appeared in a gossip column in a Toronto newspaper Saturday suggesting that she was being transferred from the prime minister's staff because members of the prime-ministerial privy council staff did not regard it as proper that an employee in the office should be socializing with the prime minister.

She received national newspaper coverage and her picture appeared on the front pages when she was Mr. Trudeau's date at Government House at the first state dinner he attended as head of the government.

Tall and leggy, the attractive young lady likes miniskirts. She has been introduced since that state dinner on more than one occasion as the "gorgeous girl who was Mr. Trudeau's date at his first state dinner."

Another Toronto newspaper said: "Permanent members of the prime-ministerial privy council establishment were understood to have been distressed by the publicity." But government sources Monday were busy denying any connection between her transfer and the dinner date.

The explanation by the Liberal federation and James Wightman, assistant press officer to the prime minister, is that Miss Rae was a worker for Mr. Trudeau in his leadership campaign organization.

After the convention she occupied an office in the Parliament Buildings where she carried on with work winding up the details of the leadership campaign, they explain. She has never been on the government payroll, they insist.

★ ★ ★

Miss Rae is bewildered by the additional publicity. She stoutly claims there is nothing unusual in her movement from Parliament Hill to the headquarters.

However, friends of Miss Rae say she was upset when she was informed shortly after the celebrated dinner date that she would be moving off Parliament Hill.

PM Rebukes Anti-French Sign Bearers

FORT CHAMBLY, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau today turned savagely on a group of demonstrators carrying anti-French signs and accused them of trying to divide the country by hate.

The incident occurred as the Liberal leader campaigned through Quebec towns south of Montreal for the June 25 general election.

One of the signs advised Mr. Trudeau to "get the frogs to speak white." It was a crude way of saying get French-Canadians to speak English.

The sign carriers formed only a small part of a crowd of 125 that gathered to hear Mr. Trudeau inside a restored fort overlooking the Richelieu River 10 miles south of Montreal.

Mr. Trudeau said the demonstrators are not English people, but rather "agents provocateurs" pretending they are English in order to create hate in this country.

He said they would not succeed. They were separatists who came "so the press will know there are a few of you stupid guys left."

Some people, he said, believed in hate as a political technique. They proceed by insults and show the smallness of their minds.

Mr. Trudeau said he stood for a strong Quebec and a strong Canada.

U.K. MINISTER'S WORDS STIR RESENTMENT

'Protest . . . Engulf Us All in Bloodshed'

LONDON (AP) — A warning by a member of the British government that the country may face violence and bloodshed stirred resentment in the cabinet today and prompted editorials about the future of democracy in Britain.

Anthony Wedgwood Benn, minister of technology, told a weekend meeting of the Welsh Labor party: "If adjustments are not made to the parliamentary system, discontent expressing itself in despairing apathy or violence protest could engulf us all in bloodshed."

Benn, a senior member of Prime Minister Wilson's cabinet, contended the British people should participate in making decisions through a regular referendum. He said Britain needs a "participating democracy."

The government, he said, should keep in closer touch with public moods and needs. He added the public should be given more information about government activity and more ways to express their views, and more local autonomy.

Government officials were reported to be objecting that Benn, who made the speech without consulting Wilson or other ministers, had gone too far in raising an alarm over potential bloodshed.

And consulting the public through plebiscites, they stressed, is not government policy.

Benn's speech added to mounting objections over the way Wilson's government is handling parliamentary business. Members of Parliament complain that the 630-member House of Commons is overloaded and MPs are being prevented from sufficient debate of important issues.

The Times says Benn is correct in drawing attention to "the dangerous gap" between public opinion and the machinery of government. The newspaper says this is the thread linking disorders in France with questioning of the British political system, and the gap is "the greatest challenge facing democracy today."

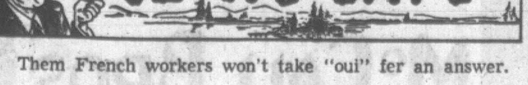
The Times adds, however, that referendums have no place in the British political system. Plebiscites would disrupt government efficiency, bypass Parliament, and ask voters to decide on matters they are not equipped to judge.

The Guardian says Benn is "well justified . . . in insisting that the government must move toward a participating democracy." On his warning of violence, it agrees "Yes, it could happen here."

The Sun says Benn has performed a public service and concedes that Parliament needs streamlining. But government by referendum, the newspaper warns, is a device for going over the head of Parliament.

The Daily Express demands: "There must be an immediate general election. . . . Suddenly the politicians have awoken to the fact that democracy is in danger not only in France and Western Europe but in Britain itself. . . . The mother of parliaments has been turned into a meaningless charade."

The Daily Mail, however, denounces Benn's speech as foolish, dangerous and irresponsible. It says the parliamentary system is sound but Wilson's government "has overloaded it with half-baked legislation."



Them French workers won't take "oui" fer an answer.

ELECTION ROUNDUP

Recount Ruled Out In Defeat of Teillet

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—The troubled election of St. Boniface Mayor Joseph Guay to fight the June 25 federal election for the Liberals in St. Boniface, was validated Sunday by provincial party officials who found "no justification" for a recount of ballots.

The recount was requested by constituency officials on the grounds that 269 ballots at the meeting, which rejected Veterans Affairs Minister Roger Teillet, were not stamped in accordance with the rules.

Mr. Guay won by 97 votes Wednesday and the convention may have set a precedent in Canadian politics in denying a cabinet minister renomination. No one can remember it happening before.

Mr. Guay received 1,341 votes and Mr. Teillet 1,244, but supporters of the cabinet minister won an investigation into voting procedures the next day. This was followed by the St. Boniface Federal Liberal Association requesting the recount.

R. H. McIsaac, federal campaign committee chairman for Manitoba, said his committee found there was no justification for a recount.

OTTAWA (CP) — Preliminary tabulation shows at least 10,791,502 Canadians eligible to vote in the Tuesday, June 25 election, Chief Electoral Officer Jean-Marc Hamel reported today. The final count seems likely to be about 10,875,000.

The preliminary figure is surprisingly low in the face of an earlier estimate that the final total might run as high as 11,250,000. Revisions between now and election day would have to add 458,498 names, an unheard-of number, to reach the estimate.

In the last election, in 1965, the final count of eligibles totalled 10,274,904 of whom 7,713,316, or about 75 per cent, cast ballots.

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau said Sunday the kisses fervent young supporters have been planting on his cheeks may be an expression of political enthusiam.

"I'd much rather see them do that than see them withdraw from society," he declared on the CBC television program The Way It Is. The pecks may be the prelude to "a more mature expression of enthusiasm."

But Mr. Trudeau chided the press for exaggerating the import of kissing in reports on the campaign for the June 25 general election:

"I don't think it characteristic of my campaign."

"Robert Stanfield, Progressive Conservative leader, was also interviewed on the program.

He criticized Mr. Trudeau's concept of a "just society," saying he preferred "a society with a large element of compassion in it."

★ ★ ★

HULL, Que. (CP)—Two Liberal MPs in the last Parliament fought it out Sunday for the party nomination in Hull riding and Gaston Isabelle won, upsetting incumbent Pierre Caron by a slim margin.

Mr. Caron was elected member for Hull in a byelection last year brought about by the death of his father, Alexis Caron, MP for Hull from 1953 to 1967.

Dr. Isabelle was elected member for neighboring Gatineau in 1965 but redistribution sliced up his riding, adding about half of it to Hull, and forced him to fight it out with Mr. Caron.

★ ★ ★

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal election ballot lists the names, addresses and occupations of candidates in a riding, but the voter must rely on his own memory if he intends to vote by party.

The ballot makes no mention of party affiliation, although the common practice for all but a few candidates is to run under the banner of a political party.

The theory is that designation of a candidate's political party on the ballot might bind him morally to the party if he becomes an MP. It might also create difficulties if more than one candidate claims to represent a party.

800 Visit Youth Centre On Weekend

An estimated 800 Victorians visited the city's new youth centre over the weekend.

Guitars, drums and crowds marked the Broad Street Centre's open house, termed "very successful" by 19-year-old organizer Alan Elford.

"The weekend has been a great help," he said. "There were a lot of new faces.

"And on Sunday there were a lot of adults."

The centre was set up as a spot for young people to gather in the downtown area without fear of bothering anyone else.

The group received an initial boost from churches and businesses, and membership is $2. Members are free to sit around and talk over coffee and coke or plan organized events. At a regular Sunday meeting, members will plan the centre's activities.

Mr. Elford said he hopes many other young people will "drop-in" for a look.

"We hope the word spreads throughout the schools over the next couple of days and we will see more new faces next weekend," he said.

Wrecked by Vandals

LONDON (CP) — Canadian-made electronic equipment being installed at London Heathrow Airport has been wrecked by vandalism, an airline spokesman said Sunday. The equipment, known as FIND for flight information display, is being returned to the Montreal makers — RCA Victor — for rebuilding, the spokesman for British European Airways said. He said cost of the Find system was more than $250,000 and damage was estimated at $65,000.

Storm Stalls Skyride, Some Caught 9 Hours

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A skyride that stalled during a thunderstorm left 55 children trapped—many for as long as nine hours—60 feet over an amusement park during the weekend.

Firemen braved 65-mile-an-hour winds to climb swaying extension ladders to rescue most of the children late Saturday. The remaining 15 youths rode the skyway to the ground when it finally was fixed early Sunday morning.

Louis Garner, president of the Lakeland Amusement Park, kept the mile-long, 20-minute sightseeing ride closed Sunday pending the arrival Wednesday of an engineer from the Swiss firm that manufactured the equipment.

The "Brussels World Fair Skyride" was purchased in 1960 for $250,000 and Garner said it had ridden "several million" passengers without a serious accident until Saturday.

The dramatic incident, which left the youths scared and cold and their parents shaken, apparently had little effect upon the popularity of the skyride. Garner said many of the crowded patrons of the park Sunday wanted to know when the ride would be reopened.

study union demands on retirement arrangements and the government will raise the minimum pension starting Oct. 1.

There also will be family allowance reviews in the next budget.

Pompidou said the government, employers and unions would hold another meeting before Oct. 1 "for a vast examination of all problems concerning employment."

If the settlement is ratified by the workers, its cost may force President de Gaulle to curtail or even abandon such expensive items as his nuclear strike force and large-scale aid to developing countries. He may also have to dig deep into France's hoard of gold which he has been using to put pressure on the U.S. dollar and the British pound.

Meanwhile, France continued to be paralysed by the strike, the greatest popular protest movement in three decades.

With gasoline limited to a few priority groups, morning traffic in Paris was cut to a trickle.

Druggists warned their stocks of drugs were running dangerously low and stores were running out of cigarettes.

Public transport and most of industry was at a standstill.

"Therefore, if you accept the proposal I have made, I call upon you to join with us in a request to the International Control Commission to act at once to provide supervisory machinery to assure that the demilitarized zone is in fact respected."

Thuy, in his statement, concluded with this question: "When does the United States cease unconditionally their bombardments and all other acts of war on the entire territory on the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam in order to permit discussions to go on to other problems of interest to the two sides?"

REJECTS HANOI POSITION

Harriman replied that the United States rejects "the suggestion now being urged by you that the only reason for our meetings is to give the hour and date of the cessation of bombing."

If that was the only purpose of the Paris conversations, Harriman said, they would not be necessary. The fact is, Harriman argued. that Hanoi made clear in its messages arranging for the meeting that it was "prepared to enter into discussions which could lead up to a cessation of the bombing."

A spokesman for North Vietnam said in releasing Thuy's statement his delegation heard no new ideas from the United States although he understood Harriman was to offer some.

Today's session, the fifth in two weeks of meetings, lasted for four hours and 10 minutes. The next meeting was set for Friday.

U.S. deputy chief negotiator Cyrus R. Vance arranged to leave for Washington report to President Johnson.

The major issues in the talks are deadlocked, but Western diplomats believe North Vietnam is moving toward a concession to the U.S. demand that it admit the presence of its troops in South Vietnam.

HAVE THE RIGHT

This view is based on a statement in Hanoi Friday by Premier Pham Van Dong. He said the Vietnamese people "have the right" to go fight "wherever the enemy exists."

U.S. officials denied at the time that this implicitly admitted the presence of Hanoi's troops in South Vietnam, but they do not deny the possibility that North Vietnam is preparing the basis for such an admission.

Today, Hanoi's army newspaper said it was the duty of "all Vietnamese to fight the American aggressor in all Vietnam to final victory."

The U.S. command in Saigon estimates that North Vietnam has 85,000 of its troops in the South. Harriman has argued that such problems of peacemaking as these troops will be impossible to solve unless they are dealt with realistically.

Both Harriman and Thuy have recognized the possibility that the talks may fail, but both appear satisfied to move slowly toward a showdown on the main issue now before them—the end of all U.S. attacks on North Vietnam.

Franc Reels

PARIS (Reuters) — The franc reeled under the impact of today's wage concessions to striking workers but senior bankers virtually dismissed the idea of a knockout blow like devaluation.

Despite an expected short but explosive flight away from the franc, bankers did not expect things to reach speculative proportions.

The Banque de France, with some $6,000,000,000—80 per cent in gold—to back the franc, can openly support operations.

This means buying francs and maintaining their price regardless of a drop in international demand for the currency.

But the franc price in terms of the U.S. dollar reached a new 1968 low today.

In unofficial private deals between banks here today, the franc was traded against the U.S. dollar at 4.9745 compared with 4.9920 May and 4.9210 at the start of the year.

Cash Lack Cuts Family Service Plans

Several proposed programs of the Family and Children's Service in Victoria have been lopped because of lack of money.

Plans for a satellite office that would serve Indians and expansion of group care and unmarried parents' programs have been hit by the provincial government in effect freezing the budget at 1967 levels.

Daycare, a program that involves more than 100 children whose mothers often have been deserted or widowed, cannot be expanded.

And proposals for hostels for adolescent boys and girls, and receiving and remand homes running in connection with the family court, were shattered.

Gordon Wright, executive director of the service, confirmed the B.C. government has lopped about $400,000 off the proposed 1968 budget of $1.9 million. This left it with about the same budget as 1967.

However, costs directly related to the maintenance of children will be met as required.

Five Victorians To Attend Health Meeting

Several Victorians will attend the annual B.C. conference on health and welfare in Vancouver this week.

The conference, sponsored by the Voluntary Association for Health and Welfare, will run Thursday and Friday at the University of British Columbia.

Island representatives will be John Bliss of the Federal department of health and welfare, E. W. Drake of the department of social welfare, Mrs. Mary Booth, Mrs. Sheilagh Folks of Silver Threads and Wilma Thomas of the school of social work.

Theme of the conference will be the generation gap and senior students of several high schools will be delegates, along with representatives of senior citizens' groups.

The keynote address will be delivered by Dr. Benjamin Schlesinger of the University of Toronto school of social work. Dr. Carl Kline, an orthopsychiatrist with the Vancouver children's aid society will address a public meeting at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

The conference will conclude with the annual meeting of the association.

Uvic Delay Upsets Social Workers

VANCOUVER — A resolution expressing "the greatest concern" at postponement of a school of social welfare in the University of Victoria was passed by the B.C. Association of Social Workers Saturday.

Association president Gordon Wright said undergraduate training in social work is vitally important.

"We strongly support and are pushing the idea of undergraduate training, a social work training course in the four years at university instead of the bachelor's degree," he said.

Last week Uvic president Dr. Malcolm Taylor said lack of funds will force the university to postpone launching a school of social welfare slated to open in the fall of 1969.

At the association meeting, a resolution was passed changing the basis of membership. After December, there will be two categories: associate and fully-active.

The latter will only be available to persons with a BA or equivalent and who have completed a basic training course.

Mr. Wright, in his address to the convention, said half the social workers in B.C. cannot give the public any assurance of their competence.

The association has about 600 members and another 600 persons who call themselves social workers do not belong.

Mr. Wright said a professional is a member of the association, a supporter of its ethical goals and standards. Second to this he is an employee.

Those outside the association "have one horizon — the program of their own agency; one loyalty — to their agency and perhaps to their future advancement in that agency."

A young laborer in Sao Paulo, Brazil, and a retired office worker in Richmond, Va., were reported holding their own today after heart transplants.

The two operations performed nearly 5,000 miles apart brought to eight the number of men living with grafted hearts. The six others are in the United States, France, England and South Africa.

Officials at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond refused to give out any information on their patient who underwent surgery Saturday, but all indications were that he is in satisfactory condition.

He has been identified unofficially as Joseph G. Klett, 54, of Orange, Va., a retired purchasing agent. Mrs. Klett talked with her husband Sunday and said he looked "wonderful."

Dr. Richard R. Lower, chairman of the college's division of cardiac and thoracic surgery, and Dr. David M. Hume, chairman of the department of surgery, headed the team performing the transplant.

In Sao Paulo, a team of 41 specialists simultaneously transplanted the heart and kidney of a young automobile accident victim into two different patients Sunday. Both recipients were reported in good condition.

FERREIRA de CUNHA
. . . recipient

The heart transplant at Sao Paulo's Hospital das Clinicas was the first performed in Latin America and the 17th performed in the world.

The recipient in the heart graft was Joao Ferreira de Cunha, 23-year-old laborer from Mato Grosso state. The operation was performed by Dr. Eurecylides de Jesus Zerbini, 56, one of Latin America's leading cardiologists.

The kidney recipient was identified only as a young woman with the initials M.E.L. Dr. Geraldo Campos Freire, head of the transplan tteam said the kidney began functioning normally three minutes after the operation.

In Cape Town, South Africa, routine medical tests on Dr. Philip Blaiberg, who has lived nearly five months with a transplanted heart, have been "entirely successful," his wife said today.

Blaiberg was readmitted to Groote Schurr Hospital last Friday after 2½ months at home, but there is no cause for concern, said Mrs. Eileen Blaiberg.

"The main reason for these tests is to get a detailed and accurate record of Dr. Blaiberg's recovery so that this may be used as a guide in the recovery patterns of future heart transplant patients," she said.

Second 'Quake Cut N.Z. Power Supplies

WELLINGTON (Reuters)—A sharp earthquake hit the Hawks Bay area of the North Island of New Zealand Sunday, cutting off power supplies in some places.

The quake came in a series of tremors lasting about four seconds. No damage was immediately reported.

Two severe earthquakes hit the South Island Friday and Saturday, causing widespread damage.

1,200 Cheer Stanfield At Brockville Meeting

Special to the Times

BROCKVILLE — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield suggested here Saturday that the current turmoil in France is a good example of why Canada should never adopt a French-style constitution.

Addressing his first major Ontario rally of the election campaign, Stanfield said Canada's future will best be served through retention of the British form of government, although parliament should be streamlined.

More then 1,200 cheering persons jammed the red-brick civic auditorium here to meet Stanfield, who had flown into Ontario on an overnight flight from Kelowna, B.C.

The Tory leader will spend all this week campaigning in southern and western Ontario, sometimes hitting three or four communities a day.

WARMLY RECEPTIVE

The Saturday night audience was warmly receptive to Stanfield, and he even received a Trudeau-style kiss from 15-year-old Melodie Bell, whose birthday is the same date as the Opposition Leader, April 11.

Discussing the need for reform of Canada's constitution, Stanfield said a great deal of rewriting is needed, but cautioned the British form of government must be maintained.

He said France has had one constitution after another, and all they have produced is one crisis after another.

"France now finds itself in the position where yesterday General de Gaulle went on national television to demand that the country endorse him personally," Stanfield said.

"If he doesn't receive it, he resigns and the country will no doubt be plunged into deeper turmoil for a time.

"This atmosphere of confrontation and crisis is not the way to achieve a stable or happy society. And I trust Canada and Canadians will continue to reject any invitation to proceed with our constitutional evolution in that way."

Stanfield warned that parliament too can be undermined and weakened, and suggested the Liberal government has tried to do so.

Prime Minister Trudeau regards parliament with "amused contempt," the Tory leader charged, and the government's renewal of the NORAD treaty with the U.S. was a good example of decision by decree.

Attacking Trudeau again, Stanfield declared: "He solemnly convened a parliament at a cost of thousands of dollars, simply to put on a five minute show for the entertainment of the country.

"He announced that he had already obtained the documents dissolving the House, and sent parliament packing.

"The House of Commons in this was used as a convenience, a stage, a concert hall for a prime ministerial performance," Stanfield said.

REFORM NEEDED

If a Conservative government is elected June 25, parliament would be reformed in a number of ways, the leader said.

Greater use would be made of parliamentary committees and the committees would be established for the duration of a parliament;

Expert and professional advice would be available to the committees, and chairmen would be named from both the opposition and the government;

Individual members of parliament would be provided with larger staffs for research and constituency work;

And a program of parliamentary internship would be established whereby journalists, lawyers, and political scientists would go to Ottawa for study periods.

FARMERS' NEEDS

Stanfield also spoke Saturday of the problems of Eastern Canadian farmers, promising that a Tory government would revitalize the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act; would introduce livestock insurance; and would make low-interest loans available to farmers.

"It is not an easy job to run a country," the Tory declared, "particularly in these times when uncertainty is growing in the international community.

"We will need the kind of government which can withstand the worst that might occur and bring out the best that Canada can summon.

"This is the kind of government," he concluded, "which we will form, and I will lead, with your help."

Today (Monday) Stanfield holds meetings in Sarnia, Wallaceburg and Chatham.

URGES LOANS

Caouette Unveils Platform

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — Creditiste Leader Real Caouette unveiled his campaign platform for the June 25 federal elections Sunday with the suggestion that the Bank of Canada lend money interest-free to public institutions.

Public institutions are the property of all Canadians and should therefore be able to borrow money from the Bank of Canada without paying interest, Mr. Caouette told a group of Creditiste delegates and candidates in this community 40 miles east of Montreal.

Bank of Canada funds should be used to develop a distinctly Canadian industry and to stimulate Canadian initiative.

He called for tax exemption for bachelors earning under $3,000 a year and married persons who earn less than $5,000. Aged persons should be given a livable minimum pension.

Housing must be made available to everyone and interest rates on mortgages should never exceed three per cent.

On the constitutional question, Mr. Caouette said a new constitution which gives every province freedom to develop as much as possible economically, socially and politically is the only way to build a united Canada.

'SUCCESS'—ORGANIZERS

Trudeau Makes First Major Quebec Swing

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Quebec Bureau

THREE RIVERS, Que. — A tumultuous reception in Three Rivers Sunday evening ended the opening day of Prime Minister Trudeau's first major campaign tour into Québec.

Earlier in the day, in the Lower St. Lawrence region, Mr. Trudeau had drawn comparatively light crowds in Riviere-de-Loup and Rimouski. His best reception, before Three Rivers, was in Matane where he drew close to 500 people, including a handful of separatist hecklers.

Regional party workers felt the Lower St. Lawrence people were uncertain how to react to the informal Trudeau style of campaigning. The long-established local tradition is the big, organized, indoor election meeting with rolling oratory.

MOOD CHANGED

But when Mr. Trudeau's chartered Air-Canada jet landed in Three Rivers at dark, the mood changed.

There was a wildly cheering crowd at the airport.

Another 800-odd, all enthusiastic supporters, were at the Three Rivers city hall to engulf the prime minister as he entered to sign the city's golden book.

More than 1,000 persons were waiting for him at the ball park at Cap-de-la-Madeleine, across the St. Maurice River from Three Rivers, where the start of a local league softball game had been held up for his visit.

He told the crowd their enthusiams proved "Quebec is ready to reach out across the country and in the world."

Then he swung a bat at the first ball, pitched by Revenue Minister Jean Chretien, and connected on the first pitch with a reasonably solid drive to right field.

In the Lower St. Lawrence, Mr. Trudeau's basic theme, in short speeches and informal chats with the people, was the value of Canadian federalism to French Canadians.

JOINT PROGRAM

The theme was mostly fully stated in a speech in Rimouski, at a luncheon marking the signing by Mr. Trudeau and Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson of an agreement to participate in a joint program for development of the lower St. Lawrence and Gaspe regions. Ottawa will contribute $212,000,000 to the program and Quebec $46,000,000.

He said there was no contradiciton between strong regions, strong provinces and a strong Canada.

He said each region must determine and work for its own aspirations.

But he added that "the regions must also remember that they are not self-contained enclaves within rigid frontiers, but on the contrary that they benefit from the untold resources of an entire country."

He said funds to finance the development plan had come "from all of Canada. The citizen's of British Columbia and Ontario will have contributed to the task that is beginning today; he will be responsible for it and may be proud of it."

SINGLE COUNTRY

"Thus," Mr. Trudeau said, "every Canadian will do his share, a small but real share, in the building of your region, in the realization of your vision of the future. This is normal since we are all part of a single country."

Sharing of the whole of Canada was a constantly recurring theme.

To a handful of young separatists who turned out to heckle in Matane, the prime minister said that a few poeple might want to limit themselves to one province but that most French Canadians "do not want to shut themselves up in one province but affirm they are at home everywhere in Canada."

The Trudeau secret with teen-aged girls was working. There were fewer than in Ontario last week. But they squealed, reached, begged for kisses, and bragged to their friends if they managed to touch him.

Although the Lower St. Lawrence tour was low-keyed in comparison with the weekend in Ontario, party organizers insisted it was a success.

"These are quiet people along the gulf shore," a prominent Quebec City Liberal said. "They don't talk much and they are not demonstrative. But at this stage of the campaign the turnout was good."

However, party workers had predicted 1,000 people in Matane and not more than 500 turned up. But they cheered strongly when Mr. Trudeau spoke from the back of a truck on the main street, especially when he replied to his few separatist hecklers by offering equality in all of Canada as an alternative to a Quebec ghetto.

PM HINTS CHANGE IN VOTE AGE VIEWS

MARKHAM, Ont. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau hinted Saturday that he might reverse his opposition to lowering the voting age to 18 from 21.

Speaking to more than 5,000 persons who filled the arena in this community near Toronto, Mr. Trudeau said the activity of young people in the current campaign is beginning to convince "slow-poke politicians like myself" that the voting age should be lowered.

The reference came at the end of a day of campaigning in various parts of Southern Ontario.

SOVIET SIGNS ATOM PACT WITH CANADA

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union and Canada today signed a five-year renewal of their agreement on co-operation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The renewal protocol was signed by Andranik Petrosyants, chairman of the Soviet state committee for atomic energy, and John L. Gray, president of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd.

The agreement, originally signed in January, 1964, provides for the exchange of personnel and information in the atomic energy field.

HUMPHREY 'ALMOST HAS IT'

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey has almost sewed up the Democratic presidential nomination, and needs only 32½ more convention votes, according to its delegate count.

The magazines' count of delegates showed Humphrey with 290 solid votes, and 989½ leaning his way, for a total of 1,279½. It takes 1,312 to win at the August Democratic convention, to be held in Chicago this year.

Newsweek said Senator Robert F. Kennedy had 713½ votes leaning toward him, a loss of 150 since Humphrey entered the race.

Another 280 votes were leaning to Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, the magazine said. Former Governor George Wallace of Alabama had 21½ votes and the remaining 327½ were uncommitted, it said.

Let's Face Up to It

THE PROBLEMS OF THE PROvincial government in finding revenue for the many demands made on it are recognized. Obviously, in these days of rapid expansion of public services of all kinds, some requests must be denied or curtailed. There therefore arises the question of priority, and in this regard there can be little argument that education and health must be at the top of the list or very close to it.

Particularly in the matter of education, with student bodies at all levels rapidly increasing, efforts to defer necessary building and support are obviously pointless. If the expenditures must be made eventually, they might as well be made early as late: there is no benefit in creating or maintaining a condition of overcrowded emergency which can only interfere with the proper teaching of students. "Make-do" might be permissible when unavoidable—but can it be seriously argued that one of the most prosperous provinces in one of the most prosperous countries in the world is not able to provide full educational facilities for its youth?

Yet this is the picture which the government of British Columbia continually projects. In the case of the University of Victoria the short-sighted policy of the government has produced what President Malcolm Taylor described at the graduation exercises last Saturday as "a serious shortage of operating funds and a crippling shortage of building funds."

While all three public universities of the province can make valid appeals for increased grants, it is difficult to understand the government's reasoning in continually providing so much more money for Simon Fraser University than for the Victoria institution. It matters nothing that this year Victoria has received a larger percentage increase than Simon Fraser, for Victoria's rate of increase is based on a much smaller sum than that given to the mainland university. On a cash-per-student basis, Uvic receives $1,550 in contrast to the $2,100 per student received by Simon Fraser. This is a grossly unfair differentiation between two institutions of roughly comparable size. It has been perpetuated from previous years and the government has never clearly explained it.

When courses as essential in our modern world as social welfare and nursing—and the pressing need of more trained workers in these fields is recognized in the provision of special federal grants as well as in country - wide appeals for professional personnel—when such courses must be postponed because there are not enough funds granted by the province, then surely priorities should be reviewed and the whole government approach to education overhauled.

Educational financing is not a simple problem. But any thought that the problem can be solved by delay or neglect can have only one ultimate result: the required staffs, facilities and buildings will have to be provided anyway, but under conditions of hardship and greatly increased expense. At the moment, our priorities are badly out of joint; we are only escalating difficult problems into worse.

Andrew Leslie Fox

THOUSANDS OF GREATER Victorians who had never met Leslie Fox, the managing editor of the Victoria Daily Times, in a sense knew him without realizing it, for the newspaper which he directed for nearly two decades brought them each day a flavor of the man and his philosophy which inevitably was transferred to its news pages. Now the man who throughout his adult life was immersed in news reporting and presentation, who lived for the accurate communication to his community of all that went on in it and around it, is gone, and his many friends mourn the loss of one of Canada's top-flight newsmen.

That loss is the more keenly felt by his co-workers of The Times, for it was typical of Les Fox that his colleagues throughout the years were also his friends throughout the years. There was a universally close rapport with a man who had come up through the ranks from newspaper carrier to be head of the paper's news - gathering activities. His friendships extended from a long succession of provincial government leaders and ministers, who invariably liked and respected him, to the youngster nervously starting his first day as a cub reporter. His keen news insight and impatience with sham did not obscure a warm sympathy for people and their problems, and the expressions of sorrow at his sudden passing which will be heard in newsrooms, offices and homes across the land today will be sincere and heartfelt.

The management and staff of this newspaper join in expressing that sad sense of loss, and extend to his surviving kin their deepest sympathy.

Still Wobbling on Gold

THE LIKELIHOOD THAT France will face serious economic problems as a result of the present wide-scale industrial unrest has helped steady the price of gold on the free world market over the past few days. The strong possibility that France will have to let some of its gold reserves go into the market to cover an increasing balance of payments deficit has had a softening effect.

Nevertheless, over the longer term, a free market price nearly $5 an ounce higher than the closed market price adhered to by the central bank members of the International Monetary Fund poses a distinct threat to the two-tier system—and a constant temptation to some member countries to take a quick profit on their gold. The precariousness of the situation was apparently given very close attention at the meetings last week in Puerto Rico of the American Bankers' Association which have been attended by a number of key European central bank leaders. Although the meetings were held in private, extensive briefings on the proceedings were given by the participants.

According to reports, the prime concern is passage of the United States surtax bill — now delayed until next month at least by procedural wrangling—which the Europeans along with many Americans consider absolutely essential to the stability of the international monetary system.

Cleaning Out the Well

WHEN SO MANY REFERences in the United States are made to "continental water"—meaning Canadian supplies which some American interests would like to channel south, it is gratifying to note that studies are under way to determine means by which the United States could make usable the water it already possesses but has rendered unfit for most purposes.

This is a five year study, recommended by President Johnson to Congress last spring. It will cover such issues as inter-basin transfers, reduction of pollution and technological advances, including desalting.

The project gives point to the fact that the United States is not so far short of water, but has in many cases misused its supplies.

If through the course of investigation and research American experts can find means of restoring purity to lakes, rivers and streams, the entire complexion of the water problem on this continent could be altered. Such a development, moreover, could free Canadians from repeating to their neighbor that Canadian water is not currently negotiable — and will not be until Canada has satisfied itself from surveys still in the future that it has all that is required to meet its own eventual needs.

Gaullism Could Be a Drug on the Market

Western

ONE of the imponderables of the present election is the impact of a now chaotic France libre on Quebec libre. Until the quiet revolution of the 1960s, the attitude of New France to Old appeared generally to be one of massive indifference. But the sudden ferment in Quebec coincided with General de Gaulle's effort to fashion an independent role for a strong France both in Europe and abroad. Almost immediately and in unexpected ways the effects began to be felt. Slogans such as "La Politique de Grandeur" crossed the Atlantic very much as older ones jumped the international border into Western Canada in the early years of agrarian protest.

There were many other symptoms; the desire for closer cultural contacts; the tendency of Quebec nationalists to compare infavorably the status of their province with that of emancipated African colonies (sometimes, as in the case of Gabon, ignoring the power realities which made a farce of independence). The French government did nothing to discourage these developments but pursued an essentially cautious policy until General de Gaulle threw off the mask on his Quebec visit and deliberately incited separatism with his provocative outburst.

Uncertain Status

The point is, however, that when the French president was casting his spells he was a successful semi-dictator. He was still (as of last week) a glamorous figure in Romania but his status in France has become highly uncertain. At the moment the symbols of his benevolent rule are closed factories and ports, stalled cars, stationary trains in sidings, uncollected garbage and desperate offers of amnesty to rebellious students.

Whatever the outcome, it seems most unlikely that the French troubles will do much for Gaullism on the export market (including the Quebec market).

Only recently Mr. Johnson incurred the wrath of the federal government by rushing Mr. Cardinal over to Paris for talks about education. The practical argument was, presumably, that Quebec might lose something by non-attendance. But it now appears that it was a faliure on the part of General de Gaulle's education minister that set off the revolt in the universities which in turn provoked the general strike. Is it so certain that Quebec will benefit from any ideas which Mr. Cardinal in these unhappy circumstances may have brought back from Paris?

There has also been much advocacy in Quebec City of a provincial immigration policy which would direct more French-speaking immigrants to Quebec. With the latest achievements of de Gaullism, there is at last a possibility that the objective may be realized without the bother of Canadian contitutional change. If the present state of affairs continues for long, Mr. Johnson may even have the opportunity of welcoming among the refugees the general himself and a retinue of emigre ministers.

It is the burden of a report from Paris that such an outcome would be welcome to many French citizens. For some indeed it would be the realization of France libre. It is less certain that Mr. Johnson would long enjoy his role of host since General de Gaulle is not one who willingly shares the limelight with ordinary mortals.

For those in Quebec who favor a republic the news from France should also be instructive. The French, having gone through four republics, are now apparently doing their best to dismantle the fifth. Even our imperfect constitution must be rated one of the loftier achievements of human wisdom when measured by Paris standards.

But the Fifth Republic is the masterpiece of General de Gaulle who set himself up last year as mentor of French - Canadians and the prophet of Quebec libre. The masterpiece could scarcely be on display at a more appropriate time. It will be interesting to see what Quebecers make of it and whether many in a province rich in political experience continue to feel a need for instruction from outside their own country.

Bombs and Conversation

Alsop

THE Paris negotiations about Vietnam are more and more a sideshow. Governor Averil Harriman, that wise veteran, began by giving it the old college try, in a manner that caused some to think he was appearing over-eager to his North Vietnamese opposite numbers. But in view of the well-known saurian side of the Governor's character, not to mention the considerable craftiness of his present employer, one may be very sure that Harriman's college try was for the record — to show good will, in fact. Now he is talking instead about a possible breakdown of the talks: and he is also saying that "we're here for a long time."

Perhaps more significantly, the Governor is also reported to be suiting his actions to his words, by ordering a search for a large Paris house with a garden on a year's lease. If you expect to have to go on stonewalling almost indefinitely, it is well (if you can afford it) to arrange to stonewall in comfort.

False Estimate

Although a sideshow as negotiations, meanwhile, the Paris talks have already proved something of great significance. They have proved, in fact, that the Hanoi leaders are working on the basis of a wholly false estimate of President Johnson's situation in the United States, together with what one hopes is an equally false estimate of the situation in South Vietnam.

From the course of the talks, as well as from things Mai Van Bo and the other North Vietnamese negotiators have repeatedly said in private, it is clear that the Hanoi leaders see President Johnson as helpless. They think of him, in fact, as hog-tied to the point of paralysis by American domestic opposition. They count on this to give them victory over the U.S. as the divisions of France gave them victory over the French.

With regard to the situation in Vietnam, it is not clear whether the Hanoi leaders are making the kind of false military estimate that they did before the Tet offensive. But it is very clear indeed that they think they can further increase the President's supposed difficulties at home by pouring men into South Vietnam by the tens of thousands, and by thus maintaining the fighting at an intense level, albeit at a horrifying cost to their own people.

Foresee Trouble

Finally, it is also clear that the Hanoi leaders believe the Saigon government will eventually run into bad trouble, because of the effects in South Vietnam of a paralysed American president who is powerless to deal with a more and more sanguinary war.

All American policy-makers of any significance are now agreed that the foregoing are Hanoi's working assumptions. Anyone can see, moreover, that there can be no hope whatever of the honorable settlement that even Senator Robert F. Kennedy has begun to call for unless these assumptions by Hanoi are briskly knocked into a cocked hat.

The assumptions are, of course, inherently ludicrous. The most basic one, on which all the others depend, concerns the President's situation. Lyndon Johnson did not make his great renunciation in order to arrange a concealed surrender. He made it, rather, to free his hands, to gain room for manoeuvre, to shed almost all his concerns save those of commander in chief.

As commander in chief, no one can say to him nay until he lays down his office next January; and he is certainly not going to lay down his office as the first American president who ever lost a war. Those who see the President regularly furthermore report that he is more and more obsessed by his responsibility to the men at the front, and above all, by his responsibility to support their soldierly courage by all means at his disposal.

Effort Intensified

Obviously, that responsibility leads, quite directly, to the problem of the 90 per cent halt of the bombing of North Vietnam. When the President announced the halt, he said he expected reciprocity from Hanoi. And Hanoi has reciprocated by vastly intensifying its military effort against South Vietnam.

Equally obviously, the quickest way to show the falsity of the Hanoi leaders' working assumptions is to resume the bombing forthwith. That would end any doubts about American intentions that may exist in Saigon. And more important, that would immensely increase the already fearful burden of Hano's military effort.

There is also an intermediate step that the president can take. At present, there is no bombing north of the 19th parallel, although the partial bombing halt only extended to the 20th parallel. As a first step, the band of North Vietnamese territory between these two parallels can begin to be attacked again.

Looking Back

From the Times, May 27, 1908:

The dust nuisance on the city streets was very forcibly brought to the attention of Victorians today when M. J S. Dennis, land commissioner for the CPR, said on arriving, "Why does the city not do something about keeping down the dust here?"

Mr. Dennis said if it is impossible to provide the water for sprinkling the streets, the petroleum method, such as adopted in California, might be tested here.

Odor Of Mild Decay

Toronto Globe and Mail

FROM the western kingdoms of Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta and Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia there appears to be emanating a gentle odor of mild decay. The federal election has disclosed the dissolution of the national Social Credit world, but not all would seem to be in the best of health even at home.

Disintegration at the federal level is pretty well complete, as former national Social Credit leader Robert Thompson explained while deserting Socred ranks to stand for the Conservatives in Red Deer. Mr. Thompson was not alone in his departure. In September of last year, declaring the federal Social Credit Party to be "for all practical purposes dead," H. A. Olson joined the Liberals.

Dual Role

Out in British Columbia Bert Leboe has accepted the Social Credit nomination in the new riding of Prince George-Peace River, but says he wouldn't mind accepting the Conservative nomination as well. Even the party's present acting leader, Alexander Patterson, has talked of such a dual role, and in three Calgary ridings Social Credit has decided to name no candidates, thus leaving the field to the Conservatives. In Quebec Gilles Gregoire has stepped out of federal politics altogether, explaining that as a separatist he does not belong in Ottawa, except when he comes back in 1970 to help negotiate severance.

Mr. Manning had opened the way for disintegration, of course, in his recent book calling for a realignment of left and right, in which he saw Conservatives and Social Crediters in a new party that mingled free enterprise with compassion. It was unfortunate for these philosophical hopes that the provincial election ended with him confronting a tough little Opposition corporal's guard made up, not of Liberals, but of Conservatives. Moreover, those six young Conservatives, led by Peter Lougheed, have troubled no end the quiet tenor of Mr. Manning's government. They kept asking questions and demanding answers—an unheard of impertinence for many years in the stately confines of the Alberta legislature—and managed to keep both the government and themselves hard at work far longer than Mr. Manning held to be necessary.

Mr. Manning, in fact, is in a peculiar position. His government has been around so long that it somehow ages the man who leads it beyond his actual years, though not, perhaps beyond his state of mind. At both the Confederation of Tomorrow Conference in Toronto and the constitutional conference in Ottawa, Mr. Manning stood forth as reactionary and intransigent, delineating in his person an imperious opposition to constitutional reform which Albertans claim is not typical of the Alberta electorate.

No Conception

If Mr. Manning was an elder at Ottawa, Premier Bennett of British Columbia was a clown. He made it perfectly clear with his folksy jokes and his early departure from the meeting that he had no conception whatever of the seriousness of the problems that confronted Canada, and British Columbians, watching his performance against that of the other provincial and federal leaders, must have suffered some feelings of shame.

Mr. Bennett went home to paint as unfortunate a picture as he had left behind him. He was finally forced to admit that Highways Minister Philip Gaglardi, with his long history of conflicts with the law—and not always over traffic offences—with his peculiar private uses of a government plane, with all the doubtful innuendo of conflict of interest that surrounded him, was no longer acceptable to the people of British Columbia. Mr. Bennett bowed sufficiently to take Mr. Gaglardi out of his portfolio, but retained him in the cabinet as a minister without portfolio. It cannot have left a good impression on the thinking part of the electorate. . . .

Total Collapse

The gentle odor of mild decay. Yes, it can be detected. In the total federal collapse of Social Credit. In the age of two provincial governments which have always tended toward the autocratic. In the lack of credible candidates to succeed either leader; indeed, in the lack of credible cabinet ministers generally. In the vigorous young Conservative opposition that is growing in Alberta, the vigorous young Liberal opposition that is growing in British Columbia.

At least Social Credit is unlikely to be of importance in Ottawa after June 25. Perhaps it will shortly cease to be of importance anywhere.

A bit of news you may have missed from these parts is that Stonehenge is going to be cleaned up, and generally made more attractive for tourists. If you don't know what Stonehenge is, I shouldn't worry too much, because we don't really know either. It's one of Britain's mysterious treasures, if you can call a lot of huge old stones a treasure. It's reckoned to be about 4,000 years old, and whether it's because it's so old, or the stones are so huge, or because it might be anything from a place of human sacrifice to a neolithic supermarket, people simply flock there on fine weekends, pay their money, take a good, long, meaningless look, and drive off, leaving a lot of orange peel and Coke bottles — after the manner of culture seekers the world over.

Long-Simmering Discontent Fueling the Crisis in France

By D. H. LOUCHHEIM
The Washington Post

Demonstrations by French students, countered by violently repressive police tactics (above), touched off the worst crisis in France in 10 years. But trouble had been simmering for many months, ignored by President de Gaulle's government, and the student action was all that was needed to bring to the surface the bitter dissatisfaction of a wide range of French people with the government.

PARIS — On New Year's Eve, President Charles de Gaulle painted a glowing portrait of France on television screens throughout the nation.

"I greet the year 1968 with serenity," he told his countrymen. "In the midst of so many nations shaken by so many upheavals, ours will continue to be proved the example of effectiveness in the conduct of its affairs."

So it might have seemed. Today, less than six months later, France has been plunged into its worst crisis since the traumatic Algerian war, which brought de Gaulle to power exactly 10 years ago.

A massive worker and student rebellion has paralyzed the country. It has stripped the mask of complacency and arrogant self-satisfaction for the Gaullist regime. It has raised fears of a new revolution in France. And it has exposed the grandeur of de Gaulle's Fifth Republic to be mere gilt on a nation haunted by insecurity and political and economic frustration.

No less an authority than Le Monde, the country's leading newspaper, observed a few days ago that France had suddenly been revealed as the "Sick Man of Europe." Even Georges Pompidou, de Gaulle's able and faithful prime minister, was forced to concede before a hooting, unruly National Assembly that "things cannot be as they were before," a rare, almost heretical public admission of Gaullist fallibility.

No Surprise

The discontent that has fed the revolt comes as no surprise to anyone in the country. Farmers, workers and students have been demonstrating sporadically but separately over the past nine months to dramatize their problems and to exert pressure for reforms.

What has astonished all Frenchmen is the depth of the discontent, the magnitude of the frustration.

What has shocked the country is the speed with which the protest of a few hundred disillusioned students engulfed, in less than two weeks, the entire nation, infecting scientists, clerks, intellectuals and tradesmen as well as farmers and blue collar workers, leaving most of France with no more than a minimal skeleton of essential services.

What has frightened the nation is the realization that French leaders, whether they are in the government, whether they are Communists, Socialists or other opposition spokesmen, whether they are heads of labor unions or captains of industry, have been proven to be out of touch with the people, that a revolutionary cleavage has quietly developed between an impotent aristocracy of all political and economic persuasions and the masses that they are supposed to be representing and leading.

Like the pioneers of Castro's Cuban revolution, the handful of students that sparked the current French revolt have christened their movement with the label of an obscure date — the 22nd of March.

Historians sifting through the newspapers of that date or the day after will discover nothing to explain what happened, for it went unreported at the time.

The Stage

The stage was the suburban University of Nanterre, a campus on the western fringe of Paris where enrollment has mushroomed from 1,000 to 12,000 in the four years since the opening of the new university.

Student protest had been simmering for two years, against the poor facilities on campus, against the isolation of the students from everything except the slums surrounding them and the few ugly towers of low-cost housing that began to sprout from the muddy waste-lands left by cranes and bulldozers.

On March 22, 142 activist students symbolically seized control of the university by occupying the executive conference room reserved for top university officials. They called themselves "Les Enrages," the angy ones. They were led by a 23-year-old redhead, Daniel Cohn-Bendit, and they represented an assortment of avowed Maoists, Castroists, Guevarists, anarchists, Trotskyites and nihilists.

And so it began.

At the other end of the student spectrum, an extreme right-wing group, calling itself "Occident," rushed to counter the initiative by the extreme left.

Clashes between the student groups, plus the escalation of their combined activity for reform of the university, prompted the ministry of education to suspend classes, the first such suspension of university activity in France since the German occupation.

After the Easter vacation, classes at Nanterre resumed but at the end of April the university was closed indefinitely.

The Nanterre closure immediately became a national issue, but a minor one. After all, Frenchmen had read about the student unrest in Rome, in Madrid, in Berlin, at Columbia. So why not France?

Then came the Sorbonne. On May 3, Nanterre students made the trek into the picturesque Latin quarter in the heart of old Paris to participate in a joint protest demonstration in the courtyard of France's most famous educational institution.

Police were called in, riots began, Cohn-Bendit was arrested and, like Nanterre, the 700-year-old Sorbonne suspended classes.

The week of May 6 was a week of horror and surprise for most Frenchmen. On Monday, students and police waged a 14-hour pitched battle in the Latin Quarter. Although the leadership of various militant student organizations had attempted to prevent the confrontation, their instructions went unheeded.

Long Mural

Tuesday night, more than 10,000 students held a seven-mile march through the city, which was punctuated by violence shortly after midnight.

Friday brought the climax of the student revolt as police stormed student barricades around the Sorbonne and treated all of France to a spectacle of brutality and repression.

Yet there was still hope that the student uprising could be contained. Despite the clumsy, vacillating reaction of the government, despite the harsh police crackdown, a public opinion poll showed that only three out of 10 Frenchmen sympathized with the student rebellion. Four out of 10 were hostile.

Wednesday, May 15, marked the turning point of the student rebellions. For the first time, a student "takeover" was aimed at an off-campus installation. The target was the Theatre of France at the Place Odeon on the Left Bank. A group of several hundred exuberant students "occupied" the auditorium and proudly proclaimed the end of "bourgeois entertainment" in France.

More important, that same evening brought the passing of the torch of revolt from students to workers.

To the chagrin of their union leaders handfuls of young workers had participated in some of the student protests. The two groups seemed to have little in common, the students campaigning for a romantic vision of a new, unmaterialistic society, the workers eager for a larger share in the affluent society that the students wanted to reject.

Strike Call

On May 13, the country's two largest unions had proclaimed a one-day general strike. They had helped to organize a march of 800,000 in the capital to express sympathy for the students. The union leadership made it clear that it disapproved of uncoordinated forms of workers' demonstration. The general strike appeared to be a way to let workers let off steam as a group instead of resorting to the kind of wildcat action that characterized the student revolt.

If that was the hope, it was doomed to failure. On the evening of May 15, a group of employees at a Renault factory in Cleon duplicated the March 22nd initiative of the Nanterre students.

Cleon is a satellite town of Rouen, 70 miles northwest of Paris. It is a one-factory town, and the factory is state-owned, producing gear boxes for the nationalized automobile company of Renault. Officially, Cleon has a population of 1,336, but the factory has 5,100 employees.

That evening, several hundred workers "occupied" the plant, keeping the manager shut up in his office throughout the night. In the morning, they prevented the factory from opening.

Higher Pay

Their demands were hardly romantic. A minimum wage of $200 a month; gradually shorter working hours, reducing the work week to a maximum of 40 hours.

By May 17, the initiative by the Cleon workers had spread to 30 other major factories in the country. Union leaders began issuing belated endorsements to the strikes in an effort to get them under control. By May 22, a week after the Cleon incident, some 8 million French workers, almost two-thirds of the total number of salaried employes in the nation, had walked off the job.

At week's end, farmers also joined in the protest. Even before their demonstrations, the French economy had been brought to a virtual standstill.

Why? Even as the government began to mobilize to meet the challenge, the suddenness of the crisis seemed to defy explanation.

The issues were clear. Workers have been angry over rises in social security contributions and cutbacks in benefits. They resent what they call government inaction in the face of a year-long escalation of unemployment. They want better housing, telephones, television sets, vacations.

Students have long been outraged by archaic teaching procedures in the universities and the centralized control to which they are subjected. They resent overcrowding on the campuses, are worried about finding jobs when they graduate.

Driven Off

The 5 million small, mostly peasant farmers are being squeezed by increasing European Common Market competition, see prices for their produce falling while their cost of living rises. They are being driven from their land, a traditional way of life, at the rate of one every 10 minutes. And they are insisting that the government provide them with an expensive funeral as the mechanized, chemicalized 20th century sweeps them from the economic face of France.

All these issues have been aired and dramatized in the past. Even a comprehensive catalogue of all the demands voiced during the current crisis would fail to explain what it is all about or why it ballooned so quickly.

The answer seems to lie as much in the politics and the style of de Gaulle's Fifth Republic as in its economics.

In the National Assembly debate last week, Communist party leader Waldeck Rochet gave his version of the crisis: "Frenchmen have had enough of being subjects. Now they want to be citizens."

The bald, bespectacled Communist's views may sound extreme. But he appears to have articulated the one common denominator that links all the varied participants in the current protest, whether they are Communists, progressives, conservatives or political agnostics. Even members of the government's parliamentary coalition have been complaining for almost a year that the normal processes of democracy are no longer functioning effectively in France.

The right of protest has never been denied. Grievances are expressed freely and sometimes violently. But the government, even in the rare instances when it has modified its programs to reflect dissent, has consistently given the impression that it is majestically turning a deaf ear.

Since 1965, the year of the last presidential election, the popularity of Gaullism has been dwindling. In 1967, the Gaullists and those who reluctantly support them were returned to the National Assembly with a majority of only one vote. In the past year, scattered elections for vacant or contested seats have whittled down this parliamentary support, giving the government a "majority" of minus two.

Yet throughout this period, and particularly in the past year, de Gaulle and his ministers have operated as if they still had almost unanimous support within the country.

Never has the government seemed to function with fewer restraints. Never has the Parliament been rendered so impotent, or been made to appear so irrelevant. Protests, criticism, demands for a dialogue are systematically brushed aside with the explanation that the government knows best, that Frenchmen have never had it so good.

Hard Line

On every controversial issue, even minor ones, the government makes it appear that the slightest compromise would be opening the gates to anarchy.

Within weeks of the devastating results of the 1967 elections, the government forced through a measure giving it "special powers," allowing it to bypass parliamentary approval for important social and economic legislation.

More recently, it has consistently resorted to the ultimate weapon, dissolution of the National Assembly and new elections, to stifle amendments to all controversial measures.

Ironically, the very erosion of wholehearted support for the government has contributed to the effort toward more authoritarian practices, to implement de Gaulle's policies. It is as if the general has been unwilling to acknowledge the changed political atmosphere reflected in the 1967 elections.

In the sunny, middle years of the Gaullist decade, the government could count on a dependable and comfortable majority. Thus it could afford to give the National Assembly a comparatively free rein and still be confident of carrying the day on all issues it considered important.

Used Club

Times have changed. Although the government has been able to impose its will as in the old days, it has had to club Parliament into submission and to reject compromises that have often been supported by a clear majority of the National Assembly.

It has had to sweep problems under the rug. It has had to portray every dissent, no matter now legitimate or popular, as a subversive attack on the survival of the republic. It has had to inflate the peril of a Communist takeover, even as its policies seemed to be turning more and more disillusioned voters to the left.

No wonder then that the economic frustration of large groups in the country has been intensified by a feeling of political frustration. Now, taking a page from the government's book, the workers of France seem to have resorted to the ultimate weapon to make themselves heard: open revolt.

People of the Barriadas

By JOHN M. GOSHKO
The Washington Post

LIMA — They are the first thing that a newly arrived visitors sees in Peru.

And the impression they leave is one that will remain etched on his mind long after Lima's other sights and sounds have faded from memory.

Within moments after stepping into a cab at the city's sleekly modern airport, the traveller finds himself speeding past some of the most depressing scenes to be seen anywhere in the world. On all sides, his eye is assaulted by mile after mile of shanties jerry-built from adobe, cardboard, tin cans, chunks of rock and a straw-like reed matting called estera.

These are the barriadas — the squatter towns that cling like undressed sores to the roads and hillsides encircling the city. In them lives upwards of 450,000 people: between a fourth and a third of the population in the metropolitan area.

Not Unique

The barriadas are not unique. Under a variety of names — favelas in Rio de Janeiro, villas miserias in Buenos Aires, ranchos in Caracas, callampas in Santiago, tugurious in Bogota — they are the common denominator of every large Latin American city.

All owe their existence to the same reasons: the rush of rural peasants to quit the unproductive land and trek to the cities, the runaway birth rate, the shortage of housing. Over the past 20 years, these pressures have combined to make shanty town the most ubiquitous symbol of Latin America's urban malaise.

Nowhere do these squatter settlements intrude so dismayingly on the consciousness than here in Lima. After inspecting the local barriadas, an experienced and keen-eyed journalistic observer like John Gunther was moved to pronounce them "the most vicious on the continent."

Menacing

Even Peruvians, who have grown accustomed to the barriadas and who do not share the North American's sense of shock at their sheer physical primitiveness, have started to view them as a menacing phenomenon.

Msgr. Luis Bambaren, an auxiliary bishop of Lima whose work among the poor has earned him the title of "Bishop of the Barriadas," insists they are "a time bomb" that could "explode with the same violence as the Negro ghettos of the United States."

Yet, the barriadas are not without their defenders. The attitude of those who view them through a more hopeful prism was summed up recently by William Mangin, a Syracuse University anthropology professor and former deputy director of the Peace Corps in Peru.

Discontent

Writing in the magazine, Scientific American, Mangin challenged the argument that the barriadas are breeding grounds of discontent and instability. He concluded:

"My studies ... indicate that the barriada dwellers are well organized, politically sophisticated, strongly patriotic and comparatively conservative in their socio-political views. Although poor, they do not live the life of squalor and hoplessness characteristic of the 'culture of poverty' depicted by Oscar Lewis; although bold and defiant in their seizure of land, they are not a revolutionary 'lumpenproletariat.' "

When Prof. Mangin's optimistic findings are set alongside Msgr. Bambaren's grim warnings, it sounds as though they are talking about two different worlds. Actually, the barriadas represent a phenomenon that contains elements of what both men say.

A Departure

Grim as their circumstances may be, the barriadas — and their counterparts in other cities — mark a distinct departure from the life of the poor in the rural areas of Latin America and in the older, more traditional slums of the inner city.

Indeed, what brought them into being was a revolt of the poor against the disorganized and expensive life of the city slums. By moving away from the tenements of the central city to the shanty towns on the fringes, these people created for themselves rent-free havens and established a claim to calling their homes and land their own.

The typical Barriada dweller believes that his present situation is preferable to what he had before in the back country or in the central city slums. By participating in his neighborhood association and the various other self-governing organizations of the barriada, he feels that he now has a place of his own within a clearly defined society; by setting up his own home on what he regards as his own land, he feels he has a tangible stake in the future.

A recent poll of barriada residents by Peruvian government agencies revealed an extremely high degree of dissatisfaction with existing services and government efforts to improve them. In some cases, well over 90 per cent of the people questioned exhibited deep bitterness over the almost total lack of paving, street lighting, running water, sewage and garbage disposal.

These dissatisfactions were markedly higher among the barriadas' younger, better educated residents. It is this trend that Msgr. Bambaren and others find most ominous.

Impatient

They point out that the sense of belonging and self-advancement that Prof. Mangin detects among Barriada residents is primarily characteristic of the older generation. The younger people, born in the cities and lacking their parents' comparative standard of life in the provinces and urban slums, are much quicker to become impatient with the Barriada's lack of amenities and the constriction of opportunity to move up the economic ladder.

"We are producing in the barriadas a generation of youth without hope," says Msgr. Bambaren. "It is a directionless youth that does not respect the values and efforts of its fathers, that does not put any faith in the political and social institutions of the country. It does not believe in anything."

In Majority

"Yet," he continues, "youth is the majority. More than half the people in the barriadas are minors of less than 15 years. Already, you can see great increases of juvenile delinquency and teenage drunkenness — things that were almost unknown when the barriadas began. That is why I say the barriadas are as explosive as the ghettos of the United States."

Originally, the barriadas came into being as the result of small clusters of families fleeing the city and setting up improvised communities of estera-mat shacks on the parched, unused land outside. Gradually, the trend gained momentum and took on the characteristics of a quasi-military campaign.

In the early days, these invasions frequently encountered stiff opposition from the police who would drive the squatters off and burn down the shacks. Invariably though, the people would return a day or two later and stubbornly begin putting up their houses again.

Less Opposition

In time, growing public sympathy, the increasing ability of the squatters to flex their collective political muscle at the polls and the government's sheer inability to meet the demand for new housing combined to lessen official opposition.

The present government of President Fernando Belaunde Terry has been especially sympathetic to the squatters, and the days when the police would move in to put a new shanty town to the torch are largely over.

Once a barriada has been established, it adds new families to its original nucleus of settlers and gradually spreads out until it has absorbed all the available land in the area. At the same time, internal changes slowly begin to become evident.

Typifying this evolutionary process is a barriada like the one called Mariscal Ramon Castilla. Originally established 14 years ago, it now sprawls over the steep hillsides framing one side of Lima's old-town Rimac district.

Up to $17,000

Three years ago, a census indicated that this barriada had 12,000 people living on 2,000 lots within its 16 sections. The residents estimate that by now the population is pushing 17,000.

Those who live here are mechanics, taxi drivers, masons, barbers, watchmen, factory workers — a complete cross-section of the city's economic lower classes. The government's recent survey, for example, estimated that three-quarters of the male wage earners in the barriadas are "obreros" (salaried blue collar workers) or independent laborers.

The survey also found that a full quarter of the residents were "empleados" (white collar workers). It is not even unusual to find teachers, managers of such large enterprises as a branch bank and an occasional doctor or lawyer living in the barriadas.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP — Grain trading volume on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange dropped to a trickle in late action today.

Flax and rapeseed prices lost ground, drawing the bulk of their support from commission house and local buyers. Some export development was generated in rapeseed as prices dropped one cent at mid-session.

Oats and barley trade was light while rye prices moved in a narrow range, reflecting the steady prices of the Chicago market.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 685,000 bushels to Russia, 228,000 to the United Kingdom, 190,000 to Germany, 93,000 to Switzerland, 78,000 to The Netherlands, 52,000 to Sweden and 13,000 to Belgium.

CHICAGO — Persistent rains that have delayed some corn planting in eastern sections of the U.S. corn belt and impeded the early wheat-harvest in parts of the southwest strengthened prices of these grains temporarily on the board of trade today.

The gains were fractional and later profit-taking trimmed most of the corn advances and put wheat deliveries in the loss column.

Brokers said the weather was the chief influence on price movements.

Soybeans prices moved unevenly. Firmness in soybean oil gave soybeans some support.

During the weekend, Formosa purchased 560,000 bushels of wheat for June 20-July 10 clearance from Pacific ports. Jordan was credited with taking 224,000 bushels of hard winter wheat for Gulf of Mexico shipment in early June.

Ford Optimistic On Year's Sales

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, describing the auto industry outlook for the rest of the year as very good, has predicted that new car sales in the U.S. could reach 9,300,000 in 1968 even despite a possible federal tax increase.

"Both in this country and abroad," Ford told a stockholders' meeting, "the automobile industry shows every sign of continuing to be an industry of strong growth."

Credit Soars

OTTAWA (CP)—Major sources or consumer credit reported credit balances of $7,463,000,000 at the end of January, up 9.5 per cent from $6,815,000,000 at the same time a year earlier, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. The figures include sales finance loans for consumer and commercial goods, cash and instalment credit of small loan companies, department and appliance stores and three categories of personal chartered bank loans.

Hoarders Keep Silver Price Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there enough silver in the world to meet its needs?

Has the U.S. treasury enough silver to satisfy all its commitments, such as its pledge to redeem silver currency certificates for the metal if turned in by June 24?

Or will it have to renege on its promises, another of which is to supply the U.S. defence stockpile with 165,000,000 ounces for strategic purposes?

These are some of the questions in today's crazy, mixed-up silver market, in which industrial users battle hoarders and speculators for a supply whose size few people agree upon.

The industrial users would like to see stable prices. They argue that there is sufficient silver for dentists, silverware makers, television set manufacturers and others.

It's the speculators, the hoarders with something like 300,000,000 ounces hidden, who are keeping the priecs so high, the industrialists say.

RUMORS ABOUND

Rumors race through today's silver market, particularly in the nine months or so since the U.S. government's decision to end a $1.29-an-ounce ceiling on the metal and let the market dictate price.

Since then the price has been mostly higher, bobbing around $2.30 an ounce in recent days, amid a great deal of controversy over whether this represents a big demand and a short supply or mostly speculation.

That's why the size of the government supply, and whether the government has enough for its needs, grows so important.

Speaking here recently, Robert Wallace, assistant treasury secretary, said the U.S. silver stock amounted to more than 520,000,000 ounces, or seemingly enough for government needs. As coins are melted, this stock could grow.

Against this supply are these commitments: 165,000,000 ounces for the defence stockpile, another 65,000,000 ounces said to be needed by the Atomic Energy Commission, and 218,000,000 ounces for redeeming silver certificates.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Heavy Traders Slip

The two heaviest traders on Vancouver Stock Exchange both slipped as trading hit 1,255,833 by 11 a.m.

Peace River Pete turned over 144,000 shares and lost three cents to .45 while Northlode traded 130,800 and fell seven cents to $1.80. Caprix and Continental Cinch were the only gainers among the mines while a new listing, Kimberley Copper, came on at .80.

Hudson Bay Mountain lost .12 cents at .67; Utica slipped .15 at $3.65 and TC Explorations was off .13 at $2.30.

First National Mortgage was strong in the industrials, putting on 50 cents at $10 on trades of 17,900 shares. Okanagan Helicopters gained .37 at $5.12 and Captain International added one-eighth at $9.12. B.C. Sugar slipped .50 at $38.75.

Futurity was the only gainer among the oils, adding six cents on trades of 69,200 shares to .57. Sunlight lost .35 at $4.95 and Giant Reef was off .06 at $2.24.

AT TORONTO the market was lower at the close of moderate trading.

On index, industrials dropped .43 to 157.16, golds 6.34 to 223.05, base metals .77 to 100.31 and western oils .24 to 196.91.

Final volume was 3,014,000 shares compared with 3,820,000 Friday.

Dome Mines fell 4 to 69, Scurry-Rainbow Oil 2 to 35⅛, White Pass and Yukon 1⅝ to 32⅛, Inco and Rio Algom 1 each to 116 and 32 and Denison ¾ to 68½.

Molson A was up 2 to 21¾, Molson B 2⅜ to 22¼, Ontario Store Fixture 2⅛ to 25⅝ and Mindustrial 1 to 10.

Asamera Oil gained 55 cents to $8.15 and Place Gas 25 cents to $1.84.

AT NEW YORK, the market showed a lower trend in late trade although there remained more gains than losses in the list. Trading was fairly active.

Both the Dow Jones industrial average and the broadly based New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks showed losses.

Aside from the approaching U.S. Memorial Day holiday—a long weekend for some although markets will be open Friday—Wall Street had reason for caution because of tighter money, weakness in the British pound and uncertainly as to what Congress would do about the U.S. tax-spending bill.

Du Pont lost about 2 points, Western Union 2, Proctor and Gamble, Merck, RCA and Homestake about a point each. CPR rose 1⅛ and McIntyre Porcupine a point among Canadians. Hudson Bay Mining was off 1⅜, Dome Mines 1½ and International Nickel 1¼.

AT MONTREAL, the exchange slid narrowly lower in late trading.

Gains were more prominent among liquor and oil issues as Molson B climbed 3½ to 23½ and Molson A 3¼ to 23. Shell added 1¼ to 27¼ on sales of 1,000 shares.

Inco lost 1⅛ to 116¼ on a turnover of 551 shares.

Agassiz fell three cents to 71 cents on 6,000 shares in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT LONDON, most sections of the stock market declined today, with several leaders as much as 2s weaker.

An exception was the sharp rise in Anglonorness following an offer from Zapata. However, profit-taking pared an initial 10s gain to about 6s at 38s 6d.

British funds were slightly better, reflecting stronger sterling. Dollar stocks were mainly lower while gold issues were quietly mixed.

Sharp Warning To Steel Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bethlehem Steel Corp. and four other major firms were told by the U.S. labor department all their federal contracts might be cut off because of their failure to eliminate racial discrimination in employment.

In addition to Bethlehem — one of the nation's largest steel companies—the action was taken against the Timken Roller Bearing Co., Canton, Ohio; Allen-Bradley, Milwaukee, Wis.; B and P Motor Express, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Pullman, Inc., Bessemer, Ala.

Bankers Feel New Financial Crunch Coming

By HOBART BOWEN
The Washington Post

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico—On this beautiful island, with its lush fruits and produce and exquisite sunsets, it is hard to imagine the world in crisis.

Yet, the news pours in of Paris and Morningside Heights, both paralyzed. And one wonders where it's all going to end.

The 15th annual meeting of the American Bankers Association has produced its own snare of gloom and doom. There is a general feeling among some of the most knowledgeable foreign and American bankers and economists here that a new financial crunch may be in the making.

These are not the "Gnomes of Zurich" stereotype. Rather, they are the more sophisticated financial men of the world and their analysis of the problem enjoys a rare unanimity.

'PAPERED-OVER'

In a nutshell, they think that the U.S. and its friendly partners in Europe merely papered-over the gold and dollar crisis last March, and that it can break out again almost any time in full fury.

The money markets still appear to be guided by fear and uncertainty. Will the war in Vietnam really come to an end? Will the United States Congress really pass a tax-and-expenditure package that will limit inflation? Will the U.S. come apart at the seams in a series of racial riots this summer? Is there a syndrome of general unrest, symbolized by the French strikes, that will spread throughout the rest of the world?

"There is a deep and underlying uncertainty in the market place," said New York banker-economist Roy Reierson, "and the market is most susceptible to bad news."

LACK OF TRUST

Another element is the growing lack of trust in government statements. Reierson mentioned as examples the British assurance that the pound would never be devalued last year, and U.S. guarantees that it would feed out gold "down to the last bar" for anyone holding dollars.

I find here yet another evidence of distrust, and this among the leading and friendly European nations which have been co-operating with the United States.

This relates to the feeling—widespread in Europe—that the American government tends to over-state its optimism about the general economic outlook, In part, it does so by over-stating the European end of the international monetary bargains.

PRESSURE

Take the famous Washingon agreement of March 21, when the U.S. and six other nations met to discuss the closing down of the London gold market for speculators.

There was a need, at that time, to encourage the South Africans to sell their gold on the open market, so as to keep the free market price for gold from shooting sky-high.

Thus, as a tactic, strictly to put pressure on the South Africans to sell their gold in the private market, the seven nations arrived at an understanding that they would not buy newly-mined gold to add to monetary reserves.

The way this came out of the U.S. Treasury, and the way it has constantly been reiterated, it has sounded like a formal treaty under which the nations involved agreed never to buy any newly-mined gold.

But, here at Dorado Beach, a leading European who was at the Washington meeting said:

NOT IMPRESSION

"An agreement not to buy newly-mined gold? That wasn't the impression that those of us who were in Washington had. We thought of it as a tactical thing, a technique to put the heat on the South Africans. We thought of it as an open-ended thing."

Even more important, there was no agreement that the six co-operating European central banks would refrain from tapping the dwindling U.S. gold reserve, now down to less than $10 billion.

That is really the key question. If important central banks holding large amounts of dollars lose confidence in the value of U.S. currency, they have the right to dip into U.S. gold reserves. That right wasn't given away on March 21.

It is entirely probable that during this year, the U.S. will have to face a further decline in gold reserves.

NO OPTIONS

"The European nations don't want to rock the boat," says an important central banker who should know, "But there may come a time when they have no options."

Nothing that I write here should be taken as a criticism of the March 21 agreement. It was a brilliant and inventive holding action in a crisis. But it hasn't solved the balance of payments problem, or eliminated the need for the United States to push through a tax measure to help pay for the Vietnam war — still the root cause of present problems.

The Europeans here are baffled at the American "hang-up" over raising taxes. They just plain don't understand it. But if things continue the way they are, they're not going to be embarrassed about taking whatever gold they can get for their dollars.

DILLINGHAM TAKES OVER B.C. FIRM

VANCOUVER (CP)—Agreement has been reached on a takeover of Vancouver Pile Driving-Contracting Co. Ltd. by Dillingham Corp. of Honolulu, it was announced Saturday.

Under the agreement the American firm will acquire all the outstanding stock of Vancouver Pile in exchange for cash and Dillingham common stock.

Vancouver Pile, which has been in business in British Columbia for more than 50 years and has more than 150 employees, had gross revenues of about $7,000,000 in 1967.

It will continue to operate under its current name and with Richard J. Meyers remaining as president and general manager.

Economy Calls 'For Caution'

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Amory, governor of the Hudson's Bay Co., told shareholders the immediate business outlook in Canada calls for caution.

In an address to the annual meeting, Amory said there are "ominous signs if inflation" in Canada, where 95 per cent of the company's business is conducted.

Incomes still were outstripping production growth. Therefore, there must be a note of caution in any forecast of net income in the coming year, he said.

Encouraging developments since the company's current financial year began Feb. 1 included "sustantially higher" prices for furs after a depressed market last year and a continued "splended showing" by the subsidiary Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas in the first three months.

However, Canadian retail sales were only modestly ahead in the first three months and the profit margin were lower than in the same period last year. An exception was the new Regina store opened Feb. 29, where sales exceeded expectations.

Amory said informal discussions are under way with British authorities about moving HBC headquarters to Canada — probably Winnipeg — a proposal announced when the annual financial report was published April 29.

British treasury approval is required to move a British-incorporated company out of the country. Although most of the 298-year-old company's business and 14,000 employees are in Canada, 88 per cent of its 30,000 shareholders and about 85 per cent of its 13,000,000 shares are in Britain.

50 CENT WAGE HIKE FOR HANDLERS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grain handlers employed at elevators in Vancouver and New Westminster Sunday ratified a contract calling for a 50-cent hourly wage increase.

Ed Sims, Canadian director of the Brewery Workers Union which represents the 550 handlers, said about 90 per cent of 375 union members who voted approved the contract.

It calls for a 25-cent increase retroactive to Dec. 1, 1967, and another 25-cent increase Dec. 1 this year. Old base rate was $2.96 an hour.

The gain handlers are employed by the Alberta Wheat Pool, the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, the United Grain Growers, Pacific Elevators and Burrard Terminals.

Anthes Merger Plan Outlined By Molson

TORONTO (CP) — Directors of Molson Breweries Ltd., of Montreal, and Anthes Imperial Ltd. of Toronto Sunday announced agreement in principle to a merger of the two companies.

Molson Breweries is the second-largest brewer in Canada, while Anthes Imperial is a conglomerate company, manufacturing soil and water pipe, steel scaffolding, office equipment, water heaters, furnaces, boilers and radiators.

A statement Sunday said Senator Hartland Molson will continue as chairman of the merged company. Donald G. Willmot, president of Anthes Imperial, will become president and D. M. Chenoweth. president of Molson Breweries will become vice-chairman.

At present, Senator Molson is chairman of Molson Breweries. Molson will be the surviving company, with Anthes Imperial operating as a subsidiary.

The agreement proposes that 1.7 shares of Molson Breweries plus $3 cash be exchanged for each common share of Anthes Imperial held by Canadian residents. The offer depends on acceptance by 75 per cent of the holders of common shares in Anthes Imperial.

The statement said sales of the new company will exceed $260,000,000 with total assets of $150,000 000. The merged company will have 30 plant locations, employing 6,700.

Loss Reported

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Fairbanks Morse Canada Ltd. had a net loss of $410,265 in 1967, compared with a net profit of $351,619 the previous year. Sales rose to $6,859,484 from $6,014,904. The company says in its annual report the loss was incurred largely by unexpected cost increases in a contract to supply locomotives to India.

Crisis Threatens ECM Growth

PARIS (Reuters) — The industrial and student crisis in France poses major threats to the economic growth of the other five Common Market partners, now emerging slowly from recession.

By delaying a compromise agreement between the six on a uniform meat and dairy products policy, France could effectively delay enforcing the EEC industrial customs union beyond the scheduled deadline of July 1, when all internal tariffs within the market are scheduled to be abolished.

Economic observers here doubt whether France can make agricultural price concessions at a time when farmers and farm workers are in virtual revolt. They also believe France might oppose industrial union before a common agricultural policy is formulated.

France probably will opt out of the next accelerated European round of Kennedy round tafiff cuts—scheduled for the same date—on the basis that wage increases would make this competitively impossible.

If the other Common Market countries joined France in delaying this cut, the result could be increased protectionist sentiment in the U.S., and a set of international actions and reactions impeding trade development throughout the industrial world.

'HEY, RUBE!'

Swarming over pitching mound, players of Oakland Athletics and Detroit Tigers transformed sixth inning of American League baseball game into free-for-all. Eruption at Oakland was touched off after Detroit's Jim Northrup (5) had been hit by Jack Aker pitch. Oakland went on to defeat first-place Tigers 7-6 in 10th inning. (AP Wirephoto.)

Tigers Battered By Oakland Visit

Kaline Injured; Drysdale Flings Fourth Shutout

By The Associated Press

The sweetness of an Oakland Athletics' victory over first-place Detroit Tigers was lost in the bitterness of a beanball feud Sunday.

The game, won by Oakland 7-6 in the 10th, was halted for almost 15 minutes—with the score tied 6-6 in the sixth—after Athletics reliever Jack Aker hit Tiger outfielder Jim Northrup in the back of the batting helmet with a pitch.

Northrup went down in a heap but quickly charged the mound and started punching.

Separate fights began and Eddie Mathews of Detroit landed the best punch, hitting Aker below the right eye.

OUT OF ACTION

Aker, scratched and bruised, with the right side of his uniform in shreds, left the game because of injuries.

Umpires Ed Runge and Cal Drummond, explaining the incident later, said they booted Northrup, "because he started it all," and Oakland pitchers Lew Krausse "because he used some badly chosen words" and John Odom "because he kicked Dick McAuliffe of the Tigers in the ribs."

Pinch-hitter Rene Lachemann's single won the game in the 10th, scoring Jim Hunter, a pinch runner for Jim Pagliaroni, who doubled.

The Athletics had staked Chuck Dobson to a 6-0 lead. The Tigers fought back in the fifth with two runs.

KENNEDY CHASED

Don Wert led off the Tigers' sixth with a double and Ray Oyler singled him in and took second when Ted Kubiak dropped the cutoff throw.

Aker replaced Dobson and Jim Price greeted him with a single, Oyler barely beating the throw to the plate.

After Oakland manager Bob Kennedy protested the call and was ejected, Mickey Stanley tripled Price home and scored the tying run on Dick Tracewaski's sacrifice fly.

"I was trying to brush him back but the pitch didn't sail," Aker said about the pitch that hit Northrup. "It sank and Northrup ducked right into it."

Northrup was released from the hospital in ime to join the Tigers for a trip to Anaheim, Calif.

Manager Mayo Smith kept the Tigers' dressing room locked for 30 minutes after the game.

When told that Aker had called Northrup and apologized, Smith shot back: "Then ask Aker what happened. He seems to have all the answers."

"Those things happen in baseball," said Kennedy, who missed most of the fight.

FAN INJURED

During the brawl some of the 14,587 fans tossed debris and one of the Tiger players retaliated by firing a ball into the stands.

It hit Mary Alamieda, 52, San Leandro, Calif., above the right eye, and caused a three-inch gash. She said she didn't know who threw the ball.

Earlier in the game, a pitch by Krausse struck Detroit's injury-plagued Al Kaline and knocked the veteran out of action for two to three weeks. Kaline suffered a hairline fracture of his right forearm.

In the same game, Detroit second baseman Dick McAuliffe tossed his bat in disgust while running out a pop fly, tripped over the bat and severely bruised his thigh. He sat out Sunday's game, and outfielder Willie Horton joined him on the sidelines in the fourth inning after injuring his leg while running out a bunt single.

DRYSDALE TIES MARK

The fireworks at Oakland took away the play from Los Angeles Dodger ace Don Drysdale.

The big righthander tied a modern National League record by scoring his fourth straight shutout. The Dodgers downed Houston Astros 5-0 and Drysdale, in running his scoreless string to 36 consecutive innings, now shares the record with five other pitchers. The major league record is five, set by G. Harris (Doc) White, pitching for Chicago White Sox in 1904.

Adanacs Grab One-Goal Win

By The Canadian Press

The race for top spot in the Western Division of the National Lacrosse Association tightened during the weekend, but Detroit Olympics widened their lead in the Eastern Division.

Portland Adanacs moved into a tie for second just two points out of first, by edging Vancouver Carls 7-6 in a Western Division game Saturday.

In Eastern Division action Sunday, Detroit swamped Toronto Maple Leafs 17-3 to move six points ahead of second-place Peterborough Lakers.

Portland's victory gave the Adanacs four points, the same as New Westminster Salmonbellies and two less than Victoria Shamrocks.

Carls get a chance to make it a three-way tie for the second berth Wednesday when they tackle the Shamrocks in Victoria.

SCORES WINNING GOAL

Kerry Gallagher scored the winning goal for Portland midway through the third period to delight 2,463 fans in Portland.

Gallagher scored two goals for the Adanacs while single goals came from Keith Scott, Bill Bradley, Dick Crompton, Mike Gates and Ivan Stewart.

Vancouver's scorers were Sid Warrick, Dennis Nagy, Ross McDonald, Bob Salt, Bob Babcock and Gord Frederickson.

Ross Jones paced Detroit with five goals. Doug Favell and Grant Heffernan added three each while Gaylord Powless had two. Single goals went to Glen and Bob Brown.

Graeme Gair, John Roberts and Ron McNeil replied for Toronto.

'Poor' Carlings Still Suffering

The Senior's Men's Softball League's "wealthy ones" put away more points Sunday, so you'd have to shed a tear for the "poor".

The sufferers include Victoria Carlings. Their record (no wins in six tries) doesn't give a true picture of the talent in Carls' lineup.

The problem has been hitting. Sunday, for the first time this season, Carlings out-hit the opposition but still bowed, 2-1, to front-running Nanaimo O'Keefes. The leaders made it a sweep at Central Park by blanking Bate Construction 6-0.

O'Keefes thus remained two points ahead of Victoria Molsons, who also posted a sweep by defeating Tally-Ho 4-1 and 3-2 at Nanaimo.

British Tars Win Soccer Against Vets

Visiting sailors from the HMS Fyfe and HMS Glamorgan had fun on the soccer pitch Sunday but ran into considerable trouble against Victoria teams Saturday in cricket and rugby matches.

Booting British tars thumped Victoria Old-timers 10-3 in Sunday's soccer clash at Naden as Jack Frampton supplied two goals for the host club.

Fyfe cricketers dropped a close, eight-run decision to a Victoria and District Cricket Association side Saturday at Beacon Hill. Geoff Rooper (52 not out) and Doug Doidge (27) were the top batsmen as the Victorians scored 130, all out, while batting first.

The visitors, getting 62, not out, from Lieut. Lobeck, were dismissed for 122.

CFB Esquimalt downed HMS Glamorgan 10-0 and Oak Bay trimmed HMS Fyfe 40-16 in rugby matches at Colville Road.

Rasslin' Title In New Hands

Professional wrestling's "world" tag-team championship fell into new hands at Memorial Arena on Saturday.

That's because the defending champions, the Assassins, stretched the rules too much for the referee's liking. The Assassins were disqualified and the world title went to Haystack Calhoun and Paddy Barrett.

In other bouts, Abdullah defeated Don McLarty, Tex Mckenzie beat Kurt Steiger and Arman Hussein won over Bruce Kirk.

Rain Ruins Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Qualifications for the 500-mile auto race on Thursday went into an extra session today at Indianapolis Motor Speedway for the first time since 1952.

Rain on all but one day of the last three weeks left the time trials schedule in a shambles.

Nine cars qualified in high winds Saturday, headed by Mel Kenyon, Lebanon, Ind., at a modest 165.191 miles per hour. Eight spots remain open in the 33-car line-up.

The track was too wet for speed until well after the 6 p.m. scheduled close of time trials Sunday.

ONE MORE TRY

Rules permitted the Speedway to complete the line-up any way it saw fit, and it decided to let every healthy unqualified car—about 25—make one more run. The 25 already qualified cars were ruled safe from "bumping" by any subsequent superior speeds.

Two provisional qualifications were made at dusk Sunday. Veteran Bill Cheesbourg, Tucson, Ariz., had a slow 157.274 in an Eagle-Ford, and rookie Bill Puterbaugh, Roxanna, Ill., 157.301 in a Gerhardt-Ford.

The three Lotus turbines — driven by Joe Leonard, Graham Hill and Art Pollard — are favored to win the race. Hill won the Grand Prix of Monaco Sunday in a record time after taking the Spanish Grand Prix two weeks ago.

Denis Hulme, New Zealand, world road racing champion last year, qualified Saturday and then rushed off to finish fifth Sunday at Monte Carlo.

Other Saturday qualifiers included rookie sons of two famous drivers who were killed on the Indianapolis track—Tony Bettenhausen's son, Gary, and Bill Vukovich's son, Billy.

MAJOR RULE CHANGES IN WORLD CUP SOCCER

LONDON (AP) — Major changes in the rules governing World Cup soccer play were disclosed Saturday by Harry Caven, president of the Irish Football Association and a vice-president of the International Federation of Football Associations.

Caven, speaking at the annual summer school for Scottish referees, said that substitution of goalkeepers will be allowed at any time. One other player may be substituted up to halftime.

Caven said the rules will apply in the 1970 World Cup finals in Mexico.

It was the first time that such new rules have been made known to the public. Previously no substitutes have been allowed in World Cup matches.

AT SPEEDWAY MEET

Power Pays Dividend For Seattle Drivers

Pilots of local stock cars took on a tough chore Saturday night at Western Speedway and eventually had to yield major honors to Seattle visitors.

Three Sound City throttle-pushers showed up with super stocks for Saturday's meet and were invited to compete against the less-powerful Island stockers.

Only the determined driving of Albert Smith prevented the visitors from sweeping the top three places in the "A" main event.

Leading the pack until the 15th lap of the 25-lap main, Smith finally yielded to the challenges of Seattleites Dennis Scott and Steve Kaiser. He held off against Mike Willard, the other Seattle pilot, to finish third behind Scott and runner-up Kaiser.

WINS TROPHY DASH

Scott also collected a victory in the "A" trophy dash before 2,790 fans after setting the pace in time trials with a clocking of 20:52 seconds.

Islanders dominated the fast heat with Mel Marshall getting the checkered flag ahead of Garry Kershaw and Larry Walker. Kaiser finished fourth.

Another visitor, Ron Morrison of Vancouver, drove a regular stocker to a third place finish in the "B" main event.

Kershaw continued his outstanding performance of past weeks with a fast time of 20:58 among regular stockers in the trials. This is .01-second off his track record set last week. He also provided some excitement in the last lap of the "A" main event by crossing the finish line sideways after connecting with the grandstand wall.

FLIPPED FOUR TIMES

Rookie George Anderson was unhurt after flipping over four times in the first heat.

Another mishap occurred in one of the 10-minute sports car events, as Gary Pepin lost control and crashed into the grandstand wall. Same placings were pasted in both of these races — Dave Anderson first, followed by Dave Hutton and John Storr.

"A" dash: 1. Dennis Scott (Seattle); 2. Rick O'Dell; 3. Larry Walker; 4. Gary Kershaw.

"B" dash: 1. Earl Pollard; 2. Barry Cook; 3. Ron Morrison (Vancouver).

First heat: 1. Wally Allison; 2. Wayne Atkinson; 3. Gerry Patterson.

Second heat: 1. Earl Pollard; 2. Denny Swain; 3. Barry Cook.

Third heat: 1. Ed Turgeon; 2. Bruce Mayell; 3. Barry Davies.

Fast heat: 1. Mel Marshall; 2. Gary Kershaw; 3. Larry Walker; 4. Steve Kaiser (Seattle).

"B" main: 1. Ray Reimer; 2. Tom Ashey; 3. Barry Cook; 4. Earl Pollard.

"A" main: 1. Dennis Scott; 2. Steve Kaiser; 3. Albert Smith; 4. Mike Willard (Seattle).

Sports car "A": 1. Dave Anderson; 2. Dave Hatton; 3. John Storr.

Sports car "B": 1. Dave Anderson; 2. Dave Hatton; 3. John Storr.

Miller Runs The 'Cleaner' To Drag Win

"Street Cleaner" mopped up all opposition in the featured event Sunday at Van Isle Dragways.

Ron Miller, of Richmond, driving the 427-cubic-inch Falcon, left Al Clark and Brian Roberts' Chev-powered dragster in the dust for two straight runs in a match race.

Next meet is Sunday with gates opening at 9:30 a.m. and eliminations at 1:30 p.m.

Eliminator winners were:

Match race—Ron Miller (Richmond).
Competition eliminator — Bill Egland (Sidney).
Street eliminator — Henry Haslam (Nanaimo).
Top eliminator — Ron Tim (Campbell River).
Super stock eliminator—George Davies (Richmond).
Pure stock eliminator — Tom Harper (Victoria).
Powder puff—Terry Loisalle (Duncan).

Victoria Gunners Right on Target

Two Victoria gunners reaped a harvest of five titles in the two-day British Columbia trapshooting championships that concluded Sunday at Vancouver Gun Club.

Bert Thomas took the big crown, grabbing the A class open singles by shattering 100 straight targets. He also collected the provincial closed A class singles with a score of 197 out of a possible 200.

Rick Bate blasted birds for three titles. Rick took the provincial junior crown (97x100), the B class open singles (98x100) and the C class doubles (89x100).

At Montreal, Canadians took the lion's share of open titles in the Canadian skeet shooting championships despite one of the strongest entries in years from the U.S.

The only crowns to be won without a shootoff went to Bill Rudyk of Oshawa, Ont., who took the open and closed Canadian all-round championships with 494 out of 500. Rudyk lost two shootoffs for other titles, losing to Arch Cumming, Montreal, in both the closed 12-gauge singles and in the closed .410-gauge singles.

Other champions included: Doug Reed, Amherst, N.Y. (12-gauge open singles); Doug Burdett, Angus, Ont. (20-gauge open and closed singles); John Hunter, Lindsay, Ont. (28-gauge open and closed singles); Margaret Burdette, Angus, Ont. (women's open and closed all-around championships); Barney Hartman, Montreal (professional 12-gauge singles).

RUSSIA ADVANCES . . . . . . IN DAVIS CUP

Czechs Edge Belgians

Czechoslovakia needed a final singles victory to join Spain in clinching European Zone Davis Cup victories Sunday while Russia and Romania completed 5-0 sweeps.

The Czechs edged Belgium 3-2 as Milan Holecek held off Eric Drossart 6-3, 6-1, 3-6, 5-7, 6-2 at Brussels after Belgium's Patrick Hombergen had tied the match with a 3-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Jan Kodes.

Juan Gisbert outlasted N. Nerell 10-8, 6-0, 7-9, 3-6, 7-5, and Manuel Santana trounced Ove Bengtson 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 to give Spain a 4-1 count over Sweden at Barcelona.

Russia, which had clinched victory over Yugoslavia Saturday, added two singles victories Sunday for a 5-0 sweep at Moscow.

Romania took the last two singles matches at Oslo to finish with a 5-0 victory over Norway.

England (over Finland) and Italy (over Monaco) completed 5-0 sweeps Saturday.

In Berkeley, Calif, booming serves and strong net play gave Clark Graebner and Arthur Ashe victory Sunday in concluding singles matches as the U.S. wrapped up the American zone semi-final over Mexico 5-0.

In Guayaquil, Ecuador defeated Chile in doubles play for a 2-1 lead in the South American zone final.

LEADING money-winner on women's professional golf tour, Carol Mann (above) added $2,120 to season's earnings with second-place finish in Dallas Civitan Open. She scored three-under 68 to finish with 210, one stroke behind Kathy Whitworth. Canada's Sandra Post won $156 with 223 total.

Royals Lodge Protest

By The Associated Press

New York and Oakland are back on top of their divisions and hapless Dallas still is looking for its first victory in the North American Soccer League.

New York edged Boston 1-0 at Boston Sunday and vaulted over idle Atlanta in the Atlantic Division. Oakland and Dallas, meanwhile, tied 1-1 at Dallas, putting Oakland two points ahead of idle San Diego in the Pacific Division.

Toronto edged Kansas City 1-0 at Toronto and St. Louis beat Los Angeles 3-2 at Los Angeles in the only other games played Sunday.

Baltimore defeated Cleveland 2-1 and Washington and Vancouver tied 3-3 in Saturday's games.

Dieter Perau scored New York's only goal in the 21st minute of the second half at Boston. Boston has won only once this season.

Underdog Dallas, with five new players in its line-up, managed a tie with powerful Oakland on Branco Kubala's penalty kick with only eight minutes to play. Ed Marin scored Oakland's goal.

Mike Iguaran's goal midway through the first half gave Toronto its victory over Kansas City and stretched Toronto's unbeaten string to four games.

St. Louis ran up a 3-0 lead and held on against Los Angeles. Casey Frankewicz scored two of the St. Louis goals and Eli Durante got the other. Mickey Walker and Tony Knapp scored for the losers.

At Washington, goal-keeper Jack Reilly stopped a penalty kick with five seconds remaining to preserve Washington's 3-2 victory over Vancouver.

The Whips' Kaj Hansen converted two penalty kicks within 11 minutes in the second half and Washington withstood repeated Vancouver attacks before Henry Klein scored at 34 minutes to make the tally 3-2.

The Royals opened the scoring after 12 minutes of play when Cheung Chi Wai banged in a 16-yarder, but Victorio Casa tied the score at 34 minutes.

The game was played under protest because the Vancouver coach, Ferenc Puskas contended that the field was off-centre.

Peck Provides Lakers With Split

Lake Cowichan shared Sunday's spoils but still maintained a firm grip on the top rung on the Stuffy McGinnis Men's Softball League ladder.

Century Inn edged the Lakers 2-1 but Cowichan bounced back to edge Sooke Hotel 2-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Harold Peck.

Peck also proved a tough customer at bat, banging out a solo homer in the sixth inning to give himself an extra margin after Howie Donahue doubled Ron Giles home to give Cowichan its first run in the first inning.

Flay Hall sparked Century by scoring both runs. He homered in the sixth to force extra innings, then scored the winner in the eighth.

George Parker checked the Lakers on seven hits.

Cec Collects Junior Crown

Cec Ferguson doesn't have to wonder about his "near-miss habits" any longer. The long-hitting 17-year-old Gorge Vale member scored a bullseye Saturday by capturing the Victoria City junior golf championship.

Playing his home course, Ferguson edged younger brother Robbie by one stroke while another Gorge Vale player, Dave Mick, was third.

Cec, who had just missed the city title last year and also missed the Gorge club crown by one stroke the previous weekend, scored 72-80—152 over the par-73 course.

Defending champion Mike Gray finished well back with rounds of 82 and 85 as high winds generally hampered the juniors' scoring.

But the wind didn't affect a shot by Cedar Hill's Bob Paterson, or the all-around play of Ray Horne. Paterson, a Cedar Hill player, scored a hole-in-one on the 125-yard, par-three 14th.

Horne, one of the smallest players in the field, captured the Ocean Cement Trophy by claiming the handicap championship with a net 133. Horne easily out-distanced Gorge Vale clubmates Norm Smith (143) and Mike Grute (149) for the handicap trophy.

Other prize-winners included Tim Horrigan, Len Mays, Ken Burrell, Graham Brown, Don Marsden and a third Ferguson brother, Gary.

Gross leaders:

No-Hitter Not Quite Enough

It takes more than a no-hitter to win in the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

That's what Greaves' playing-manager Les Brice discovered Saturday. He served up a seven-inning no-hitter but lost a 1-0 decision to Lake Cowichan.

Earlier, Greaves defeated the Lakers 6-4 while in other games, Orphans edged Transport works 5-4 to hand the league-leaders their first defeat of the season. Teams played to a 1-1 tie in a second game.

Wife Keeps Mum To Help Mr. Lunn

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Angie Lunn neither plays golf nor talks the game at home. But for 40 tense minutes she knew something her husband, Bob, didn't know about the $100,000 Memphis Open golf tournament.

Angie saw Bob sink a 12-foot eagle putt on the 16th hole and realized he had moved into a two-stroke lead. He didn't know he was on the verge Sunday of winning the $20,000 first prize until he reached the 18th green.

Lunn parred the last two holes, finished with a 12-under-par 65-68-68-67—268 and won the first tournament since he joined the tour last year.

FELT WEAK

"I felt a little weak on the 18th green when I knew I could win with a par," said Lunn, 23, of Sacramento, Calif. "It's probably fortunate I didn't know I was in front by two. Something might have happened."

Monty Kaser, of Wichita, Kan., was second at 269 and won $12,000. Like Lunn, he is a former National Public Links champion.

Lou Graham, who led going into the final round, tied with B. R. McLendon for fourth at 270. Miller Barber, Gay Brewer and Bob McCallister, all in contention until the final three holes, finished with 271s.

Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg finished with 281 and $25.

268 — Bob Lunn ($20,000).
269 — Monty Kaser ($12,000).
270 — Lou Graham and B. R. McLendon ($6,250).
271 — Miller Barber, Gay Brewer and Bob McCallister ($3,833).

Cowichan Grabs Top Cricket Spot

Cowichan scored 157 for five wickets to down Incogs (92 all out) by five wickets at University School Sunday to take over sole possession of first place in the Victoria and District Cricket Association.

Wilson made 85 and Auld added 42 for winners while Jim Moffatt, with 27, was high for Incogs.

Cowichan bowler Tim Brierly took three Incog wickets for 12 runs.

Castaways had 158 all out to which Albions replied with 98 for seven wickets for a draw in another Sunday fixture at Beacon Hill Park.

In Saturday's match, Oak Bay took a four-wicket win over winless Alcos at Windsor Park.

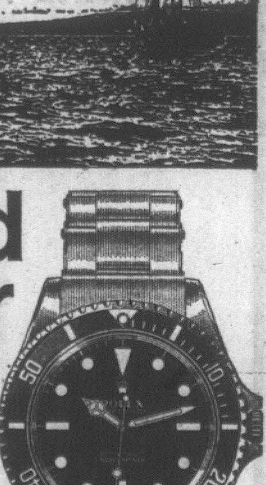
If you were diving here tomorrow

you'd wear a Rolex



When a diver calls his the best watch in the world, chances are he wears a Rolex.

It is a big, tough watch.

The classic Oyster case, for example, is carved out of a solid block of Swedish stainless steel. Inside the pressure-proof walls is a self-winding movement.

Because so much of the work is done by hand, it takes a long time to build a Rolex.

The watch worn by the divers of the Royal Canadian Navy is called the Rolex Oyster Submariner. It costs $210

Pros March in Force But Amateurs Go Best

They greeted the largest professional entry to play in a district golf tournament in recent years, but three youthful amateurs slipped in to steal the spotlight Sunday in the annual Cedar Hill Open.

Greg Candlish, Dave Mick and Ron Treleaven were the scene-stealers.

The pros clung to the money, but Candlish and Mick grabbed the honors with par-equalling 65s to top a record entry of 229.

PLAYOFF NEEDED

At the end, Candlish took the final honor. The redheaded Cedar Hill member collected a par while Mick three-putted for a bogey in a sudden-death playoff for low gross honors.

Treleaven supplied the fancy touch for the amateur side by scoring a hole-in-one on the sixth hole. The Cedar Hill member thus became the first in the tournament's history to claim one of the special prizes going to anyone collecting an ace on one of the course's seven par-three holes.

Fred King captured the John Merriman Memorial Trophy by scoring a net 56. An 18-handicapper, King posted a gross 74 to tie Cedar Hill clubmate Dave Thera for low net honors. However, King's better back-nine score brought him the trophy.

REID PREVAILS

A tie also developed in the pros' run for a $750 pot. Victoria's Bill Wakeham and three Vancouver professionals — Doug Reid, Lyle Crawford and Ron Willey — tied for low pro honors, each scoring a one-over-par 66.

In the playoff for top prize of $250, the stockily-built Reid emerged the victor by sinking a 12-foot birdie putt on the fourth extra hole.

Willey and Crawford dropped out of the running on the first extra hole when each took a bogey five. Wakeham and Reid parred the first three holes before Reid ran in his putt on the fourth.

Westbury Road Off and Running

(Times News Services)

Nebraska-bred Westbury Road seems to be off and running for a third straight reign as British Columbia's "horse-of-the-year".

The B.C. champion in 1966 and again last year, Westbury Road won the Sun Handicap at Vancouver's Exhibition Park Saturday for the second time in three years. Jockey Gene Salas guided Westbury Road along the rail to nose out Hemlock Hustler in the mile and 70-yard race.

Major Presto was third.

Westbury Road covered the distance in 1:41 4-5.

A crowd of 7,475 wagered a total of $308,046 on the eight-race card.

* * *

ON U.S. TRACKS: Favored Dark Mirage matched the track record and romped to a six-length victory in the 38th running of the $60,150 Acorn Stakes at Belmont Park ... Dark Mirage, ridden by Manny Ycaza and owned by Lloyd I. Miller, finished the mile in 1:34 4-5, matching the record set by Count Fleet in 1942 and tied by Blessbull in 1956 ... Count Fleet did it under 116 pounds, Blessbull under 115 ... Dark Mirage and the other 11 three-year-old fillies each carried 121 pounds Saturday ... The slight, 700-pound filly obviously could have beaten the mark easily, finishing eased up ... Bruce A. Norris' Another Nell was second, a neck in front of Meadow Stable's Gay Matelda, coupled in the betting with Syrian Sea ... It was the fifth straight victory for Dark Mirage and her fourth stakes triumph.

At Inglewood, Calif., First Mate charged between horses at the head of the stretch and, under the expert riding of Jerry Lambert, won the $33,950 Argonaut Stakes at Hollywood Park in a blanket finish ... The 7-to-1 betting choice won by a nose over fast-closing Go Marching ... Favored Pinjara was third, a length back ... First Mate crossed the wire in 1:41 2-5.

At Cherry Hill, N.J., Sunnymeath Farm's King's Palace upset the even-money favorite Jim Jay in winning the $44,850 Camden Handicap by five lengths at Garden State Park ... Jim Jay, with defending U.S. riding champion Jorge Velasquez aboard, saved the place a length over E. Gay Drake's Swoonaway ... Birthday Card was fourth.

Eight Records Go A-Tumbling In Island Meet

NANAIMO — Mount Douglas High School came through ahead of all competitors at the Vancouver Island Inter-High School track and field meet here Saturday.

Strength in the relays brough Stan Gill's Mt. Doug squad the team championship and the J. L. Nicholls Perpetual Trophy with 135 points.

Nanaimo settled for second place with 127½ points after leading the meet up to the final relays. Nanaimo finished fifth in each of the three relays while Mt. Doug recorded firsts in the girls' 4 x 110-yard and the boys' 4 x 440-yard team events and finished second in the boys 4 x 110-yard relay.

VIC HIGH THIRD

Victoria, which won the other boys' relay, finished third, overall, with 107 points. Claremont came next with a 96 total while defending champion Oak Bay trailed at 73½.

As in the recent greater Victoria meet, Anne Langdale sparked Mt. Doug's domination in the girls' events to take the British Columbia Centennial trophy. Victoria took the boys' title.

Janis Huck of Nanaimo and Jim Armstrong of Esquimalt claimed the individual aggregate championships. Both posted two wins and one second. Miss Huck nabbed the girls' title with wins in the 60 and 100-yard dashes coupled with a second in the long jump.

Armstrong took his first in the shot put and hammer-throw while finishing behind Oak Bay's Dave Morgan in the discus.

EIGHT NEW MARKS

Eight records—five boys' and three girls', fell in the course of the day while one record was tied.

Three new events came on the scene Saturday, including the hammer-throw, and the boys' and girls' javelin.

Miss Langdale set records in the 440 with a brilliant time of 57.4 seconds. She ran the 220 in 24.6 during the heats, 1.2 seconds under the old record set by Carol Kitchen of Esquimalt in 1966.

Graham Hutchison of Courtenay duplicated Miss Langdale's double-record feat in the boys' division by lowering his own record for the mile from 5:32.0 to 4:27.3. He also ran the 880-yards in 1:58.0, one second better than the old record set by Steve Hume of Mt. Douglas in 1966.

The Victoria relay team lowered the old standard of 45.3 seconds in the 4 x 110-yard relay by .02 seconds, while a schoolmate, Mike Berube set a 16.8 mark in the boys' 120-yard hurdles. Greg Fraser of Mt. Doug set a new long jump record of 21' 6¼''.

Mt. Doug's Bill Fediw tied the boys' 220-yard clocking of 22.9.

A surprise performance came from Gordon Head Junior High student, Lindsay Jack, who beat out older competitors to win the girls' long and high jumps.

Stevens Brothers Dunsmuir Stars

Harry Stevens and his brother Lesley racked up perfect records to take the senior and junior aggregate awards, respectively, at the Dunsmuir Junior Secondary inter-house track and field meet.

Both packed off 28 out of a possible 28 points. Sally Meakes won the senior girls' aggregate while Nancy Barker claimed the junior title, both with 22 points.

House III won team honors with 306 points. House I was second with 265 only two points over House II.

Stylers Lodge Protest

NANAIMO — The Vancouver Island Senior Lacrosse League is only two games old, but the protest commmittee already is being called into action.

The committee meets here tonight to rule on a Victoria protest after the Old Stylers played to a 10-10 tie with Nanaimo Luckies on Saturday night.

Victoria coach Mel Davison based his protest on circumstances surrounding a last-second goal by Charn Dhillon, which was disallowed by the referees.

Old Stylers, sparked by the outstanding goaltending of Paul Pallin, had to come from behind to pull out the draw. Nanaimo led 3-2, 6-5 and 8-6 after the first three quarters in the rugged game.

Ken Alexander and Dhillon each scored three times for Victoria while Craig Booth popped in a pair and singles were added by Whitey Wigmore and Darrel McIntyre.

Ken Mauchan, Bill Russell and Steve Bishop each counted twice for Nanaimo, while Larry Clarkson, Al Matson, Don Morelli and Jerry Shires tossed in singles.

Old Stylers' next game will be played in Memorial Arena against Port Alberni on Saturday.

GRANT SYSTEM PROTESTED

Indian Chiefs May Quit

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN — Indian chiefs and secretaries within Vancouver Island tribal federation may resign en bloc in protest against proposed changes in the grant system.

Chief Philip Paul of Brentwood said Saturday: "We are being blackmailed to accept the new formula or get no grants at all.

"If the worst comes to the worst we should walk off the job and give our duties back to the Indian Affairs department regional offices.

"It's one way we can get them to listen."

The federation is protesting changes which would allow a maximum annual grant of $25,000 to individual bands for welfare services, welfare housing assistance, primary road maintenance, fire protection and sanitation.

ELECTION ISSUE

The federation protest will be made a federal election issue and Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Liang and former members of parliament for Island ridings (Colin Cameron, Tom Barnett, David Groos and George Chatterton) are to be invited to a public meeting in Nanaimo Sunday, June 9, at 2 p.m.

Federation secretary Mrs. Diane Recalma, Qualicum, said regional offices had neither been notified nor consulted regarding the changes.

She said: "For once we find ourselves on the same side of a protest."

Mrs. Recalma said she is against the new formula in its entirely but particularly against individual bands being asked to take care of welfare from such a small income as $25,000.

She said no band could possibly employ a full-time manager and secretary and other necessary qualified personnel to carry out all the new duties on $25,000.

The Indian affairs department circular states the new grant system is designed to offer Indian bands a greater measure of self-government.

It says the role of the federal government in relation to the Indian community should be similar to that of the provincial government to the non-Indian community insofar as financial aid is concerned.

'INSULTING'

Chief Paul said the meagre grants were "downright insulting" and could not possibly bring about self-government on the reserves.

Mrs. Recalma said: "Through no fault of our own we do not have the people qualified to handle the jobs now allocated to use and yet if we don't do them we won't get the grants.

"Sure we want to handle our own affairs but to be handed a big job without the necessary training is out of the question."

Chief Paul is to be chairman of a committee to study the new grant circular and come up with alternative suggestions.

Other volunteer members of the committee are federation president Ross Modeste, Mrs. Recalma, Don Williams, Mrs. Florence Thomas and Charles Elliott.

Sylvia Sweeps 4-H Day

Sylvia Mayer, 17, member of the Cowichan Jersey Calf Club and of the Cowichan Basting Belles Home Arts Club, won the grand aggregate score at the annual 4-H field day held in Cowichan Exhibition grounds, Saturday.

Sylvia took home the Cowichan Creamery Cup and will later be given a gold watch by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. She was first in judging dairy cattle, first in beef cattle, second in sheep judging, second in a 4-H quiz contest, and first with her twin sister, Alison, in the demonstration class.

Runners-up for the grand aggregate score were Maureen Hogan and Roberta Jameson. The marks of the three top scorers were 370, 336 and 334.

All three were seniors, 15 years and over. The three top intermediates, 12-14, were Pamela Jickling, Angela Rodman, Ruth Jameson. The top juniors, under 12, were Jeannine Rodman, Dagmar Roemer, Margaret Horton and Karen Ottosen (tied for third place).

The results were a clean sweep for the girls of the district. Instruction was given in sheep by Noel Dinsdale, Cowichan Bay; in beef cattle by Tom Groves, Westholme; in dairy cattle by Archie Stevenson, Maple Bay, and in home arts by Miss Olwen Sanderson, Cobble Hill.

District agriculturists Ken Jameson and Graham Bradshaw were in charge of events and prizes were given by North Cowichan Mayor Don Morton.

'Chutist Snared By Pole

North Cowichan firemen were called Saturday at noon to release a parachute entangled in the wires and pole of B.C. Telephone Company on Somenos Road, just west of St. Mary's Church.

Bert Robinson, a student at Royal Roads Service College, Colwood, was the lucky 'chutist.

He was supposed to land in a field on the old Watson Evans farm but a gust of wind shifted him south. He missed the B.C. Hydro wires on the west side of the road. Had he been less lucky he might have landed in the hydro substation a couple of hundred yards southward.

He actually landed on the ground, uninjured and the parachute wasn't damaged either. Like many sky-diving fans from Victoria, Bert Robinson belongs to the Duncan Parachute Club.

Separate Polls Discriminate —Federation

DUNCAN — Vancouver Island Tribal Federation is to protest to the federal electoral officer against the setting up of separate polling stations on Indian reserves.

Cowichan Chief Dennis Alphonse said Saturday: "They preach integration but practice segregation.

"I strongly object to separate polling stations for Indians. Immediately the polling station closes the public knows exactly how we Indians voted."

Chief Alphonse said: "Polling is integrated provincially so why should it be different for a federal election?"

Mrs. Diane Recalma, federation secretary, said there would be no objection to mixed polling stations being established on reserves.

FREE BOAT RIDE is always a draw . . . and especially when it's going to Nanaimo's beautiful Newcastle Island. About 6,000 revellers took one of three navy "ferries" to resort island Sunday for Coal Tyee Day. Indian council couldn't get provincial ferry and went through political candidate to get navy help.

Sailors Save Day For Indian Party

NANAIMO—Coal Tyee Indian Days almost didn't happen Sunday — until the Navy got into the act with a three-boat ferry service.

Then they almost couldn't stop. Estimates today suggest the Navy carried 6,000 citizens of Nanaimo across to Newcastle Island between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Normally a provincial gocernment subsidized ferry runs out to the island during July and August. Officials planning for the day of Indian festivities could not get authority for its earlier use.

The Indian Council said it tried to get the ferry—sitting idle in Nanaaimo Harbor—out for the day. When they had no luck, they went to federal Liberal candidate Mladen Zorkin, who went in turn to Indian Affairs minister Arthur Laing.

And that is why the Navy provided three harbor craft.

Setting a limit of 100 passengers in each, they ran a shuttle service on the 10-minute trip out to the island. And most of Nanaimo decided to go along for the (free) ride.

Coal Tyee Day — started last year to bring back the ancient Indian days — was a success.

So much a success it took the Navy until midnight Sunday to get everyone back from the island. And the Indians are wondering if they can wangle a federal election next year too.

The Volvo 145 is a logical extension of the Volvo 144.

On the outside, it's no longer, wider, or higher than the Volvo 144 Sedan. Which makes it just as easy to park and handle.

With the back seat folded out of the way, the 145's cargo compartment gives you 70 cubic feet of carrying space. (And 70 cubic feet, by the way, is space for enough groceries to fill six large refrigerators.) Underneath that compartment is another compartment that gives you 4 cubic feet of hiding space.

So when you've got a lot of things to haul around, you can turn the back seat down and use the Volvo 145 as a station wagon.

And when all you're hauling around is people, you can turn the seat up again and use the 145 as a Volvo.

Major distiller bows to British Columbia taste...

continues producing Double Distilled whisky despite trend to national brands

At a time when whisky producers across Canada are moving to national brands, the B.C. Distillery Company is focussing attention on Double Distilled – a whisky sold almost exclusively in British Columbia. Why? In brief, because Double Distilled wouldn't go away. Small wonder, when you consider its background.

63 years of quality

Since 1904, Double Distilled whisky has been produced in British Columbia for British Columbians. From the beginning its distinctive flavor gained acceptance throughout the province, and over the years its reputation for quality and value stood unsurpassed. It came to be regarded, quite naturally, as British Columbia's own whisky. Yet, ironically, this mark of distinction placed Double Distilled in jeopardy. For as the company began producing other whiskies for national distribution, Double Distilled came to be regarded as a "minor" brand . . . a local oddity. Finally the day arrived when overall operating efficiency demanded the end of Double Distilled.

A logical decision

Logic demanded replacement of the company's only local brand by a nationally-known whisky. Double Distilled, while still produced to meet existing demand, would be ignored. Gradually it would fade away. And indeed, the grand old brand slowly waned. Sales diminished and the end seemed near. Then a remarkable thing happened. Double Distilled stood firm, as British Columbians refused to forget it. Confounded, the company could only relent.

Great days ahead

Who cares that Double Distilled is unheard of in Ontario? That Quebecers know it not? Whisky taste is highly personal . . . and a taste developed over 63 years is something to cherish. Here in British Columbia we know and enjoy the unsurpassed quality and value of the whisky that couldn't be ignored!

PEARKES' PLEA

'Don't Neglect Veterans' Needs'

PENTICTON (CP) — Lieut.-Gov. G. R. Pearkes of British Columbia Sunday asked the federal government to give sympathetic attention to veterans' problems as he opened the 22nd national convention of the Royal Canadian Legion.

"Some of the young members elected to the next government will not have been exposed to veterans' problems," said Gen. Pearkes, a Victoria Cross winner and a former defence minister.

"I hope that for many years there will continue to be a separate minister for veterans' affairs and that there will continue to be a department for the administration of veterans' affairs."

He told the 2,300 delegates and their wives from across Canada that veterans must concern themselves with their country's future.

"We cannot hope to exist if we only concern ourselves with our own problems," he said. "We must look to the future and see what we can do to pass on to our youth those ideals which prompted us when we were younger.

"I hope that this convention will give consideration to how those ideals—courage, fair play and service—can be promoted to our youth."

He called the legion the largest and most effective service club in Canada.

The convention was to get down to business today with an address by Roger Teillet, minister of veterans' affairs in the last Parliament.

Mr. Teillet, who failed to get the nomination as a Liberal candidate in the June 25 federal election for the Manitoba constituency of St. Boniface last week, was expected to face a barrage of criticism from legion members who feel the federal government has not done enough for veterans.

Administration of veterans' hospitals, housing and veterans' pensions are on the five-day convention's agenda. Also to be discussed are English-French relations in Canada and the movement to this country of United States draft-dodgers.

BEACH SIGNS PLANNED

Saanich soon will post direction signs to beach accesses in the municipality.

Ald Alan Newberry, chairman of the parks and outdoor recreation committee, made the comment after a council tour Saturday.

He also said money will be spent in 1969 to improve the accesses themselves.

This year's posting will be done "right away" at those places which have a pathway from the road to the beach.

"There are only three or four marked at present," he said "I would guess we will post 30 or 40."

Asked if Saanich will post access signs to beaches which are polluted by sewage, Ald. Newberry replied "that is something I can't answer at present."

There were some beaches that are polluted but which have not been posted with warning signs by the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health "so there is a double problem."

He doubted Saanich would erect an access sign to a beach used for swimming which the health board had poted with a pollution sign.

ALBERTA TENSION EASES

Showers Help Firefighters

SLAVE LAKE, Alta. (CP) — Tension eased over the weekend in this town of 2,000 persons in the wake of a forest fire late last week which threatened to destroy the community 190 miles north of Edmonton.

Weekend thundershowers and light winds—and forecasts of similar weather today and Tuesday—helped firefighters battle the fire, which had raced 46 miles in less than 12 hours through treetops to within two miles of the town. Then a windshift sent it eastward.

A forestry department spokesman said Sunday three major fires were still out of control at Slave Lake, Calling Lake and Faust but fire lines and section camps had been set up along the east sides

The three were among 115 fires burning in the province.

Sixteen fires were reported still out of control Sunday night and four others were under partial control.

The Slave Lake fire, largest in the province, was burning over 363,000 acres of scrub and marketable pine and spruce.

Wally West, the department spokesman, said officials believe it started early last week from a fire used by farmers to burn brush piles near Fawcett, 60 miles south.

Officials attributed the Calling Lake fire, burning over 160,000 acres, and the 60,000-acre Faust blaze to picknickers

Calling Lake is about 100 miles north of Edmonton and Faust is 210 miles northwest of here, also on the south shore of Lesser Slave Lake.

Mr. West said that about 800,000 acres of forest and scrub were burning in the province at the latest count. No lives were reported lost and no estimate of the fire damage to timber and wildlife was available

Seven water bombers were moved in Sunday night to a forest fire which broke out in the Simonette oil field near Whitecourt, 100 miles northwest of Edmonton.

A forestry spokesman said fast action by the aircraft is believed to have resulted in early control.

There was no report of damage.

The forestry service is operating three aerial forces in separate forest districts. Twenty-eight planes are using water and fire retardant chemicals in the Lac la Biche area. about 100 miles northeast of Edmonton; another 27 at Slave Lake, about 190 miles north of Edmonton, and 15 aircraft in the Whitecourt area.

UKRAINIANS TOSS 'BOMBS' AT EMBASSY

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—More than 300 Ukrainian demonstrators pelted the Soviet Embassy Sunday with miniature bombs, rotten eggs and fruit.

The bombs, shaped like golf balls, and containing gunpowder, exploded against the embassy wall but did not cause any damage.

At the end of the demonstrations the walls of the embassy were spotted with egg and fruit stains.

There are no magic numbers in Judy Elrick's book

She's a B.C. Telephone Company information operator, but witchcraft is not a tool of the trade. She has to look the numbers up.

"Information." Judy Elrick answered the inquiring call. She listened for a moment, then began searching the pages of her directory for the number requested.

Before she found it, a conversation developed at the other end of the line, obviously an office somewhere. The words came through clearly on Judy's telephone headset.

Male voice: "Did you get that number?"
Female voice: "In a moment, sir."
Male voice, louder now: "You're not on to information again? Why don't you use the telephone directory?"
Click. End of call.

Judy shrugged, then answered another call, then another and another. By the time she had completed that day's seven-hour shift as a B.C. Telephone Company information operator, she had handled more than 500 inquiries.

The survey report on her desk showed that more than 70 per cent of those calls were for telephone numbers listed in customer directories.

No Magic Formula

"You see," Judy said later as she recalled the incident, which apparently involved a businessman and his secretary. "That girl is among the majority. Seven or eight of every ten calls to information service are made by people who could find the number in their directories, but they don't bother to look.

"It's a shame, really, because, as that businessman seemed to recognize, they could save themselves at least the time it takes to call us if they'd use their directories.

"Information operators have no magic formula to produce a telephone number faster. We have to look through a directory each time."

Judy Elrick knows this from experience. At 20, this Winnipeg-born and Vancouver-raised brunette has been a B.C. Telephone information operator for two years.

She guessed she has answered nearly 150,000 calls since taking up a switchboard position for the first time after completing a special training course. And the number goes up by about 500 every working day.

Who Sells Liver?

Most are routine requests for telephone numbers, which is appropriate since the purpose of the service is to provide telephone directory information only and the operators are instructed to restrict it to that.

"But I've had callers ask me how many miles it is to the moon, how to cook chicken and whether liver is sold at a certain department store," Judy said. "I just have to explain that we can't provide this kind of information."

Some callers become impatient and impolite. "I've had some threaten to look up the number themselves," Judy said. But most are reasonable and businesslike.

The information operators must always be polite and, like Judy, all those in B.C. Telephone's information service are trained to control their emotions while on the job. They learn to accept even the abusive caller in stride.

"The only thing that really bothers us," Judy said, reflecting the feelings of her fellow operators, "is knowing that sometimes, all those calls for information which customers can find in their directories mean that people who really need directory assistance sometimes have to wait longer than they should to reach us."

The company is anxious to provide fast, efficient information service. But it must pay the costs, which now exceed $1.5 million a year, from revenues received from telephone customers and it can expand the service only within economic limits.

These limits are not strained in meeting efficiently the basic purpose of the service, which is to provide telephone numbers for listings not in directories distributed to each customer each year.

But they are strained by the total amount of information traffic today—the information service staff of more than 350 persons handles an average of 80,000 calls a day—and the strain results from the fact that at least 70 per cent of these calls are for numbers customers can find in their telephone directories.

B.C. Telephone is observing the economic limits, even at the risk of a slightly slower speed of answer, because it must do so to protect the over-all interests of telephone customers.

80,000 CALLS A DAY

The B.C. Telephone Company hesitates to say so, but it's begun to suspect that its information service has become too efficient.

Either that, or too many people just enjoy calling operators like Judy.

Whatever the reason, the fact that so many are using information service rather than their telephone directories has created quite a problem.

OHIO VOTE TO RFK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Senator Robert F. Kennedy has won the bulk of Iowa's Democratic national convention delegates and Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey has 63¾ of Pennsylvania's 130 convention votes, an Associated Press survey showed today, to 19 for Senator Eugene J. McCarthy and 2¼ for Kennedy.

A meeting of the Pennsylvania delegates has been scheduled today at which it is possible state organization leaders, who have tried to maintain official neutrality, may throw support to Humphrey.

Newsweek magazine meanwhile said Humphrey appears favored for 1,279½ of the 1,312 delegate votes needed for nomination. Newsweek said Kennedy appears favored for 713½ votes and McCarthy for 280.

Iowa Democrats gave 18 convention votes during the weekend to Kennedy, five to Humphrey and 2½ to McCarthy. Humphrey got 10 Vermont delegates, Kennedy seven and McCarthy five.

NEXT PRIMARY TUESDAY

The Iowa and Vermont delegate selection at state conventions came just before the third crucial primary election confrontation between Kennedy and McCarthy, this one in Oregon Tuesday.

Kennedey courted what his camp believed may be a large undecided vote in Oregon and McCarthy said "every sign" now points to a good showing for him.

Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon, predicting he will get 55 per cent of the Republican vote in Oregon, said supporters of California Governor Ronald Reagan and New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller are working in tandem to try to block his drive for the presidential nomination.

Reagan, who says he is not a presidential candidate, is on the Oregon ballot. Rockefeller, an announced candidate, is not.

Nixon was considered sure to win Oregon's 18 Republican convention votes in the primary—a popularity contest—and the Democratic winner will get 35 convention votes.

The national conventions of both parties will pick the presidential and vice-presidential candidates for the November election.

'Local Knowledge' Helps Sailors Win

Team racing in Esquimalt Harbor and Cadboro Bay highlighted the weekend sailing action.

Sailors from the Royal Navy's visiting ships, Fife and Glamorgan, challenged teams at RVYC and RCNSA. And in each case, those with local knowledge won.

But it was all in good fun. When strong winds made Saturday racing inadvisable, the Royal Navy had a free day of sailing in the 42 dinghies, while RCNSA members tried out the 14-foot "Bosun" dinghies which are carried on board the British naval ships.

Sunday afternoon's race out of Esquimalt Harbor was sailed in 26-foot Sailorette keel boats. RCNSA's Paul Jensen and Mike Weir were first and second in White Swan and Red Start.

Crews from HMS Glamorgan followed in Black Hawk, which came in third, and Blue Goose, which did not finish the race.

At Royal Victoria Yacht Club Sunday, a team from HMS Fife sailed in California 20s Skua, Pegasus, Ookpik, Salamis II and Windless.

They lost out to the RVYC members of the Cal 20 fleet, who were sailing in Massilia, Tongariro, Semiramis, Red Baron, and Galenaia.

The spring half of the semi-annual Inter-City Thunderbird Team race was sailed off over the weekend. Victoria T-Bird Fleet No. 4 relinquished the trophy to Vancouver T-Bird Fleet No. 9.

Saturday's racing was cancelled because of strong winds, while Sundays races were sailed in frustrating light airs before being called. Only two races were completed Sunday morning, with the teams keeping the same boat for both races.

Vancouver representatives sailed in May D II, Redskin, Ahooya, Bart'hat and Lemolo. Victoria fleet members used Tradewind, Chinook, Paqhuee, Hussy, and Huunga. Over 50 people participated in the weekend's racing.

Legion Names Delegates

Some 35 Vancouver Island delegates are attending the Dominion convention of the Royal Canadian Legion in Penticton which opened Saturday and continues until Friday evening.

Among them are command officer James S. Mayzes, zone commander Tom Clements, deputy zone commander T. Harris and zone secretary William Stewart.

Branches represented are Britannia, Pro Patria, Prince Edward, Public Service, Trafalgar, Esquimalt Dockyard, Saanich Peninsula, Gulf Islands, Pender Harbor, Sooke and the Ex-service Women's branch 182.

Museum Head Named

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir John Wolfenden, 61, who headed an inquiry committee 12 years ago into homosexual offences and prostitution, will be the next director and principal librarian of the British Museum. His appointment was announced Sunday night in succession to Sir Frank Francis who retires Oct. 16.

Ousted Military Aide 'Somewhere in U.K.'

LONDON (CP) — A Canada House official today confirmed that Lt.-Col. John Watson is in Britain but declined to give details other than to say "he is on leave."

It is understood that Watson, Canadian military attache expelled from the Soviet Union on spying charges, is somewhere in the north of England on personal family business and likely will return to Canada in about two weeks.

Watson, accompanied by his wife and daughter, flew into London late Friday night. He was arrested by the Russians May 11 after he was alleged to have photographed a military airfield from a trans Siberian train.

Canadian authorities have accused the Russians of having manhandled Watson on the train and after rejecting the charges, ordered expulsion of a Soviet military attache at Ottawa.

Lumber Shipment

UCLUELET — Ucluelet's newest sawmill, the "Tona Products," recently shipped over 300,000 board feet of lumber to Vancouver.

The lumber, destined for world markets, made the trip by barge.

The new mill, under superintendent James MacKay, is one of many currently supplying lumber for building expansion in the Tofino-Ucluelet area.

WEST GERMAN TRIAL

Thalidomide Case Boycott Threatened By Defence

From Reuters-AP

ALSDORF (CP) — Defence lawyers today threatened to boycott the trial of seven executives of the West German company that produced the drug thalidomide—blamed for deforming thousands of babies.

Relatives and parents of 23 deformed children—alleged victims of thalidomide—watched as the legal battle flared less than an hour after the court president, Peter Weber, opened proceedings in this small West German mining town.

An estimated $25,000,000 in damage claims depend on the outcome.

The defendants, six present executives and one former official of Chemie Gruenenthal, the firm which developed, manufactured and marketed the tranquillizer widely used by pregnant women, faced criminal charges of causing bodily harm with intent and through negligence, negligent homicide and violating German drug laws.

OBJECTS TO LAWYERS

The public prosecutor objected that two defence lawyers representing two defendants in court today and the head of the company, Dr. Herman Wirtz, who is being tried separately, might face a conflict of interests.

Defence lawyer Erich Schmidt-Leichner retorted that this was no business of the prosecution.

"If these two lawyers are barred then we would have to decide whether the defence as a whole could continue with the trial," he added.

Nine defendants were originally scheduled to go on trial today, but Wirtz, 71, was unable to stand trial because he is suffering from a duodenal ulcer and the court today decided to postpone indefinitely proceedings against a second accused executive, Heinz Kelling, 48, who also has an ulcer.

Public Prosecutor Joseph Havertz argued that the two lawyers were obliged to do their best to secure acquittal or reduced sentences and could have difficulties if they represented both the head of Gruenenthal and two of his employees at the same time.

He also asked the court to exclude another defence lawyer because he was at one time employed by Gruenenthal and was therefore an interested party.

The court adjourned to let the 18 defence lawyers consult on their next move.

DOUGLAS GIVES PROMISE AT NOMINATION

NDP Would Implement Carter

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said Saturday his party will fight for immediate implementation of the Carter report on taxation at the next session of Parliament.

"Tax reforms on the basis of the Carter report—with a tax on capital gains—is a key issue in this campaign and will be one of the most important jobs for the next Parliament," he said.

Mr. Douglas made the comment at a Capilano constituency nomination meeting which selected high school teacher Frank Snowsell as the party's standard-bearer in the June 25 federal election.

Mr. Douglas said it has been almost a year since the Liberal government promised to investigate the universal tax system recommended by the Carter report. He said Canada will never have a just society until the system is implemented.

"It was conceived by the Conservatives and delivered by the Liberals," he said. "Now old parties are forgetting it and we are going to adopt it."

He criticized the current tax system which favors persons involved in corporate ownership or management and the availability of stock options rather than high salaries to executives who can later cash in the options making a non-taxable capital gain rather than taxable income.

"Prime Minister Trudeau says he is against a capital gains tax," Mr. Douglas said. "He favors the present discriminatory system rather than the Carter system which calls a dollar a dollar. Canada is the only western country without a capital gains tax."

He said the Carter report showed that $5 billion in income was untaxed under the current system in 1964.

"If the corporations and stockholders who got this $5,000,000,00 gift had been taxed the same as the rest of us, the Canadian government would have been $605,000,000 richer."

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Gibson, 30, special assistant to Prime Minister Trudeau, was injured last week when his motocycle hit a parked car in front of Liberal party headquarters.

HOPE-PRINCETON

This Dream Road Blooms in Spring

By ELIZABETH FORBES

To everyone in the Okanagan Valley, the opening of the Hope-Princeton highway in November, 1949, was fulfilment of a dream that was nearly a century old.

Forbes

Today, that same highway has become a well travelled road that takes thousands of tourists across southern British Columbia to the Pacific Coast and at the same time, allows those who live in the province to whip in and out from the interior to the coast and back in a matter of hours.

At this season, I can assure you it is well worth taking time out to travel this highway.

Dogwoods are in full bloom all the way from Tsawwassen to Hope and from there to Pinewoods in Manning Park at the summit of Mt. Allison.

Cottonwoods are showing delicate bits of chartreuse green leaves. Mock orange is white against the dark green of the firs. And, where snow has cleared, moss is thick and rock flowers are purple, pink and yellow.

* * *

At Pinewoods, when we were there, there was still a bit of snow. Lightning Lakes were ice-sheathed except for a bit of open water at one of the bathing beaches.

Road to the top of the mountain was open but still full of winter ruts. We bumped our way to the top to look out at the encircling peaks and then far down to the lodge and parking space.

We saw deer along the way. There were tracks of other animals, too. But in the few days we were in Manning Park, we didn't encounter one bear.

Campsites were well filled even this early in the year. Fishing was fair. Trout were fat and fighting. Rock hounds were in seventh heaven. And one nature lover we encountered was happy because she had found a rare rock plant she was taking back to her wild garden in Kelowna.

An old-timer I met told me first order for an overland route from Hope to Princeton went through away back in 1848.

* * *

The fur brigade route via Fort Yale and Fraser Canyon to the Nicola country had proved disastrous. Scores of horses and mules had been lost. Men had committed suicide rather than face the rigors of a return trip and some had deserted.

The brigade from Kamloops came out to Fort Yale and Langley by this terrible trail, but the journey was so strenuous and costly orders were given in the summer of 1849 to open a new trail by way of the Coquihalla Pass.

Our Hope-Princeton Highway of today follows that famous trail in many spots.

When Premier Byron Johnson unlocked a gilded padlock to swing back golden gates at the summit of Mt. Allison in November, 1949, to open the modern Hope-Princeton road, there were still some of the early pioneers around who remember the first trail.

They could recall that it took six to seven days travel from Osoyoos to Hope. That is, if there were no accidents. They also remembered flowering rhododendrons were thick on the flats west of Skagit Bluff viewpoint and that it was a narrow rocky pass that skirted the bluffs.

* * *

In those days the narrow trail was the only route for shipping cattle from the South Okanagan to Markets on the coast and their were annual drives over the route.

The town of Princeton didn't exist and the tiny settlement at that point was called Allison after the man who ran a general store there.

There was no stopping place from Allison to Hope. Travellers took tents and camping equipment for sleeping along the way. And a good day's travel was between 20 and 25 miles.

Today, we go by car from Tsawwassen to Hope in a matter of one and a half-hours. From there it's another hour to Pinewoods in Allison Pass.

Decide to go on to Princeton without stopping and you'd do it in another hour and a half.

It's a far cry from the "good old days."

Final Concert By Choral Group Set Thursday

Esquimalt Silver Threads has a full slate of activities for next week.

The events:

Monday, oil painting classes, card games and tea; Tuesday, colored slides by Fred Jenkins and tea; Wednesday, card games and tea; Thursday, last concert of the season by Mrs. Alex Cuthbert and her choral group, with James Jack; Friday, general membership meeting at 1:30 and ceramic class.

A pot luck lunch for friends will be held at Jubilee Hall June 5, at noon.

LEVESQUE

Independence in 10 Years Levesque Tells Quebecers

AMOS, Que. (CP) — Rene Levesque, head of a Quebec sovereignty movement, predicted Sunday that the political transformation of the province toward separatism would begin within five years and within 10 years independence would be accepted as a reality.

Speaking in French in this community 215 miles northwest of Ottawa, the leader of the Mouvement Souverainete - Association said independence is a necessity if we do not want to degrade ourselves and a historic chance which presents itself to the Quebec people."

Mr. Levesque, former provincial Liberal welfare minister and now independent member of the legislative assembly, said Quebec's French-speaking population is in danger of losing its majority status because of the increasing size of the English-speaking group.

More than 620,000 immigrants come to Quebec each year and most were English-speaking.

"Formerly we depended upon the revenge of the cradle but today the birth rate is dropping at an alarming rate," he said.

"It is therefore a question of life and death and the Quebec people are currently in danger of becoming a minority in their own province, starting with the Montreal area."

Later, during an interview, Mr. Levesque described the federal general election as "an excited vote but not a considered vote."

Quebecers Big Winners At Dominion Festival

By LILLIAN NEWBERY

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Les Enfants de Voiture of Montreal and Giratoire, a new Canadian play by 18-year-old Pierre Voyer of Montreal, combined talents to carry off 10 of 17 awards at the Dominion Drama Festival.

Giratoire took the Festival Trophy for best play Saturday, a CBC $2,000 prize for best Canadian play, $1.000 from the Canadian Association of Broadcasters to the best author of a new Canadian play and the Sir Barry Jackson Trophy for best full-length play written by a Canadian.

Lead actor Gabriel Arcand won a $3,000 scholarship from Quebec province, $200 from La Fondation des Amis de l'Art and a trophy for best performance.

Jacques Lemieux received awards for his lighting and set design of Giratoire.

The awards were announced by Adjudicator David Peacock, 44, head of the production course at the National Theatre School in Montreal.

Six plays, winners of regional competitions from among 60 amateur theatre groups across Canada, were presented.

TWO CAME CLOSE

Runners-up for best play were Marat-Sade by Peter Weiss, presented by the London, Ont., Little Theatre, and Et Coetera, a new Canadian play by Jean Barbeau, 23, of Quebec City, presested by La Troupe des Treize of Laval University.

For the first time since the festival began in 1933, an award was declined.

John Herbert, author of Fortune and Men's Eyes, presented by the Acadia Dramatic Society of Wolfville, N.S., sent a telegram Saturday night after the awards:

"I regret that I cannot accept the Massey Award," given for the best Canadian playwright at the festival.

Mr. Herbert became the talk of the festival after he was introduced to the audience Tuesday night. Dressed in a gold velvet shirt, cord slacks, sandals, and wearing shoulder-length hair and earrings, he complained he had not been invited by the DDF.

CRITICIZES MEMBERS

In interviews later he said DDF members were "socializing dillettantes" and suggested political manoeuvring influenced the awards at past festivals.

Saturday night he said in an interview in Toronto that he had been given the Massey award as a "conciliatory" gesture.

Dorothy Berrymore of Quebec City was named best actress for her role as La Comedienne in Et Coetera. Vernon Estick of London was named best supporting actor for Marat-Sade and Joy Yates of the Scarborough Players of Toronto best supporting actress for her role in All in Good Time.

Bill Oliver, 19, of Acadia University received $300 and a $100 scholarship to the Banff School of Fine Arts. He played Smitty in Fortune and Men's Eyes with his arm in a sling "from a fall I took playing Romeo."

During the week, the DDF made a move toward a non-competitive festival by suspending four top awards at next year's festival in Kelowna, B.C.

If the move seems successful, DDF organizers hope to replace the competition with a "showcase of the best plays across Canada."

Victoria's 'Tinkle' Runner-up

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Kamloops Secondary School presentation of Arms and the Man Saturday was declared winner of the British Columbia High School Drama Festival.

Fourteen plays competed and 250 actors participated in the presentations.

Second place for best production went to Victoria Secondary School for A Resounding Tinkle. This play also brought the best actor award to Ian Poole.

Third in the best production category went to Gladstone Secondary School for Inherit the Wind.

Best actress was Clara Brisman for her role in the Creston High School production of The Sandbox.

Kamloops won the best supporting roles — Keith Dinocol among the men, and Valerie Stephenson for the women.

The controversial Grand Forks presentation of Marat-Sade won awards for the best visual and best staging.

Adjudicator Martin Jenkins said if theatre is to grow in Canada, more attention must be paid to the stars of tomorrow by the professional producers and directors.

He told the young people not to admire theatre of other countries, but to "grow your own theatre."

AT McPHERSON

Conservatory Students Shine

By BERYL PROUDMAN

The Victoria Conservatory of Music Sunday presented promising and proficient students from several departments in the third of its six-concert series at McPherson Playhouse.

Diane Mahl represented advanced violin students in a beautifully controlled yet relaxed performance of Beethoven's soothing Sonata No. 2 Op. 12; and Louis Simcock closed the first half of the program with a sensitive, intelligent performance of Chopin's rarely heard Nocturne in C Minor.

Dramatic recitations by several students from the speech arts' division brought further variety.

Neil solomon injected intense feeling into his version of a Chorus to Shakespeare's Henry V, and made full use of his attractive multi-toned voice; while Keith and Kevin Grant left us wondering what happened to the Red Prince after his encounter with the woodcutter.

Several of the piano pieces played brought a note of welcome modernity to standard repertoire. Stephen Calder's lively attack made Ann Southam's "Sea Flea" most effective; and Joan Last's "The Queen's Trumpeters" was played with becoming graphic simplicity by Susan Patterson. Jane Tsai's Chopin and Carrie Humphreys' Clementi were played with taste and skill.

The most appealing ensemble was that of the Kozak brothers, John and Jeffrie. Besides playing a violin solo, "Old King Cole," John, who is nine, accompanied his eight-year-old brother Jeffrie in his violin solo, "Promenade" by Metz.

Two Hasse dances were played with true musicianship and an unusually lovely tone by Michael Langley, on Violincello.

The well-planned program proceeded with efficient dispatch and all the performances reached a commendably high standard. Accompaniments were provided by Robin Wood and Elizabeth Chinnick.

The fourth concert in the series will be presented at Christ Church Cathedral on Wednesday at 8 p.m. and will feature brass, organ and vocal performers of the conservatory.

Those taking part in Sunday's program: Piano: Carrie Humphreys, Susan Patterson, Stephen Calder, Louise Simcock, Sydney Condrashoff and Jane Tsai.

Voice: Madeleine Groos and Barbara Ebell.

Violin: Jeffrie and John Kozak, Elisabeth Stocklin, Madeline Cox, and Diane Mahl.

Speech Arts: Rhonda Williams, Neil Solomon and Keith and Kevin Grant.

Violoncello: Michael Langley.

Harry Hill Returns In 'Odd Couple' Hit

Triple assignment for gifted comedian-singer Harry Hill has brought him back to Victoria to repeat his hilarious role in Neil Simon's The Odd Couple, at McPherson Playhouse May 30, 31 and June 1.

He also will appear in the Anthony Newley musical, The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd, at McPherson June 6-15.

In addition, Mr. Hill has teamed up with British producer-actor Martin Jenkins — here to direct University of Victoria Summer Theatre— in Great Knights of the Theatre.

The two-man program of excerpts from plays and biographical sketches of famous actors, will be given as a scholarship benefit performance at the Playhouse, June 19.

A university budget cut in the area of scholarship funds available for high school students wishing to attend the Summer Theatre Workshop, inspired Robert Price, producer of all three events, to arrange the presentation of Great Knights.

Involved in production of the musical are Marge Adelberg as music director and conductor and 10 dancers from the Wayne Shaw Studio.

Victoria-born dancer-choreographer Walter Burgess, who has worked for a number of years in the professional field in Eastern Canada and the United States and been involved with major shows, is assisting in production of Roar of the Greasepaint.

Bob Ross, resident director of Vancouver's Metro Theatre, is directing the show which has Vancouver professional Owen Foran as Sir and Mr. Hill as Cocky.

University of Victoria's brilliant Wolfgang Baba is in charge of the set.

Also in the cast are Gini Lefever, Dan Christian, Dick Wood and Nancy Watt.

Dancers are Valerie Smith, Wendy Tebo, Julie Windwick, Maureen Lawson, Sandra Thody, Irene King, Lana Check and Madeline Ponich.

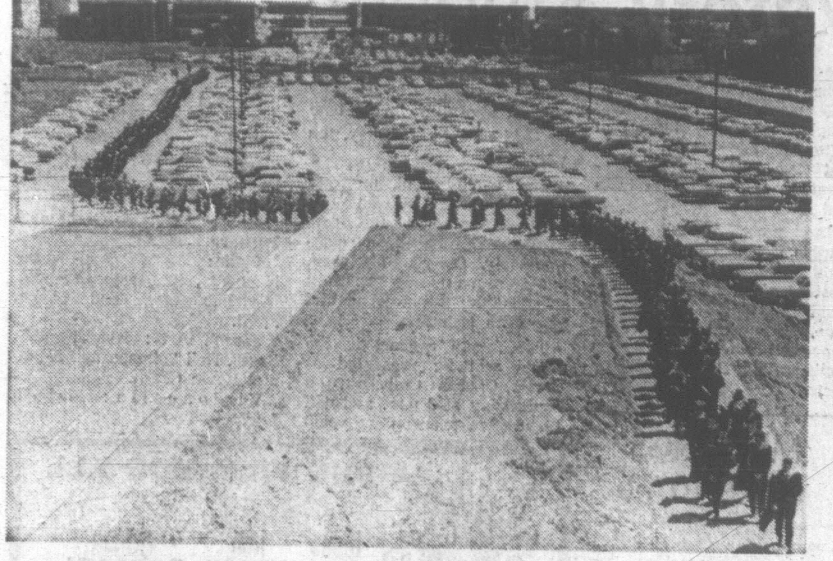
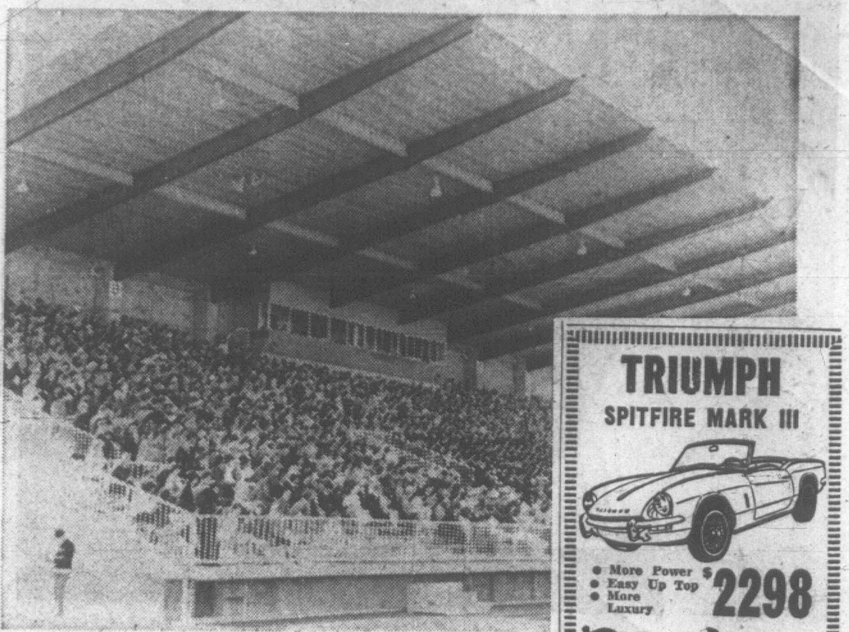
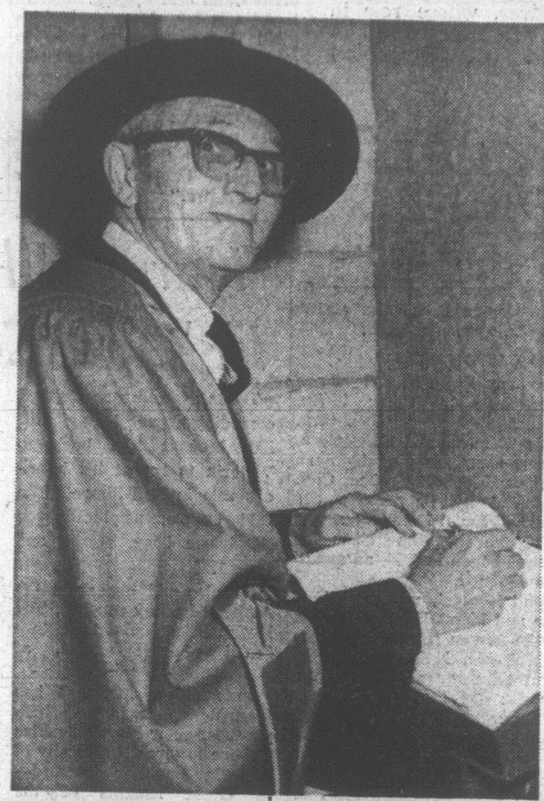
'Many Honors Attest to Their Abilities and Labors . . .'



WENDING THEIR WAY in solemn gowned procession, University of Victoria's faculty and graduating class approach Centennial Stadium for spring convocation ceremonies. Kenneth John MacDonald, top student among arts and science graduates, receives Governor-General Medal and congratulations from Chancellor R. B. Wilson. Uvic's 5th annual convocation Saturday saw record 437 awarded bachelor's degrees and the university's first class of 11 master's degrees. (Photos by Irving Strickland.)





PROUD PARENTS and friends 3,000 strong filled stadium, surrounding block of graduates and faculty. Graduates' gowns are hooded in scarlet, gold and blue, denoting faculties of arts, science and education. At left, Sun and former Times editor and author Bruce Hutchison signs register after receiving honorary doctor of laws degree. He was one of five the university honored.

WITHIN FIVE YEARS AT UVIC

$30 Million Needed to Meet Growth

By DON VIPOND
Times Education Reporter

Enrolment at the University of Victoria will double in the next five years and a minimum of $30 million for building will be needed to meet it, Uvic's retiring president said Saturday.

Dr. Malcolm Taylor told an audience of 3,000 attending the spring convocation in Centennial Stadium that they could be "truly proud" of the university's development over its first four years.

It was accomplished, he said, despite a "serious shortage of operating funds and a crippling shortage of capital funds."

Uvic's enrolment of 4,075 is already five years ahead of the Macdonald report estimate of 1963. New estimates indicate an enrolment of 10,500 in 1975.

A university's growth and quality can be measured in part by its graduating class, said Dr. Taylor, paying tribute to the 437 men and women in mortarboards and gowns on hand to receive bachelor's degrees in arts, science and education.

"In addition we award today the master's degree to our first class of master's degree students—11 in all. We are indeed proud of each of them . . . and I congratulate and welcome them to the rolls of convocation."

The university's first president said student-administration relations "achieved a new high of peaceful accord" this year, possibly due in part to the addition of three students to the senate.

• • •

He said he had favored such a move for several years and already it was clear student senators had a good deal to offer deliberations

Dr. Taylor repeated advice he gave Victorians at the university's founding day, July 1, 1963:

"A university is a human institution, and an integral part of the community that supports it, and which it serves.

"Although the greater part of what it achieves depends upon the quality and dedication of the faculty, and of the students, and on the leadership of the president and board, a great deal also depends upon the community.

"The community support must be of two kinds: financial and moral. Great and overwhelming though the need for the first indeed is, the need for the second is even greater.

"In a world increasingly intolerant and demanding increasing conformity, a university stands today, as it always has, as a bastion of freedom, a citadel of liberty, a place where men are free to bring their intellects to bear on the great wonders of the universe and the universal problem of man, without fear or favor, bias or preconception."

He said it had been a source of deep satisfaction to him and his wife "to have had a part in helping to fulfill the dreams of those who wanted Victoria College to become an outstanding university."

• • •

A political scientist and specialist in public administration, Dr. Taylor announced earlier this year he was giving up the presidency to return to teaching. He will take a sabbatical leave of a year before returning to the university faculty.

In his tribute to the president Chancellor Richard Wilson said he would be remembered particularly for the calibre of faculty member he was able to attract.

The university awarded honorary degrees to:

- Constance Blytha Pearkes, wife of the lieutenant-governor, who has "made time to serve a wide variety of causes, not as a mere figurehead but as a woman whose ability and powers of leadership have been welcomed by many organizations."
- Cyril Jonas Berkeley, veteran marine researcher, an honor "recognizing the work of all the pioneer scientists of British Columbia."
- CBC president George Davidson, "one of Canada's most distinguished public servants."
- Sun editor and author Bruce Hutchison. "Canada has produced few writers who day by day over many years can have had more influence upon the mass of her people."

• • •

- Poet, playwright and teacher Goerge Woodcock, admired for "his breadth of interest and his international standards of judgment."

In his convocation address, Mr. Davidson dwelt on the critical need for and the complexities of communication.

"One problem is that too often both parties in the communications process are too busy broadcasting their own messages to turn on their own receiving sets."

Knowledge held prisoner within a single mind achieves no social good, he said. It is only as it is communicated to others that it becomes a force for good or ill.

The principal Canadian problem of unity is rooted in lack of communication between two great language and cultural groups.

There are signs, said Mr. Davidson, that Canadians are at last facing this issue.

"Students will be the first wave of the educated shock troops who will fight the battle of our second century of survival."

AWARDED honorary degree for her leadership in aiding a wide variety of causes was Constance Blytha Pearkes, wife of B.C.'s Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes. Tribute was paid her "charming and unpretentious warmth towards others."

BOX SEAT FOR SEAWATCHING was carved by nature into these Galiano cliffs but the audience often comes by boat to study the shore. Scraping glaciers and pounding seas created the patterns in the sandstone beginning thousands of years ago when the Gulf Islands began to rear out of the deep. Cliff swallows, cormorants, turkey vultures and pigeon guillemots are just a few of the birds who use the eroded holes for ready-made nests. Besides Galiano, the delicate designs appear also on Valdes and Saturna Islands. Lyn Hancock and Hilary Stewart, in background, used rubber boat for study.

'TEDIOUS, CONFUSED, DEAD'

'Inaccurate' Museum Sculpture Harpooned by More Critics

It's a giant carving in red and yellow cedar of Nootka Indians harpooning a whale.

It's reputedly costing the provincial government $80,000 and is meant to be the eye-catching central exhibit in the new Provincial Museum opening about July 1.

The Indians may have got the whale but the artist missed, according to a growing body of critical opinion.

Lionel Thomas, the man who executed the 16-ton whaling scene, "bit off more than he could chew," says Frank Beebe, well-known B.C. artist who is painting three-dimensional displays for the museum.

He is the first artist to give his critical appraisal of the sculpture of Mr. Thomas, a professor of fine arts at the University of British Columbia.

•

He joins George Moore, a government museum adviser and museologist who has labelled the work "tedious, inaccurate, unimaginative, confused, dead, and far, far too expensive."

The artist so far has refused to answer his critics.

"In my opinion Mr. Thomas went beyond his depth when he took on this project," said Mr. Beebe.

It lacks composition, he said.

"There is no continuation of lines from the Indians in the canoe to the central figure, the harpooner," he explained.

"I'm greatly disappointed."

"Later on I will have lots to say," said Mr. Thomas. "There will be plenty of information ... very positive facts and nothing will be distorted."

•

Some of those who will be living closest to the work, if the government accepts it, aren't looking forward to it.

Don Abbott, curator of archaeology:

"Since it has come out in the open perhaps I don't have to feel as reticent as I would feel otherwise.

"I personally don't like it, largely for artistic reasons. I just think it falls flat as a work of art. It doesn't do what it was meant to do — as the eye-catching large central exhibit.

"My feeling is that ultimately we'll have to get rid of the thing to make the museum what we want it to be," said Mr. Abbott.

•

"No doubt it will prove we're stuck with it now but I really regret all this money has been spent on it.

Charles Guiget, curator of zoology:

"I think the whole thing is too placid for a man in violent contact with nature scene. It just falls flat. It doesn't do what I wanted, portray the violent action which must ensue when you stick a harpoon in a whale.

"The idea of the central piece was to express the whole idea of the museum — man in contact with nature — which is basically a violent thing.

"It's supposed to be dramatic but in my personal opinion it just doesn't make it."

•

Henry Hunt, chief carver at Thunderbird Park, said the Indians are too large for the size of the canoe.

"In real life they would fall out of the canoe if they were that big."

But Tony Hunt, his assistant, said the artist probably mean it to be that way.

FRANK BEEBE
... 'beyond his depth'

"An artist is allowed certain license. But that's a lot of money to pay for that amount of carving."

•

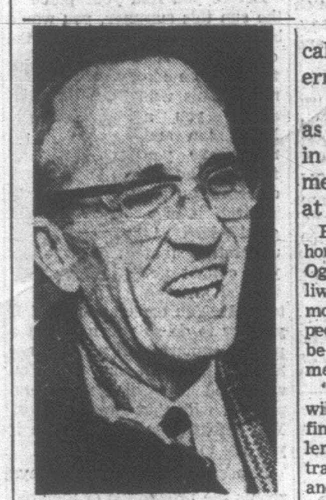
Mr. Hunt said he and his father have built an Indian house to be installed in the museum.

"Compared to this project it cost little," he said of their work. "And there was lots of work and carvings involved in its construction."

Mr. Moore, who launched the cricitism, emphasized again today that his was not a personal attack on the artist whom he does not know.

"It isn't good enough — that's my prime point. It's a question of quality."

'Work Together Or Fall Alone'



NATIONAL LEADER of the New Democratic Party, T. C. Douglas, will speak in Victoria Sunday, June 23. His speech will come just two days before the country votes in the federal election. Details of his visit here were to be publicly released by party officials later today.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today called for "complete re-structuring" of municipal government to meet the challenge of the future.

"This will not be easy because, in my four years as minister, I have found people do not react to change in any positive way," Mr. Campbell told the 17th annual meet of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce at the Empress Hotel.

By 1985, he said, there will be houses from Malahat Drive to Ogden Point and from Chilliwack to Burrard Inlet. And more than 80 per cent of the people of British Columbia will be living in an urban environment.

"To meet this challenge, there will have to be regional financing to meet such problems as pollution control, urban transit control, garbage disposal and the effective use of land in terms of housing.

"These problems cannot be solved on the basis of one municipality looking at its own particular neighborhood and hoping for the best.

"Those who stand in the way of political and functional amalgamation will simply go down the drain."

65 COMMUNITIES

Mr. Campbell was addressing 265 delegates representing 65 communities throughout the province.

Mayor A. H. Emmott of Burnaby supported Mr. Campbell's stand by saying:

"I simply cannot understand the reluctance of some municipalities towards regional financing.

"If we are going to carry out effective pollution control, we must think in terms of one economic area, and the more favored municipalities must get rid of the "I'm all right, Jack, attitude'."

Mr. Campbell said too many municipalities are adept at defining problems without defining solutions.

"In British Columbia, it is extremely difficult sometimes to get neighboring municipalities to do anything more than simply define problems as regards pollution, transit control and housing.

DUPLICATION

"Capital resources in some instances have been very badly applied in terms of duplication and over-expenditure."

As an example, Mr. Campbell said there are 11 fire departments within a 14-mile radius of Victoria city.

"This means there are 11 or more fire trucks and 11 or more complex sets of equipment to fight fires in one area. It is a physical misapplication of capital resources.

"And, when you consider it alongside what might have been, you find that in one particular area, fire costs range from one mill of taxation to 6 and 7 mills.

"All is not well with the way we have structured our municipal government, and in the next 20 years, we shall have to restructure completely our approach to urban government in B.C.

Mr. Campbell said there are growing indications the public is becoming very concerned over problems which have been well defined for them.

"And they have a right to demand efficiency from local administrators."

BUT UNION CRITICAL

Company in Clear In Sawdust Death

No action will be taken by the Workmen's Compensation Board of British Columbia against B.C. Forest Products in Victoria in the case of a work fatality last January, it was announced today.

A brief statement by the board, which conducted its own investigation after a man was buried in a sawdust truck said:

"After a careful investigation of the circumstances surrounding the fatal injuries to Arthur J. Cathers, which occurred Jan. 29 ,the board feels that punitive action is not warranted."

The decision was immediately criticized by Murray Drew, president of the Victoria local of the International Woodworkers of America, which represents mill workers.

"Cathers would be alive today if the WCB inspectors were doing their job properly," he said.

"The inspector had been in several times and gave the company a clean bill of health. It is small wonder they don't want to prosecute."

He accused the board of being "in bed" with some of the large forest companies.

"If this was one of the smaller companies they would have been charged with neglect long ago by the WCB," he said.

A board spokesman replied that the size of an employer doesn't enter the matter of prosecution for failure to comply with accident prevention regulations.

He pointed to the recent case where the board successfully prosecuted "a large employer in Victoria" for failure to comply with accident prevention regulations.

The employer was Yarrows Limited, in a case involving the death of a shipyard worker in a barge fire.

CHOICE OF ACTION

The board has power to launch a prosecution in the courts, levy a penalty under the Workmen's Compensation Act or take no action.

Cathers was found dead in a sawdust truck at Crofton early Jan. 30 after the truck took on a load of sawdust late Jan. 29 at the Point Ellice sawmill of B.C. Forest Products in Victoria.

The 52-year-old cleanup man was working at the time. One of his duties was to help load the sawdust truck.

A coroner's jury ruled the company negligent in the application of safety regulations. Factors in the man's death included unsafe working conditions, laxity of WCB regulations and operation of company machinery by other than qualified personnel.

A company official testified that a safety line was installed at the sawdust bunker shortly after Cather's death and the company policy had been changed to prohibit non-employees from operating machinery.

Lawyer, Ex-MLA Dies Here

Elmer V. (Mike) Finland, a native son of Victoria well-known as a lawyer and former MLA, died early this morning in Veteran's Hospital.

He was first elected to the legislature in 1937, as Conservative member for Esquimalt. He was re-elected in 1941 as a Conservative member of the coalition government.

During his time in the House he served as deputy speaker and party whip.

A member of the Royal Flying Corps in the First World War, he served with the RCAF during the Second World War.

Mr. Finland was educated at Boys' Central and Victoria High, and attended university at McGill and Stanford.

CLUBMAN

He was president of the Victoria Gyro Club in 1924 and district governor of the fraternal organization in 1925.

He was also a member of Camosun Lodge No. 60 A.F. and A.M., B.C.R.; of the Victoria Lodge of Perfection, Rose Croix; and the B.C. Consistery, A. and A.S.R.

He is survived by his wife Gladys, at 948 Old Esquimalt Rd., two daughters, Mrs. L. J. M. (Daphne) Lalondé of Aylmer, Que., and Mrs. G. D. (Dianne) Loomis of Montreal. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Edna Hansen of Seattle and Mrs. Sadie O'Keffe of San Anselmo, Calif., a brother, Harold G. Finland of Edmonton, and 10 grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held Thursday at McCall Brothers Chapel, followed by cremation.

Ask The Times

Q. How can I find out about a death in the province of Alberta? M.C.

A. Registrations of births, deaths and marriages in the province are handled by the office of the Director of Vital Statistics. Write to J. Colville, Director of Vital Statistics, Alberta Jasper Building, 9815 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

EDITOR'S FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Funeral services will be held in McCall Brothers' Chapel Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. for Les Fox, who died early Saturday while attending a managing editor's conference at Jasper.

Mr. Fox, 60, was managing editor of the Victoria Daily Times for 17 years. He joined the paper as a cub reporter in 1926.

Rev. John Vickers of St. Philip's will officiate at the service.

Historic Movie Tonight

An historic Canadian film will be screened at the Victoria Amateur Movie Club tonight, and the film's 90-year-old producer will be in the audience.

The 55-minute drama, A Race for Ties, is the first full-length, amateur fiction movie made in Canada. It was produced by Miss Dorothea Mitchell, 1334 Harrison Street, who also wrote the script and directed the film.

The movie, filmed in Port Arthur, Ont., in 1929, is based on an incident which rocked the lumbering community.

The film, which contains hundreds of splices hand-made by Miss Mitchell, is destined for a place in the Public Archives in Ottawa.

Tonight's showing start at 8 o'clock at 1528 Cook Street.

SHE ATE IT BUT HE HAD TO PAY

"It appears he had the misfortune to pick up a woman with a large appetite," commented Magistrate Ostler today when he fined a man $25 for obtaining food by fraud.

Carlos Chaves, 35, of 2316 Blanshard, pleaded guilty.

Court was told Chaves took a woman to a Chinese restaurant for tea but she insisted on ordering a $6 meal.

Police were called when Chaves was unable to pay the bill. Magistrate Ostler also ordered the accused to pay the restaurant and placed him on a six-month good behavior bond.

First World War Vets Propose Good Deed Before 'Embarkation'

Faced with extinction, a group of First World War veterans decided here Saturday to donate what remains of their association funds to a local charity.

Forty-five members of the 15th Brigade of the Canadian Field Artillery Association were in Victoria for the biennial reunion. Close to 800 made up the brigade in the war.

Members are all over 70 and some are in their 90s, and there soon won't be any of them left, said association president Archie Wills.

Mr. Wills said this is the first time a veterans' association has come face to face with the fact of extinction and planned for the event.

The membership has not decided which charity will receive the funds.

There was also some talk of offering the music of their song O Petawawa to Uvic to make it a campus song, Mr. Wills said.

Former MLA Back in Race

Frank Snowsell, former Saanich MLA and school principal, has been nominated by the NDP to contest the Coast-Capilano seat in the federal election.

The seat is held by minister without portfolio Jack Davis.

Mr. Snowsell, who teaches in North Vancouver, was elected B.C. president of the NDP in 1965. He last ran in the provincial riding of Fort George, but was defeated by Lands Minister Ray Williston.

DONE IN A DAY and now resplendent in its new coat and trimmings the Causeway lacks only white lines to welcome a new tourist season. Widened to six lanes, sidewalks set back and with a new sewer trunk line tucked discreetly beneath its surface, the popular spot was closed to all traffic Sunday while crews worked dawn to dusk. New traffic islands at both ends of the section are designed to ease peak-hour traffic flows. Lovers of peace and quiet should treasure this photograph. A few weeks from now the deserted Causeway will be jammed with jostling, camera-swinging tourists and the barks of the summer hucksters selling guided tours of the city. (Irving Strickland photo.)

DEAR ABBY . . .

Neighbor Yoo-Hoos, Peek-a-Boos, Mister

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about people who just walk into your house because the door isn't locked? Many times I will tell my grocer to set my groceries inside my door instead of on the back porch, and I leave the door unlocked for him.

Well, this neighbor lady tried my back door, and, finding it unlocked, she walked right in. She yoo-hooed and nobody answered because my husband was in the shower. He thought he heard someone come in, and, thinking it was me, he walked out. She heard the shower running, and, thinking it was me, she walked in. They met in the hall.

Now my husband can't face her and wants to move. We have lived in this house for 36 years and I think he's silly. What do you suggest?

EMBARRASSED.

DEAR EMBARRASSED: A towel and another "yoo-hoo" at the right place and the right time would have saved the day. Stay where you are; and tell your blushing hubby he's not as fascinating as he may think.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound like a silly problem to you but it is serious to me. My bones creak. Honestly, when I'm sitting in one place for a while and then start walking, my knee cracks. It doesn't hurt, but it is very embarrassing.

When I eat, sometimes my jaw snaps. If you are laughing at me I can't blame you, Abby, but I sure wish you would tell me if there is anything I can do about my problem.

"CRACKY."

DEAR CRACKY: Grin and bear it. The "problem" is grossly exaggerated only because it's your own. How much attention would you give to the "cracking" of someone else's knee? Or the snapping of his jaw? Not much, I'll bet.

DEAR ABBY: I have pre-school children and a large home to care for, but I schedule my time so that everything gets done. When the children nap, I read, write letters, and relax alone, which I enjoy.

At that precise time, invariably a certain neighbor barges in on me with her children. She helps herself to refreshments, then settles down for an endless outpouring of gossip, unasked-for advice and a monologue of opinions on various subjects. She is a terrible bore.

I would pretend not to be home, but she can see my car in the garage. At first, I found her entertaining, but now she comes so often, I've taken a dislike to her. Please tell me what to do but don't use my name or location. She has a vicious tongue and would make a better friend than an enemy.

TRAPPED.

DEAR TRAPPED: People who open their doors to bores and tolerate their company day after day have only themselves to blame. By your failure to discourage her, you've encouraged her. If you had to decide between having this rude, vicious, gossipy pest for a friend or an enemy, I think you made an unwise choice.

DEAR ABBY: At every marriage ceremony I have ever attended, the preacher says, "I now pronounce you man and wife." Now if you stop and analyse it for a moment, it's all wrong. A preacher has the authority to pronounce a couple husband and wife, so why does he say "man" instead of "husband"? A man is a man, and a husband is a husband, and no one has the authority to pronounce a male a "man."

It would make just as much sense for the preacher to say, "I now pronounce you man and woman."

The point I wish to make, Abby, is this: Just because something has been said for a hundred years, doesn't necessarily make it right.

BAFFLED BY TRADITION.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Useful Pots for Jam Double for Flowers

By PENNY SAVER

Friends of Mathilda have just begun to build a house on a lovely piece of property just outside the city. The lot is set in the trees and they are being as careful as can be not to damage any during construction. It was with a certain sadness that they sacrificed the wild flowers that flourished in the grass, but they did their best to save them by lifting all those with bulb roots in the hopes they will transplant once the new garden is ready. Many were blooming just before the bulldozers arrived. So they carefully gathered them all and presented a generous bouquet to my aunt.

Since she had no vases the right size, Mathilda put them in a small glass for safe-keeping and we made a quick shopping trip. "I want something nice that I can use later," she declared and her choice took me completely by surprise. Mathilda chose a pair of jam pots — just the right depth for her wild flowers — on a stainless chrome stand! "I can wash them out later and use them on the table everyday," she pointed out.

The set is lovely. The stand is very plain with just two rings to hold the pots steady and a centre upright with a ring carrying handle. The plain lids for the pots are of stainless chrome as are the jam spoons. The two pots are of clear glass frosted over with sterling silver that has been treated so it will not tarnish. This elegant set is $8.95.

Made in the Shape of Berries

Mathilda's choice had reminded me that our jam pot had a cracked lid so I went searching for a new one. Jam pots begin at $1.50 for lidded ceramic pots in the shape of strawberries or oranges. These come with tiny white plastic spoons. For $2.98 there are glass jam pots with a matching saucer in pink, blue, amber or smoke colored glass. These are finished with a baubled trim. The lids have a slot for a spoon but no spoon comes with the set. I was charmed by a $3.50 set of two ceramic pots in a rattan basket. One is in the shape of a green apple and the other represents a strawberry. Both are lidded, with a small plastic spoon.

If a lidded jam pot is not to your taste, there are jam dishes for $3.50. These fluted glasses are of frosted glass marked with a slight pattern. They come in pink or clear frost. The dish sits in a stainless chrome stand with a handle entwined with tiny leaves. A generous fluted spoon made of stainless chrome comes with the set. This sophisticated jam dish makes a lovely addition to the dinner table when filled with cranberry or currant jam and makes a wonderful dish for small candies. The stainless chrome makes it easy to keep shining.

Would you like to know where these jam pots and dishes are found? Please call me at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Learn Proper Method To Obtain a Good Tan

Lowman

Before you find your place in the sun this summer, you would be wise to give thought to the correct sun tanning technique. This will assure you a lovely tan and may save you from a lot of discomfort.

First, it is a good idea to understand that you cannot get a good sun tan too fast. You cannot hurry it! If you try to do so you may get a painful sunburn and you will not have a beautiful sun tan. You will end up blistering and peeling, with that speckled look. You defeat your own purpose if you try to rush it.

Exposure to the sun's rays zooms the production of melanin (the skin's coloring pigment). This moves to the outer layer of your skin and you have started on your way to a tan. However you must wait until the skin has thickened and enough melanin has been produced to protect you or you will just burn.

How long can you remain in the sun's rays at one time without burning? How long will it take you to get a good sun tan? This depends on many factors. Among them are the atmospheric conditions, the time of year, the time of day and the kind of complexion you have.

People with a very fair skin, blondes, redheads and those who freckle or have blue eyes, can stand less sun than those who have an olive skin, brown eyes and dark hair. Those with a dark skin can get a sunburn, too, but it is much less likely.

Remember that the sun's rays are stronger in the summer than in spring or fall. Also, the time of day makes a difference. If you have to take special precautions because of your coloring, or if you are just beginning to suntan, it is best to expose yourself to the sun earlier in the morning or later in the afternoon, not during the midday hours.

Many folks are fooled by a hazy day or a partially cloudy sky. You can get a very bad burn at such times because of glare. Remember too, that water can reflect from 10 per cent to 100 per cent of the sun's burning rays, depending on the angle of the sun. Take great care when on the water.

The average person should spend no more than 15 minutes in the midday summer sun the first day. Increase the time by 10 minutes the next day and gradually increase until you have the tan you long for. Do not remain in the sun until you become pink. It takes redness from 10 to 24 hours to reach its peak, after you leave the sun.

Josephine Lowman has a very helpful leaflet, "Learn to Swim," which tells the steps to learning how to swim and also gives instructions for several of the swimming strokes. To obtain this leaflet, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

KNIT AND CHAT

By MAE MAC LEAN

Try Knitting Those Tensions Away

Mac Lean

Many of you know the joy and satisfaction of knitting and creating with your own hands. The rhythmical movements of the hands has a therapeutic value; tensions of the day seem to slip away, providing a pleasant and relaxing pastime whilst listening to the radio, riding in a car, train or bus; and even while watching television if working ribbing or stocking stitch.

There are many who say they simply haven't the time. This is usually while they are admiring the hand-knit suit, dress or coat that I am wearing, for I have a complete hand-knit wardrobe. No one can lead a busier life than I, yet I find time to knit or crochet, sometimes at brief odd moments.

I never travel without something to do with my hands, and what a blessing it is when trains and planes are not on time, or grounded due to weather. I watch my fellow passengers become more and more frustrated, pacing the floor and watching the clock, while I sit back, relax and knit with the satisfaction that the time is being put to good use, and not completely lost and wasted.

PLAN CAREFULLY

Plan your knitting projects carefully. If you are lucky enough to spend the entire summer at the cottage, I can offer many suggestions. How about knitting an afghan in squares or strips? These are relatively simple to do—or a knitted suit in tweed or boucle yarn for wear in the fall? And of course there are always caps, scarves and mitts that children never seem to have enough of during the cold winter months.

I know of a lady, who during the summer, plans her entire Christmas gift giving. Being retired and of modest means, her gifts are small, but well thought out. Hand-knit mitts for the small fry — knitted turtle-neck dickies for teen-agers which are now all the rage — long fancy colored toques with a gay pom-pom on the end — slippers and doll clothes. And if you are lucky enough to receive one of her hand-knit sweaters, you feel richly endowed indeed!

Work only on the pattern stitches while you are alone and quiet, until you have the sequence of the stitches and rows firmly in your mind. Then you will not have to concentrate and perhaps make a mistake should someone talk or the phone ring. If you expect interruptions or the small fry underfoot, work only on the ribbing or simple stocking stitch.

SEVERAL PIECES

Have several parts of the sweater or suit on the needles. Reserve the increasing and decreasing sections for when you have a little more time to spend. Planned this way, you will be pleasantly surprised on how much you can accomplish.

Each week I plan on offering a pattern in either knitting or crochet selected for ease and simplicity in making and for stylish good looks.

Have you been promising to knit yourself a special sweater? Have you been looking for a really outstanding design, like this one? Made from a machine-washable yarn in three colors, it truly stands out in a class by its own. The long hip-hugging style with the raglan armholes and turtle-neck, together with the colorful design — tres chic for after-ski or casual wear.

Directions are given for small size 10-12 or 32-34 bust; medium size 14-16 or 36-38 bust; large size 18-20 or 40-42 bust. It isn't often we get such attractive patterns in the larger sizes!

To order Leaflet No. 6739, send 35c in coin or money order, together with a long self-addressed stamped (5c) envelope to: May E. Mac Lean, "Knit and Chat," care of The Victoria Daily Times. Please be sure to state the pattern number when ordering.

A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT

By Pat Dufour

A chance phone call this week introduced me to one of the most unusual women's auxiliaries in town. Formed this March, the Full Gospel Women's Auxiliary hasn't the slightest interest in raising money . . . its motivation is based on restoring faith.

Its first two monthly luncheon meetings have seen more than 50 women attending. One of these women, moved by the help she has received at the gatherings, was the one who set me on the path that led to the group's organizer, Mrs. William Scott, of 355 Gorge Road West.

When we talked, I could see why Mrs. Scott has had no trouble getting members. Her enthusiasm is infectious. Her determination is obvious when she tells you that she formed the group and still managed to find time to look after her husband and their five children, help her husband with his piano tuning business and also do her stint in operating the small family marina that they have on the Gorge.

Makes Religion an Everyday Affair

In these materialistic days, Mrs. Scott is an encouraging reminder that Christianity is more than a matter of attending church twice a year and faithfully filling church subscription envelopes.

Mrs. Scott and her husband met when they were both attending Central Bible College in Springfield, Ill. Marion Scott was studying Christian education and her husband, theology. Both have managed to apply the principles and beliefs they cherished in those days to the laymen roles of housewife and piano tuner.

Indeed, it was her husband who inspired Mrs. Scott to start the new group. He formed and was the first president of the city's Full Gospel Business Men International. It was when she attended one of the group's conferences that Mrs. Scott decided that women were every bit as much in need of the spiritual help to be gained from such a group.

As Mrs. Scott explains, "Our group is non-denominational and it works very much like a two-way street. By meeting together we're all able to learn from each other." She reports that every Christian religious denomination has been represented at the first two meetings.

"In two meetings alone there has been fostered a wonderful feeling of understanding. Some women who have drifted away have been moved to attend their own churches more regularly."

The first two speakers have both been from the mainland. At the March meeting, the speaker was Mrs. Dennis Bennett, wife of an Anglican minister in Vancouver.

Speaking at the second meeting was Miss Bernice Gerard, chaplain at the Universities of British Columbia and Simon Fraser, and moderator of a Vancouver open-line radio program on Sundays.

Speaker Will Be Here From Houston

Gertrude Ticer will come from the Texas city of Houston to speak at the next luncheon meeting to be held in the Strathcona Hotel tomorrow at noon.

Mrs. Scott is convinced that the speaker will be able to convince her audience of the power of prayer by her testimonial.

In 1962 Gertrude Ticer lay in hospital dying of multiple sclerosis, both lame and blind. The doctors had convinced themselves and everyone but her that the case was hopeless.

Undaunted, Gertrude Ticer had her shoes placed by her bed and her Bible near her hand, and prayed that she'd be spared to use both. She did.

With the same implicit faith, Mrs. Scott is convinced that the group she's formed will help restore spiritual health to the community in which she and her family have lived for nearly three years. She's asked that women who are interested phone her at 384-4623 or the group's secretary, Mrs. Jack McNeill at 382-2208.

Judging by the reaction of the woman who first introduced me to Marion Scott, her group is well on its way to achieving its goal.

RAISING FUNDS FOR NEW AMBULANCE

Members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade in Victoria will hold their annual bazaar this coming Saturday from 2 to 4:30 p.m., at St. John headquarters, 941 Pandora Avenue. Proceeds are earmarked for a donation toward a new ambulance and summer camp expenses of cadets. Seen discussing the event are, left to right, senior lady Diane Wilson, Mrs. E. Thomas and cadet Mary Manthorpe. Tea will be served and stalls will feature home cooking, attic treasures, novelties and candy.

Council of Family Health Gives Explanations of Home Accidents

Four little girls in different provinces fell from upstairs windows in their homes. A small boy fell from a third floor bedroom window.

Why? Because there were no screens or guards at the windows and because adults failed to observe the primary window safety rule when there are little children in the home — open windows from the top only, if possible.

A review by the Council on Family Health in Canada of reports on home accidents, some of them fatal, shows that the "why" may be rooted in human carelessness, neglect or even defiance of common safety precautions.

A four-month-old boy fell from a highchair. Two youngsters were injured in falls from dining chairs. A two-year-old girl fell from a kitchen table, and an eleven-month-old boy fell from a living room couch.

Why? Because the child in the highchair was not strapped in properly. The other children were at dangerous heights without adult supervision.

A two-year-old girl drank a glass of water mixed with fertilizer. An eighteen-month-old boy ingested turpentine. A sixteen-month-old girl sipped hair lotion. A two-year-old boy swallowed liquid detergent.

Why? Because the containers had been left on a kitchen table, on a kitchen counter, in cabinets under the sink, all within easy reach of little hands.

A two-year-old girl sampled a bottle of pills while visiting her grandparents. A three-year-old boy drank a bottle of medicine in his parents' bedroom. Two small girls ate medicine samples. A three-year-old boy sipped from a container of medicine.

Why? Because the pills were on an easy-to-get-to bedroom dresser in grandpa's home. The medicine bottle was on a bedroom window sill. The two girls found medicine in their mother's purse on the bed — and the container of medicine was on a low shelf in a linen closet.

The Council on Family Health in Canada, a non-profit organization established as a public service by members of the drug industry to promote home safety and family health, points out that in the hands of little children, medicines are potentially harmful. Always keep medicines out of reach of small children.

A three-year-old boy drank from a nearly empty bottle of household chemical. Another small boy found a nearly empty container of insecticide.

Why? Because the containers, still with a little of their potentially dangerous contents, were discarded in trash baskets which the children could — and did — reach into.

A mother arose at dawn to give a child cough medicine and picked the wrong medication. A man went to the bathroom for a familiar medicine and took what he thought was the proper container. Later, he found he had swallowed medicine intended for external use only.

Why? Because neither adult took the time to read the medicine label.

An elderly women was burned while cooking a meal. An elderly man tripped on the cellar stairs.

Why? Because they were wearing the wrong kind of clothes. The woman had a long-sleeved, voluminous robe of fuzzy material. The man was wearing frayed and loose-fitting house slippers.

It would seem from reports of the accident reviewed by the Council on Family Health in Canada that knowing the "why" is as important as knowing the "how."

Danish Prince Born on Sunday

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Danes Sunday celebrated the birth of a prince to Europe's oldest royal family. Doctors delivered the son of Crown Princess Margrethe by caesarian section Sunday at Copenhagen's Rigs Hospital.

The father, Prince Henrik, said the 28-year-old heiress to the Danish throne and her baby were doing well.

The baby, who weighed in at a husky nine pounds five ounces, is the direct descendant of "Gorm the Old," the first king of Denmark, who ruled in the late 10th century. The kings succeeded Viking chieftains.

Prince Henrik and the princess' parents King Frederik and Queen Ingrid, were at the hospital when the baby was born 10 minutes before midnight. Princess Margrethe and her husband were married last June 10. She met him three years ago when he, a French count, was serving as third secretary at the French embassy in London.

The baby is second in line for the Danish throne after his mother. By tradition he should bear the name of "Christian." The names of Danish kings alternate between Christian and Frederik.

The Danish royal family is known as the House of Glucksburg and is related to most of the families of European royalty. King Frederik is a cousin of King Olav of Norway and a second cousin of Prince Philip of Britain.

A couple of hours before the birth Princess Margrethe was visited at Amalienborg Palace by her youngest sister, Queen Anne Marie of Greece. The queen and her husband fled Greece last December.

The new prince is expected to be christened late in June. He will be baptized in the evangelical Lutheran faith.

Coffee Party

Mrs. C. D. Finlay was hostess at a coffee party recently in the lounge of the Beacon Lodge, at which Liberal candidate Mr. David Groos was a special guest. Co-hostess was Mrs. Fred Massie.

DAVID GROOS

Liberal Candidate Urges More Emphasis on Harbors

Establishment of a faculty of harbor development at a Canadian university was urged by Liberal candidate David Groos in an address to the Lady Laurier Club.

He pointed out that there is great need for more well-planned harbor facilities, but at the moment the Dutch have almost a world monopoly on the modern techniques or harbor development.

Mr. Groos feels that advantages to Canada in such a program would be two-fold.

"If we were to establish the faculty and invite senior civil servants, government officials and engineers from abroad, particularly from Latin American countries which would benefit particularly through reduction in transportation costs, we could show what our country has to offer in this field, and also in the development of interior communications which would result.

"Subsequently, we could help them with planning and eventually allocate some of our external aid funds to the projects, which they would be developing and constructing themselves."

Mr. Groos pointed out that Canada would also benefit through manufacture of equipment needed for modern harbor development, such as dredges, piledrivers, cranes, tugboats, floating docks, drydocks, electronic navigational aids — "a host of things we build very well in this country."

Orders for equipment of this sort, he suggested, would provide work in areas which are suffering from the present problems of the shipbuilding and steel industries.

INCREASE RISK

HAMILTON (CP) — Women who have used birth control pills may run a greater risk of miscarriage during a pregnancy than those who have never been on the pills, a McMaster University study indicates.

However, pill users may be less liable to give birth to a mongoloid baby.

"If this is the case it appears to be a fair trade," says Dr. David H. Carr, associate professor of anatomy.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

Nineteen sixty-eight isn't only an election year, it's undisputedly a fashion election year, as well . . . a year when we, the women of Canada, can vote for the look we prefer in fashion.

Candidates are plentiful:

You adore ruffles? Hurrah! Trim tailoring? Hurrah! Short skirts? High heels? Low heels? Psychedelic prints? Subtle pastels? Cheer them all, because they're all on the ballot!

But just as in an election you cast one vote only, in fashion don't elect to wear more than one look at a time. If you do, you may very well end up being in costume instead of in fashion. This six-point platform can help you spell out the wear-with all's:

Avoid the "Mix fix." — If you like the pretty girl look, don't spoil it by putting a ruffly shirt with a lean, slickly tailored pin-stripe suit. Instead, carry out your total "prettified" image by wearing that feminine-looking shirt with a relaxed dirndl, "Mary Jane" shoes, and the right curly hairdo — did someone say adorable?

But Don't Try Too Hard: — Caution — beware of overworking any one look. Say our sugar and spice girl in the pretty shirt and skirt opts for flowered white stockings plus heavy handed use of blusher and jingle-jangle jewelry, she'll unfortunately destroy the "everything nice" look she originally achieved.

When In Doubt, Go Without: —It's unquestionably bewildering to find your fashion among the profusion of tempting offerings in the magazines and stores. You'll never regret the time spent in looking-and-trying-on sessions. Not certain those trumpet pleats have the right "sound" for your hips? Then, don't buy. The same holds true of makeup and hairstyling, of course. Unless the mirror gives you an unequivocal green light go-ahead — don't! Here, she who hesitates is found!

Re-adapt What You're Stuck With: — You own several of the mini-est cotton shifts from last summer? It's not necessary to mark them obsolete and bundle them off to the nearest charity. Instead, transform them into tunics to wear over pants or consider them teeny-weeny beach dresses — a great look over swim suits.

Consider Your Life and Your Looks: — Use the right clothes as a passport to the right places. If an upbeat record party is in the offing, unfortunately that flowery organdy would wilt within an hour. Save the fluff for a summer wedding or a tranquil evening and choose a crush-proof "activated" cotton for the hop.

Your personal appearance is another yardstick. For example, a fragile 5'2" female should never try to wear overpowering clash-colored separates which may very well look so dashing on her 5'8" best friend.

This is the surefire formula: The look of the moment plus your best look plus your kind of life equals a foolproof combination!

JUST FOR YOU: Use your conscience as a guide to which skirt length is right for any given occasion.

TORONTO (CP) — Dagmar Kopecky says she is the happiest woman in the world. Her husband has just installed a 4,000-pipe organ in a corcert hall in their midtown Toronto home.

Mrs. Kopecky toured Europe as a concert organist before coming to Canada and has made several recordings. Last summer, she played at the international organ festival at Expo 67.

The organ, with 32 stops and three manuals, is larger than many church organs in the city.

Two technicians from the Krnov, Czechoslovakia, firm which built the organ spent three months installing it.

Powered Glider Crashes In Sight of Final Stop

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (UPI) — Mira Slovak, the "Flying Czech" who piloted his Volkswagen-powered glider 8,000 miles across the Atlantic and the United States, crashed Sunday within sight of his destination.

Slovak, 38, today was reported in serious condition but improving at Santa Paula Memorial Hospital. Dr. Ernest Carlson said the daredevil pilot suffered four fractured vertebrae, broken ribs, concussion and internal injuries.

Slovak, who defected at the controls of a Communist Czech airliner in 1955, purchased the sailplane with a 39-horsepower engine in Bonn. He left Germany May 15 and flew to Scotland, Iceland, Greenland and across the United States.

He was pulled from the wreckage dazed but still conscious.

Witnesses said Slovak was preparing to land the red and white plane, dubbed the "Spirit of Santa Paula," when the plane went into a sharp turn and crashed in a drainage ditch at the west end of the runway.

Officials said it was possible the light plane was caught by a gust of wind and a wingtip may have struck the ground. The aircraft was destroyed.

Thirteen years ago, Slovak commandeered the Czech airliner he was piloting and flew to freedom in Frankfurt, Germany. He was on leave from his job at Continental Airlines to make the trip here from Germany.

Protocol Fades Out As LBJ, Gorton Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson pushed protocol aside in welcoming visiting Prime Minister John Gorton of Australia for talks believed sure to centre on Vietnam, the Paris peace talks and future U.S. policy in Asia.

The prime minister's plane had scarcely touched down Sunday night at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., before Johnson invited Gorton and his wife to an informal Potomac River cruise aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia.

The formal schedule called for the president and Mrs. Johnson to greet Gorton and his wife, Bettina, with a red-carpet ceremony and a 19-gun salute at the White House today.

The ceremony was still on tap but Johnson didn't wait for protocol to talk over the future with the head of a strongly allied government. Although Johnson has met with more than 60 heads of governments during his presidency, he never before had made such an informal gesture of friendship.

9 IN MEMORIAM

PARKS—In loving memory of Carman W. Parks, who passed away May 28, 1965.

Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days.
Sincere and true in his heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

—Ever remembered by his wife Ethel, son Garth and family, and sister Myrtle.

Jim: "Let's see if I can spot it. Looking at all the cards I can see how South might have made the hand by a swindle play. He would draw trumps, cash the diamonds and proceed to lead ace and a small club. If East failed to drop his jack of clubs under the ace or if West failed to rise with the queen in order to catch East's jack with what is sometimes called the "crocodile coup," East would be end played and South would bring home his impossible slam."

Oswald: "No, South played ace-king and a small club so that the swindle failed to materialize. The point I want to stress is South's misbidding."

Jim: "You mean that South hung his partner for giving a positive response to the opening two bid?"

Oswald: "Exactly! And there was no way to convince South that he hadn't bid his hand perfectly. South pointed out that if his partner had responded two notrump and bid four spades next, South would have passed. But he said that North should have had more than one king for his positive response."

Jim: "Don't suppose you were able to convince South that he had misbid the hand?"

Oswald: "No chance. I was appealed to and tried to explain to South that he had made a proper, but minimum, forcing two bid and had followed with a slam try and that when North had refused to accept the slam try, South should have been through bidding."

Jim: "Don't suppose South will ever be convinced. I can just see him pointing out that he had a two bid, his partner had made a positive response and the slam had to be bid."

BOSUN'S C-FAX WEST COAST SAILING CRUISES

IT'S NEW! IT'S DIFFERENT!

Experienced West Coasters take you on a two-week sailing cruise to famous beauty spots in the fabulous Gulf Islands.
Now, YOU can enjoy cruising, salmon fishing, water skiing, fun racing, beach barbecues, skin diving, swimming, beach combing in a friendly, informal atmosphere with fellow yachtsmen. AND brush up on techniques of sailing, cruising and fishing. Accompanying power boats provide extra security, services, and fun. We supply all equipment.

How YOU can enjoy the FUN!

(1) SKIPPER your "OWN" sailing yacht (20 ft. to 48 ft.) chosen from Bosun's large fleet of fully equipped boats. (As low as $175.00 per person includes charter boat and all cruise facilities for two weeks.)

(2) BRING YOUR own sailing boat. (A nominal charge covers the extra facilities provided by West Coast Cruises.)

BEGINNING SAILORS

Ask about our special precruise orientation sailing plan for your whole family on board the charter boat of your choice. Brush up your sailing skills the FUN way, with the experts. Dial CFAX — 1070 for further details.
Drop in and Book Now at Bosun's Locker (see Steve). Phone 477-6334 for information.

Special BOSUN'S — CFAX Victoria Cruise June 29 — July 13. Three others available. ANOTHER FIRST in the WIDE WORLD OF SAILING FUN from Bosun's - CFAX 1070.

1968 DATSUN SEDAN

The "more-for-your money car." If somebody ever tells you he drives an economy import with 96 h.p. engine that goes 100 m.p.h. has a safer, impact absorbing body, the safest suspension money can buy, a wrap-around air-flow system that keeps windows clear, that it looks great, handles like a dream and that he bought it from us for only $2,025, believe him. The new DATSUN sedan, the "more for your money car" from $1,895 at

YOU WILL LOVE ME!

I am a pretty nice guy and only 3 years old. Folks stop and admire my expensive shrubs and trees in my front yard. If they saw my fish pond and greenhouse and nice backyard they wouldn't want to leave. My owners sit in the enclosed porch patio and bird watch in the cool of the day. How relaxing — Oh yes! — I am cleaner than the day I was born. My larke living room has an excellent dining room off. Loads of mahogany cupboards in my kitchen keeps my mussus happy. 3 good size bedrooms are slumber specials. 4-pce. bath is convenient for everyone. My half basement has laundry room, rumpus room or fourth bedroom space and a drive-in garage. I am not too far from town and have top-notch neighbours. Come out and see me soon! Call my agent.

NEW LISTING SNOW WHITE COLONIAL 5 YEARS OLD

I'm on cloud 99, because I have just exclusively listed your family dream home. The proud owners have been transferred to Ontario and wish they could package it up and take it with them.

The spacious, wide open feeling, as you take in Mt. Tolmie, the University and the breathtaking mountains and sea.

From the 26' living room you open glass sliding doors to the king sized sundeck. Dream kitchen for mother, "Yes, a garburator," and eating area, down the hall, you'll find 3 bedrooms, lots of cupboards and 4-piece vanity bath.

The carpeted stairs lead to a terrific 30' rumpus room with woodburning fireplace and bar with 2-piece bathroom, and beautiful large bedroom. Also one of the most spacious and beautiful utility rooms, accommodation for deep freeze, plumbed for washer and dryer. Planned sewing area. Good parking for boat and 2 cars, who could ask for more, large 8 per cent mortgage.

I really like this home. It's everything I want in a home and Well landscaped but no gardening—Charming exterior but very little maintenance—near new, yet established and comfortable, rather than cold and shiny. Then the inside too is what I want—spacious plan but not too radical and not too trite—separate entrance and separate dining room and no room was robbed of space to make room in others. And of course the area—less than a ½ block to the sea, shops, buses, still, Sooo Quiet—The vendors are open to a reasonable Cash offer but Ithink were pretty close at this price.

HOME GARDEN

Care and Feeding of Vines

By HILDA BEASTALL

Climbing vines and plants are favorites of today's gardeners even as they were a hundred years ago, but probably for different reasons. Our gardens today are smaller, so we use climbers to add space and to clothe bare walls which otherwise seem too close upon us.

Hilda

Summer jasmines, clematises to flower from April to October, honeysuckles and wistaria are all useful for this purpose yet will threaten to overwhelm us if not controlled.

Those which have already bloomed such as Clematis montana in its white and its pink forms create a terrific tangle if left unpruned.

This habit is fine for a large area, but in a small garden, the vine may be drastically reduced now, and new long growths in summer can be pinched at the ends to prevent them travelling too far.

Large flowered clematis like Nellie Moser will bloom at four or five feet if some growths are cut back to three feet in early April, and others reduced by the end of May after blooming.

The sweet scented white summer jasmine is making growth too whilst its buds are forming. Tie in the branches needed to cover the area and remove any unwanted.

The pretty little pink blossoming jasmine named "Bee's Pink" is a delightful change of color for a summer climber. It too is scented when a mass of flowers are open, but not heavily. This is an advantage to people unable to tolerate flower perfumes.

Growth is easily controlled by shortening the long canes as they grow, allowing only enough full length ones to cover the area.

Bareness at the base of climbers can often be avoided by reducing some of the growths to about a foot or so from the ground and then pinching out the tips of the side growths. This induces flowering at a lower level.

YOUR HEALTH

Don't Take Neighbor's Medicine

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Every so often someone tells me that a medicine did her chum so much good that now, without the blessing of any physician, she is taking it. But a difficulty has arisen; she has a measles-like rash, or she is nauseated, or her vision is fuzzy, or the whites of her eyes are yellow, and she wonders what could be wrong.

Alvarez

What may have happened is that she is sentitive to the drug, and it is producing these symptoms. Certainly, she should immediately stop taking all medicines to see if that clears up her skin and her eyes, and puts an end to her nausea. As an eminent skin specialist said to me the other day, a good part of his time is now taken up seeing people whose skin rash it due to some one of the several drugs she is taking, or the new detergents or soaps she bought, or the new cosmetics she is using — or even the new hair dressing her husband has bought.

★ ★ ★

Scores of poeple write asking me what are the collagen or auto-immune diseases. They are thought to be due to one part of the body' having become allergic to all other parts. Then the other parts try to destroy the one part, and that can cause pain and much illness. In Greek kolla means glue, and gennar means to produce. This means that a substance like white of egg, when heated, can solidify into a glue-like chemical. When this forms in a joint, the person can get the often painful and severe rheumatoid arthritis; when it forms in the skin, it can cause what is called lupus erythematosus (lupus coming from the word for wolf and erythema meaning redness); or it forms scleroderma (sclero means hard and derma means skin), or if the glue forms in the thyroid gland, the person has Hashimoto's disease; if it forms in arteries, the disease may be periarteritis nodosa (peri meaning around) — a nodular inlfammation of certain arteries.

★ ★ ★

As yet we physicians cannot always cure these diseases, but often we can tide the person over a flare-up with the help of cortisone-like drugs. Fortunately the diseases often quiet down for months at a time. Interestingly, one can change into another; for instance, disseminated (scattered) lupus erythematosus can change into rheumatoid arthritis or vice versa.

August Jack Marks 103rd

CROFTON — August Jack of Westholme is celebrating his 103rd birthday today.

But he had his birthday party early at a meeting of the Chemainus-Crofton chamber of commerce in the Horseshoe Bay Inn.

Mayor Don Morton said records list August Jack as a pupil at the first school in Chemainus, but not for long, since he was much older than most of the students.

Born in Lummis Island, Washington, in 1865 he has had his age verified from baptismal records of the Catholic diocese of Washington.

The centenerian told the meeting he remembered loading sailing ships in the port of Chamainus. He also remembered seeing the S.S. Beaver sail up the Fraser River to Chilliwack in the 1880s.

He worked for several years on ships at Esquimalt.

Mr. Jack has a son, John, living at Westhome and a daughter, Mrs. Irene George, in Victoria.

BE WISE . . . IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20 volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Carol Bronson, age 14, of Linden, Alberta, for her question:

What causes frost patterns on windows?

Even small toddlers notice the frosty patterns that form on the winter windows. They gaze with wonder at the ferny foliage and the frothy frills, the fox's tails and the filmy feathers. Their bright eyes see pictures etched in pale pearly tints, spangled with ice sparkles of frosty white. They see art work and their young minds wonder about the artist. Actually, the ornate patterns are the result of complicated atmospheric conditions, but a detailed explanation would bewilder the minds of these young art lovers. So we tell them that the icy pictures are painted by an invisible artist named Jack Frost.

This answer may satisfy the toddlers. But nor for long. They were born in the Age of Science and they want the downright scientific answers to what goes on in the world. So we bid adieu to Jack Frost and proceed in search of the more satisfying truth. The truth concerns basic laws that govern the behavior of the airy atmosphere. Temperature and water vapor are two of the causal conditions.

The air can hold so much gaseous water vapor and no more, depending upon its temperature. This rule operates on a set ratio. A cubic meter of air at 43 degrees Fahrenheit can hold 7.27 grams of water vapor and no more. If the same air chills to freezing point, it is saturated with only 4.85 grams of vapor. Below saturation point, the air must change its surplus vapor into liquid water. And if the surrounding temperature is below 32 degrees, this excess moisture freezes in microscopic crystals of solid ice.

Warm Air Chilled

Icy artwork forms on the windows when the temperature zig-zags around freezing point. The earth grows chillier through the night and the windows are coldest just before dawn. The slightly warmer air touches the glass, chills below its saturation point and deposits a layer of tiny crystals in an icy frosting. Then a draft of warmer air puffs on the windows. Some of the crusty crystals melt and tiny trickles of moisture wander through the frosting. Then a cold breeze arrives and freezes the moist trickles in groovy patterns. Several warm and cool spells may add to the artwork. The network of trickling grooves grows deeper and the feathery ridges of solid white ice grow thicker.

Frosty patterns form on the outside of the window glass. In very cold weather, if the furnace is turned down, they may begin for form around midnight. The night may be freezing, but the outside surface of the house grows even colder than the air. It steals a few degrees from the air that touches it and the chilled air deposits tiny crystals on the windows. But the inside of the house is not uniformly cold. It provides a few warm drafts to melt the frosting into delicate patterns of trickling moisture. When the warm draft inside is spent, the feathery patterns are frozen solid again by the cold outdoors.

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to Larguerite Marraccini, age 8, of Staten Island, New York, for her question:

Are there crocodiles or alligaters in the Amazon River?

The mighty Amazon is the world's greatest river. It flows for 3,000 miles more or less along the equator. Most of its path is bordered with tropical jungles, thick and dense. Its banks and its waters teem with a large assortment of creatures in vast numbers. More than 2,000 different fishes swim in the river. One of them is the deadly, blood-thirsty paranha. The river also is the home of electric eels and giant catfish, stingrays and hungry sharks. Nearer the sea, these Amazon dwellers are joined by dolphins and giant turtles. And everywhere there are reptiles of the crocodile clan.

The biggest alligator of the New World lives in a branch river of the Amazon. He may grow longer than 20 feet. There are hungry alligators in the Amazon and all its sizable streams. And toothy crocodiles also can be found almost anywhere in and along the great river. Along with the alligators and crocodiles there are also many crocodile type reptiles called caimans. The black caiman of the Amazon may be 15 feet long and he is very much like his cousins, the alligators and the crocodiles.

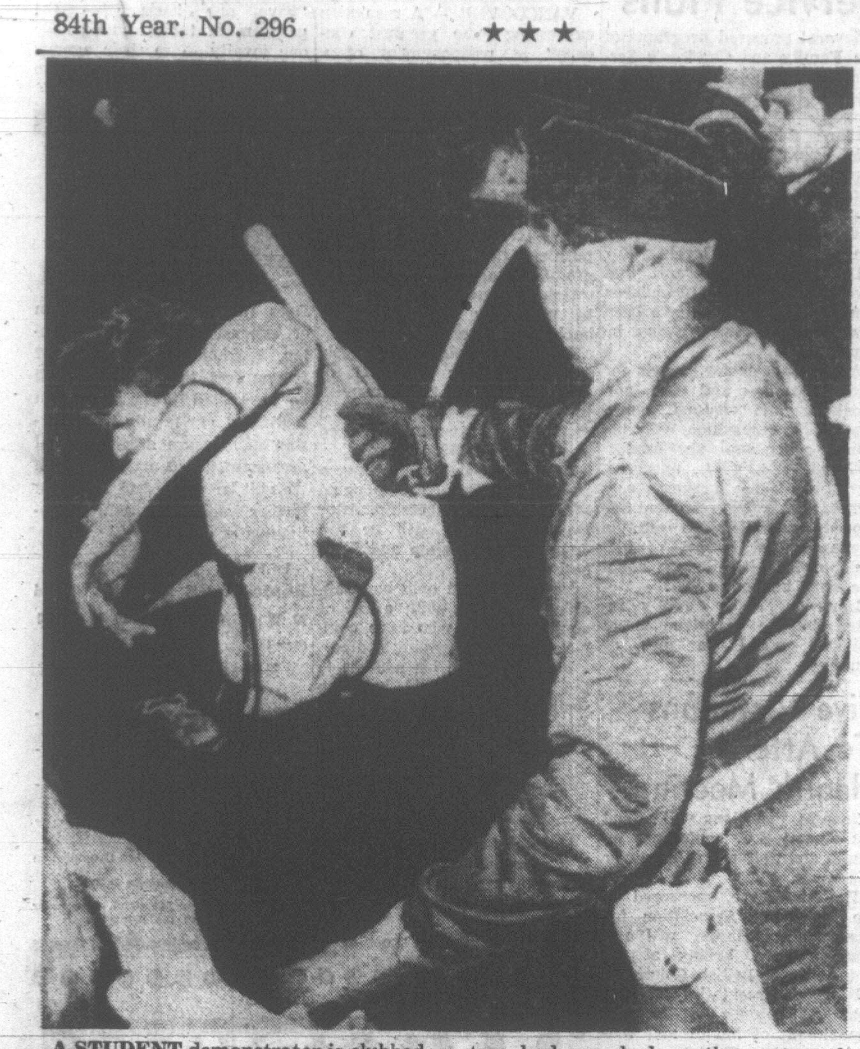
French Workers Veto Wage Settlement Plan



A STUDENT demonstrator is clubbed by policeman during a melee outside the Opera House in the Swedish capital Sunday night. The demonstrators had marched on the centre of the city and tried to take over. Police restored order in a few hours. (AP Wirephoto.)

STUDENTS BACK GOV'T AGAINST PROTESTERS

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish National Union of Students decided today to close the Stockholm Student Union Building occupied by leftist youth demonstrators since Friday.

The decision followed a threat Sunday night by Swedish Premier Tage Erlander to take tough measures against any violence from the students.

"The government will authorize the police to act against any tendency to violence," he said.

Erlander's views were backed by the opposition parties and even the leader of the Communist party, C. H. Hermansson, declared:

"I dissociate myself decidedly from groups who think that violence and armed power is necessary for advancing the interests of the students or workers."

Many demonstrators left the building during the night and only about 200 remained of the 500 estimated there earlier.

Police have cordoned the building in downtown Stockholm.

The demonstrations started as a protest against the form of university studies in Sweden and an investigation made by a government committee, but the leaders apparently aim at broadening the issue along French lines.

No Progress Made In Paris Peace Talks

Times News Services

PARIS—The United States today called on North Vietnam to join in a request to the International Control Commission of Canada, India and Poland to act immediately to restore the demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams as a neutral buffer zone.

Chief American negotiator W. Averell Harriman made the proposal to North Vietnamese chief delegate Xuan Thuy at the fifth full-scale session of the preliminary peace talks here.

Harriamn told the North Vietnamese that agreement on a prompe restoration of the zone to its original status would truly be a step towards peace.

Harriman said that in proposing this "immediate task" for the International Control Commission, the U.S. does not intend to abandon or modify its suggestion made at the first meeting of the conference May 13.

The American delegate said on May 13 that one of the major tasks of the negotiations would be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and ensuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints.

He also said then: "We believe the nations of Asia—which have a crucial interest in the peace and stability of the region —should be associated with the monitoring of the agreements at which we may arrive."

The International Control Commission, now virtually moribund, was set up by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina.

CHARGES AGGRESSION

Harriman today accused North Vietnam of converting demilitarized zone "into a highway for aggression."

Urging North Vietnam to join in an agreement to restore the demilitarized zone's neutral status as a step to help scale down the level of fighting in South Vietnam, he said:

"We believe that the currently constituted International Control Commission has the authority to supervise the restoration and demilitarization of the demilitarized zone . . . and that it should assume this function.

Racial Dispute Hits March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A walkout was threatened today by Mexican-American participants in the Poor People's March, charging they were being discriminated against by the Negro majority. Leaders of the campaign moved quickly to smooth things over and claimed to have succeeded.

"Things are well in hand," said the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy after a long private talk with Reies Tijerina, leader of a contingent of 350 Mexican-Americans who have been housed in a private school since arriving here last week.

Savage Battles In South

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist command intensified the Vietnam war during the weekend and for the first time introduced Russian long-range anti-aircraft guns to its air defences just above the demilitarized zone.

Southern allied forces reported killing more than 1,000 Communist troops in a weekend of savage fighting ranging from the outskirts of Saigon to the demilitarized zone.

American casualties were reported as 54 killed and 192 wounded in the series of battles. South Vietnamese losses were termed light.

Sharp fighting continued on three sides of Saigon today. The Viet Cong was believed moving 500 to 1,000 troops toward the capital.

In the air war over North Vietnam, the U.S. command said the Hanoi regime has installed Russian 100-millimetre long-range anti-aircraft guns to bolster its defences just above the demilitarized zone.

A U.S. spokesman said 16 of the big guns were spotted in an area only 38 miles above the DMZ, and American pilots reported destroying or severely damaging all 16 in concentrated attacks Sunday.

HAS LONGER RANGE

U.S. pilots said in the more than three years of air attacks against North Vietnam, the biggest anti-aircraft guns they had seen previously were 85-millimetre, with a range of five miles. The 100-millimetre has a range of 7.7 miles.

The heaviest weekend ground fighting came in the northern sector, where North Vietnamese troops renewed their pressure on the U.S. marine headquarters at Dong Ha, and in the central highlands, where a massive campaign may be shaping up.

U.S. spokesman said superior firepower led to guerrilla defeats in most of the clashes.

About 800 North Vietnamese overran part of a U.S. base 11 miles west of Dak To in the central highlands. In more than seven hours of fighting, 14 U.S. infantrymen were killed and 56 wounded.

THAILAND TO SEND MORE TROOPS

BANGKOK (Reuters)—Thailand will send 5,000 more combat troops to South Vietnam in July at the request of President Johnson, Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said today.

Thanom told reporters Johnson requested the dispatch of Thai troops as soon as possible, during Thanom's official visit to Washington last month.

EXTREMISTS STOCK PILE WEAPONS

PARIS (Reuters) — The French interior ministry said today that extremists had stockpiled arms and intended to use them in demonstrations planned by the National Student Union tonight.

A ministry communique said arms depots are known to have been built up.

"A certain number of extremists are intending to use these arms this evening in the course of the demonstrations or after they have dispersed to make a return to law and order impossible.

"The government has taken necessary steps to strengthen the forces of order."

Two Ships Diverted

PARIS (AP) — The French Line announced that the liner France, scheduled to arrive in Le Havre today from New York has been ordered to disembark passengers in Southampton, England, and wait there for furhter orders because of the strike wave in France.

The liner Antilles, returning from a trip to the Caribbean, was given similar orders Sunday.

The France has 750 passengers and the Antilles 640. Passengers wishing to continue to France will be brought from Southampton aboard foreign liners to Cherbourg.

Postie Head Warns Again Of Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — The leader of 14,000 Canadian postal workers said today that unless the Treasury Board "changes its attitude" there will be a national strike by postal workers "in the near future."

William Kay, national president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, spoke before nearly 400 cheering delegates to the 10th triennial convention here.

While delivering his annual report, he digressed from his text to say:

"It is now my firm conviction that we will be on strike in the near future unless the Treasury Board changes its attitude.

"Accordingly, strike ballots will be mailed May 29 to all locals asking for authority to call a strike."

The CUPW and the 10,000-member Letter Carriers Union of Canada nave been bargaining jointly with the government since the last contract expired Aug. 1, 1967.

Under rules for collective bargaining for public servants approved by parliament last year, the postal workers represented in the dispute can not legally walk off their jobs any earlier than the first week of July.

The legislation allows each side seven days to pick representatives to the conciliation board. A five-day period to agree on a neutral chairman follows.

Concession Fails To End Walkout

PARIS (CP) — The French government today offered a series of costly concessions to meet the grievances of 10,000,000 striking workers and bring an end to the paralysing 11-day general strike, but the immediate response from the workers was "non".

Meetings at big factories in Paris, Lyon, Marseille and Nantes rejected the settlement and for the first time since the strike began Paris was hit by scattered electricity cuts.

Employees of the state-run gas and electricity company were angry because a meeting on their grievances had been put off.

Premier Georges Pompidou announced a settlement among unions, employers and government, including a 10-per-cent pay increase in two stages this year, but union membership reaction was reported bitterly hostile.

Union leaders toured the strikebound factories explaining the agreement, but workers in two key automobile plants in the Paris area rejected the settlement.

Workers shouted their disapproval at the nationalized Renault automobile works and the privately-owned Citroen plant.

Other workers were also voting to continue the strike—at the Berliet truck plant and the Rhodiaceta-Vaise plant at Lyon, the nationalized Sud Aviation airplane plant at Nantes, where the strike wave originated, and nationalized airplane engine factory in Paris.

Trouble developed in another spot this morning when bakery workers went on strike in Toulouse. Only a few residents of the suburbs were able to get bread, a staple of the French diet.

Rumblings were also reported from inside the government. Finance Minister Michel Debre was described as strongly opposed to some of the concessions and sources close to his ministry said he might offer his resignation today.

CONTRARY TO POLICY

Debre viewed the agreement as contrary to the economic policy he was trying to defend, the sources said.

But the major labor leaders expressed cautious satisfaction with the package agreement and said it now would go before the workers.

Georges Seguy, secretary-general of the Communist-led General Confederation of Workers, said acceptance or rejection of the pact should be made "in a short time."

James Maranger, secretary-general of the French Teachers' Union, said the problems of teachers and civil servants were not solved by the agreement and their strike would continue.

Even as Pompidou announced settlement, after 28 hours of urgent talks, weary police prepared to deal with new student demonstrations threatened today.

The settlement also provides for an annual review of wages and shorter working hours—but not the 40-hour week.

It includes a 35-per-cent increase in the minimum wage level to three francs (66 cents) an hour.

Pompidou, looking tired after an overnight session last 15 hours, told reporters: "We have arrived at a whole range of positive solutions and can say they constitute an agreement."

Pompidou said the settlement package included a review of old age benefits and family allowances and a reform of labor union law that would revolutionize relations between employers and salaried workers.

Union leader Seguy said after the meeting: "There still remains much to be done, but our demands have been for the greater part accepted and what has been agreed cannot be dismissed.

"However, we could not give any answer without consulting the workers. We shall explain the results of the talks to them."

Eugene Descamps, head of the more moderate French Confederation of Democratic Labor, also said he would put the agreement before his members. Their answer could take up 48 hours.

In addition to the minimum wage provision, Pompidou said wages in general would be increased by seven per cent June 1 and three per cent Oct. 1.

Pompidou did not announce the working hours agreement, but informed sources said the 48-hour working week would be cut to 46 hours without loss of pay by 1971. Those working between 45 and 48 hours would work one hour less, they said.

The employers agreed to

FRENCH VOTE ON JUNE 16

PARIS (Reuters)—A nationwide referendum which French President de Gaulle said today he will treat as a vote of confidence, will be held June 16, it was announced today.

TRUDEAU'S DATE GETS 'BOUNCE'

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Did the beautiful blonde with the lovely long hair get bounced out of the prime minister's office to the headquarters of the National Liberal Federation because she went dancing with Pierre Elliott Trudeau?

That is the intriguing question making the rounds on Parliament Hill today. The lady in question is Miss Jennifer Rae, 24, charming daughter of Canada's ambassador to Mexico, Sol F. Rae.

A paragraph appeared in a gossip column in a Toronto newspaper Saturday suggesting that she was being transferred from the prime minister's staff because members of the prime-ministerial privy council staff did not regard it as proper that an employee in the office should be socializing with the prime minister.

She received national newspaper coverage and her picture appeared on the front pages when she was Mr. Trudeau's date at Government House at the first state dinner he attended as head of the government.

★ ★ ★

Tall and leggy, the attractive young lady likes miniskirts. She has been introduced since that state dinner on more than one occasion as the "gorgeous girl who was Mr. Trudeau's date at his first state dinner."

Another Toronto newspaper said: "Permanent members of the prime ministerial privy council establishment were understood to have been distressed by the publicity." But government sources Monday were busy denying any connection between her transfer and the dinner date.

The explanation by the Liberal federation and James Wightman, assistant press officer to the prime minister, is that Miss Rae was a worker for Mr. Trudeau in his leadership campaign organization.

After the convention she occupied an office in the Parliament Buildings where she carried on with work winding up the details of the leadership campaign, they explain. She has never been on the government payroll, they insist.

★ ★ ★

Miss Rae is bewildered by the additional publicity. She stoutly claims there is nothing unusual in her movement from Parliament Hill to the headquarters.

However, friends of Miss Rae say she was upset when she was informed shortly after the celebrated dinner date that she would be moving off Parliament Hill.

PM Rebukes Anti-French Sign Bearers

FORT CHAMBLY, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau today turned savagely on a group of demonstrators carrying anti-French signs and accused them of trying to divide the country by hate.

The incident occurred as the Liberal leader campaigned through Quebec towns south of Montreal for the June 25 general election.

One of the signs advised Mr. Trudeau to "get the frogs to speak white." It was a crude way of saying get French-Canadians to speak English.

The sign carriers formed only a small part of a crowd of 125 that gathered to hear Mr. Trudeau inside a restored fort overlooking the Richelieu River 10 miles south of Montreal.

Mr. Trudeau said the demonstrators are not English people, but rather "agents provocateurs" pretending they are English in order to create hate in this country.

He said they would not succeed. They were separatists who came "so the press will know there are a few of you stupid guys left."

Some people, he said, believed in hate as a political technique. They proceed by insults and show the smallness of their minds.

Mr. Trudeau said he stood for a strong Quebec and a strong Canada.

U.K. MINISTER'S WORDS STIR RESENTMENT

'Protest . . . Engulf Us All in Bloodshed'

LONDON (AP) — A warning by a member of the British government that the country may face violence and bloodshed stirred resentment in the cabinet today and prompted editorials about the future of democracy in Britain.

Anthony Wedgwood Benn, minister of technology, told a weekend meeting of the Welsh Labor party: "If adjustments are not made to the parliamentary system, discontent expressing itself in despairing apathy or violence protest could engulf us all in bloodshed."

Benn, a senior member of Prime Minister Wilson's cabinet, contended the British people should participate in making decisions through a regular referendum. He said Britain needs a "participating democracy."

The government, he said, should keep in closer touch with public moods and needs. He added the public should be given more information about government activity and more ways to express their views, and more local autonomy.

Government officials were reported to be objecting that Benn, who made the speech without consulting Wilson or other ministers, had gone too far in raising an alarm over potential bloodshed.

And consulting the public through plebiscites, they stressed, is not government policy.

Benn's speech added to mounting objections over the way Wilson's government is handling parliamentary business. Members of Parliament complain that the 630-member House of Commons is overloaded and MPs are being prevented from sufficient debate of important issues.

The Times says Benn is correct in drawing attention to "the dangerous gap" between public opinion and the machinery of government. The newspaper says this is the thread linking disorders in France with questioning of the British political system, and the gap is "the greatest challenge facing democracy today."

The Times adds, however, that referendums have no place in the British political system. Plebiscites would disrupt government efficiency, bypass Parliament, and ask voters to decide on matters they are not equipped to judge.

The Guardian says Benn is "well justified . . . in insisting that the government must move toward a participating democracy." On his warning of violence, it agrees "Yes, it could happen here."

The Sun says Benn has performed a public service and concedes that Parliament needs streamlining. But government by referendum, the newspaper warns, is a device for going over the head of Parliament.

The Daily Express demands: "There must be an immediate general election. . . . Suddenly the politicians have awoken to the fact that democracy is in danger not only in France and Western Europe but in Britain itself. . . . The mother of parliaments has been turned into a meaningless charade."

The Daily Mail, however, denounces Benn's speech as foolish, dangerous and irresponsible. It says the parliamentary system is sound but Wilson's government "has overloaded it with half-baked legislation."

Discount Sales Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Sales by discount department stores jumped 24.3 per cent to $429,816,343 in 1967, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. Major increases occurred in men's and women's clothing, children's shoes, stationery, books, magazines, food, furniture and appliances.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP — Grain trading volume on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange dropped to a trickle in late action today.

Flax and rapeseed prices lost ground, drawing the bulk of their support from commission house and local buyers. Some export development was generated in rapeseed as prices dropped one cent at mid-session.

Oats and barley trade was light while rye prices moved in a narrow range, reflecting the steady prices of the Chicago market.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 685,000 bushels to Russia, 228,000 to the United Kingdom, 190,000 to Germany, 93,000 to Switzerland, 78,000 to The Netherlands, 52,000 to Sweden and 13,000 to Belgium.

CHICAGO — Persistent rains that have delayed some corn planting in eastern sections of the U.S. corn belt and impeded the early wheat harvest in parts of the southwest strengthened prices of these grains temporarily on the board of trade today.

The gains were fractional and later profit-taking trimmed most of the corn advances and put wheat deliveries in the loss column.

Brokers said the weather was the chief influence on price movements.

Soybeans prices moved unevenly. Firmness in soybean oil gave soybeans some support.

During the weekend, Formosa purchased 560,000 bushels of wheat for June 20-July 10 clearance from Pacific ports. Jordan was credited with taking 224,000 bushels of hard winter wheat for Gulf of Mexico shipment in early June.

Management War Chest Suggested

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — The Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association was told management should set up a war chest to counter strike threats against small timber companies.

R. A. Mahoney of Vancouver, president of Management Research (Western) Ltd., told the lumbermen's annual convention such a fund would aid small businesses who often settle for exhorbitant wage increases when threatened with ruin by strike closure.

He said such a fund would preserve bargaining balance by helping small companies to stand strike threats.

D. A. S. Lanskail of Vancouver, assistant manager of Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., said such a fund would also show management unity—something which is often lacking.

Mr. Lanskail, whose firm negotiates labor contracts for major B.C. timber companies, opened with an attack on unions and charged they have recently made uneconomic demands. He said management must say "no and mean it" when labor demands are not justified.

He said management has not played its role in opposing union demands and because of this "crumbling credibility" demands have progressively increased.

"It will perhaps be a costly business to close this credibility gap, but it must be done because alternatives are either wage and price control or runaway inflation—both of them incompatible with a stable free economy," he said.

Ed Lawson, teamsters joint council president, conceded some labor demands were excessive but said it was not all the fault of unions.

He said a recent 72-cent-an-hour pay increase won by carpenters was "a voluntary settlement by construction contractors."

"This raises problems," he said. "Other workers, being human, are going to have to demand . . . they get a similar amount."

Ford Optimistic On Year's Sales

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, describing the auto industry outlook for the rest of the year as very good, has predicted that new car sales in the U.S. could reach 9,300,000 in 1968 even despite a possible federal tax increase.

"Both in this country and abroad," Ford told a stockholders' meeting, "the automobile industry shows every sign of continuing to be an industry of strong growth."

Credit Soars

OTTAWA (CP)—Major sources or consumer credit reported credit balances of $7,463,000,000 at the end of January, up 9.5 per cent from $6,815,000,000 at the same time a year earlier, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. The figures include sales finance loans for consumer and commercial goods, cash and instalment credit of small loan companies, department and appliance stores and three categories of personal chartered bank loans.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Heavy Traders Slip

The two heaviest traders on Vancouver Stock Exchange both slipped as trading hit 1,255,833 by 11 a.m.

Peace River Pete turned over 144,000 shares and lost three cents to .45 while Northlode traded 130,800 and fell seven cents to $1.80. Caprix and Continental Cinch were the only gainers among the mines while a new listing, Kimberley Copper, came on at .80.

Hudson Bay Mountain lost .12 cents at .67; Utica slipped .15 at $3.65 and TC Explorations was off .13 at $2.30.

First National Mortgage was strong in the industrials, putting on 50 cents at $10 on trades of 17,900 shares. Okanagan Helicopters gained .37 at $5.12 and Captain International added one-eighth at $9.12. B.C. Sugar slipped .50 at $38.75.

Futurity was the only gainer among the oils, adding six cents on trades of 69,200 shares to .57. Sunlight lost .35 at $4.95 and Giant Reef was off .06 at $2.24.

AT TORONTO, Molson Breweries shot up following the announcement that the company plans to merge with Anthes Imperial Ltd.

It is not yet known what class of share Molson will offer in its stock plus cash bid for Anthes.

Trading in Anthes Class A and B was halted at opening. An exchange official said the company would release more information.

Prices in other sections of the market were lower. Volume was moderate.

AT NEW YORK, the market showed a lower trend in late trade although there remained more gains than losses in the list. Trading was fairly active.

Both the Dow Jones industrial average and the broadly based New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks showed losses.

Aside from the approaching U.S. Memorial Day holiday—a long weekend for some although markets will be open Friday—Wall Street had reason for caution because of tighter money, weakness in the British pound and uncertainly as to what Congress would do about the U.S. tax-spending bill.

Du Pont lost about 2 points, Western Union 2, Proctor and Gamble, Merck, RCA and Homestake about a point each.

CPR rose 1⅛ and McIntyre Porcupine a point among Canadians. Hudson Bay Mining was off 1⅝, Dome Mines 1½ and International Nickel 1¼.

AT MONTREAL, the exchange slid narrowly lower in late trading.

Gains were more prominent among liquor and oil issues as Molson B climbed 3⅛ to 23½ and Molson A 3¼ to 23. Shell added 1¼ to 27¼ on sales of 1,000 shares.

Inco lost 1¼ to 116¼ on a turnover of 551 shares.

Agassiz fell three cents to 71 cents on 6,000 shares in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT LONDON, most sections of the stock market declined today, with several leaders as much as 2s weaker.

An exception was the sharp rise in Anglonorness following an offer from Zapata. However, profit-taking pared an initial 10s gain to about 6s at 38s 6d.

British funds were slightly better, reflecting stronger sterling. Dollar stocks were mainly lower while gold issues were quietly mixed.

Housing Study Grants Awarded

OTTAWA (CP) — Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced three grants totalling $38,000 for studies of urban growth, low-income housing and new building systems.

Prof. Dimitrios Styliaris of the Univerisity of Manitoba received $20,000 to study urban growth in North America and Europe. A 10,000 grant for a study of low-income housing in the Montreal area went to Prof. David E. Woodsworth of McGaill Univeristy, Montreal.

An $8,000 grant was approved to assistant Prof. Charles A. Tiers of the University of British Columbia in a study of butilding systems in Great Britain and Western Europe.

Sharp Warning To Steel Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bethlehem Steel Corp. and four other major firms were told by the U.S. labor department all their federal contracts might be cut off because of their failure to eliminate racial discrimination in employment.

In addition to Bethlehem — one of the nation's largest steel companies—the action was taken against the Timken Roller Bearing Co., Canton, Ohio; Allen-Bradley, Milwaukee, Wis.; B and P Motor Express, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Pullman, Inc., Bessemer, Ala.

Hoarders Keep Silver Price Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there enough silver in the world to meet its needs?

Has the U.S. treasury enough silver to satisfy all its commitments, such as its pledge to redeem silver currency certificates for the metal if turned in by June 24?

Or will it have to renege on its promises, another of which is to supply the U.S. defence stockpile with 165,000,000 ounces for strategic purposes?

These are some of the questions in today's crazy, mixed-up silver market, in which industrial users battle hoarders and speculators for a supply whose size few people agree upon.

The industrial users would like to see stable prices. They argue that there is sufficient silver for dentists, silverware makers, television set manufacturers and others.

It's the speculators, the hoarders with something like 300,000,000 ounces hidden, who are keeping the prices so high, the industrialists say.

RUMORS ABOUND

Rumors race through today's silver market, particularly in the nine months or so since the U.S. government's decision to end a $1.29-an-ounce ceiling on the metal and let the market dictate price.

Since then the price has been mostly higher, bobbing around $2.30 an ounce in recent days, amid a great deal of controversy over whether this represents a big demand and a short supply or mostly speculation.

That's why the size of the government supply, and whether the government has enough for its needs, grows so important.

Speaking here recently, Robert Wallace, assistant treasury secretary, said the U.S. silver stock amounted to more than 520,000,000 ounces, or seemingly enough for government needs. As coins are melted, this stock could grow.

Against this supply are these commitments: 165,000,000 ounces for the defence stockpile, another 65,000,000 ounces said to be needed by the Atomic Energy Commission, and 218,000,000 ounces for redeeming silver certificates.

BOX SEAT FOR SEAWATCHING was carved by nature into these Galiano cliffs but the audience often comes by boat to study the shore. Scraping glaciers and pounding seas created the patterns in tse sandstone beginning thousands of years ago when the Gulf Islands began to rear out of the deep. Cliff swallows, cormorants, turkey vultures and pigeon guillemots are just a few of the birds who use the eroded holes for ready-made nests. Besides Galiano, the delicate designs appear also on Valdes and Saturna Islands. Lyn Hancock and Hilary Stewart, in background, used rubber boat for study.

'TEDIOUS, CONFUSED, DEAD'

'Inaccurate' Museum Sculpture Harpooned by More Critics

It's a giant carving in red and yellow cedar of Nootka Indians harpooning a whale.

It's reputedly costing the provincial government $80,000 and is meant to be the eye-catching central exhibit in the new Provincial Museum opening about July 1.

The Indians may have got the whale but the artist missed, according to a growing body of critical opinion.

Lionel Thomas, the man who executed the 16-ton whaling scene, "bit off more than he could chew," says Frank Beebe, well-known B.C. artist who is painting three-dimensional displays for the museum.

He is the first artist to give his critical appraisal of the sculpture of Mr. Thomas, a professor of fine arts at the University of British Columbia.

•

He joins George Moore, a government museum adviser and museologist who has labelled the work "tedious, inaccurate, unimaginative, confused, dead, and far, far too expensive."

The artist so far has refused to answer his critics.

"In my opinion Mr. Thomas went beyond his depth when he took on this project," said Mr. Beebe.

It lacks composition, he said.

"There is no continuation of lines from the Indians in the canoe to the central figure, the harpooner," he explained.

"I'm greatly disappointed."

"Later on I will have lots to say," said Mr. Thomas. "There will be plenty of information . . . very positive facts and nothing will be distorted."

•

Some of those who will be living closest to the work, if the government accepts it, aren't looking forward to it.

Don Abbott, curator of archaeology:

"Since it has come out in the open perhaps I don't have to feel as reticent as I would feel otherwise.

"I personally don't like it, largely for artistic reasons. I just think it falls flat as a work of art. It doesn't do what it was meant to do — as the eye-catching large central exhibit.

"My feeling is that ultimately we'll have to get rid of the thing to make the museum what we want it to be," said Mr. Abbott.

•

"No doubt it will prove we're stuck with it now but I really regret all this money has been spent on it.

Charles Guiget, curator of zoology:

"I think the whole thing is too placid for a man in violent contact with nature scene. It just falls flat. It doesn't do what I wanted, portray the violent action which must ensue when you stick a harpoon in a whale.

"The idea of the central piece was to express the whole idea of the museum — man in contact with nature — which is basically a violent thing.

"It's supposed to be dramatic but in my personal opinion it just doesn't make it."

•

Henry Hunt chief carver at Thunderbird Park, said the Indians are too large for the size of the canoe.

"In real life they would fall out of the canoe if they were that big."

Bu tTony Hunt, his assistant, said the artist probably mean it to be that way.

FRANK BEEBE
. . . 'beyond his depth'

"An artist is allowed certain license. But that's a lot of money to pay for that amount of carving."

•

Mr. Hunt said he and his father have built an Indian house to be installed in the museum.

"Compared to this project it cost little," he said of their work. "And there was lots of work and carvings involved in its construction."

Mr. Moore, who launched the cricitism, emphasized again today that his was not a personal attack on the artist whom he does not know.

"It isn't good enough — that's my prime point. It's a question of quality."

'Work Together Or Fall Alone'

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell today called for "complete re-structuring" of municipal government to meet the challenge of the future.

"This will not be easy because, in my four years as minister, I have found people do not react to change in any positive way," Mr. Campbell told the 17th annual meet of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce at the Empress Hotel.

By 1985, he said, there will be houses from Malahat Drive to Ogden Point and from Chilliwack to Burrard Inlet. And more than 80 per cent of the people of British Columbia will be living in an urban environment.

"To meet this challenge, there will have to be regional financing to meet such problems as pollution control, urban transit control, garbage disposal and the effective use of land in terms of housing.

"These problems cannot be solved on the basis of one municipality looking at its own particular neighborhood and hoping for the best.

"Those who stand in the way of political and functional amalgamation will simply go down the drain."

65 COMMUNITIES

Mr. Campbell was addressing 265 delegates representing 65 communities throughout the province.

Mayor A. H. Emmott of Burnaby supported Mr. Campbell's stand by saying:

"I simply cannot understand the reluctance of some municipalities towards regional financing.

"If we are going to carry out effective pollution control, we must think in terms of one economic area, and the more favored municipalities must get rid of the "I'm all right, Jack, attitude'."

Mr. Campbell said too many municipalities are adept at defining problems without defining solutions.

"In British Columbia, it is extremely difficult sometimes to get neighboring municipalities to do anything more than simply define problems as regards pollution, transit control and housing.

DUPLICATION

"Capital resources in some instances have been very badly applied in terms of duplication and over-expenditure."

As an example, Mr. Campbell said there are 11 fire departments within a 14-mile radius of Victoria city.

"This means there are 11 or more fire trucks and 11 or more complex sets of equipment to fight fires in one area. It is a physical misapplication of capital resources.

"And, when you consider it alongside what might have been, you find that in one particular area, fire costs range from one mill of taxation to 6 and 7 mills

"All is not well with the way we have structured our municipal government, and in the next 20 years, we shall have to restructure completely our approach to urban government in B.C.

Mr. Campbell said there are growing indications the public is becoming very concerned over problems which have been well defined for them.

"And they have a right to demand efficiency from local administrators."

NATIONAL LEADER of the New Democratic Party, T. C. Douglas, will speak in Victoria Sunday, June 23. His speech will come just two days before the country votes in the federal election. Details of his visit here were to be publicly released by party officials later today.

Former MLA Back in Race

Frank Snowsell, former Saanich MLA and school principal, has been nominated by the NDP to contest the Coast-Capilano seat in the federal election.

The seat is held by minister without portfolio Jack Davis.

Mr. Snowsell, who teaches in North Vancouver, was elected B.C. president of the NDP in 1965. He last ran in the provincial riding of Fort George, but was defeated by Lands Minister Ray Williston.

BUT UNION CRITICAL

Company in Clear In Sawdust Death

No action will be taken by the Workmen's Compensation Board of British Columbia against B.C. Forest Products in Victoria in the case of a work fatality last January, it was announced today.

A brief statement by the board, which conducted its own investigation after a man was buried in a sawdust truck said:

"After a careful investigation of the circumstances surrounding the fatal injuries to Arthur J. Cathers, which occurred Jan. 29 ,the board feels that punitive action is not warranted."

The decision was immediately criticized by Murray Drew, president of the Victoria local of the International Woodworkers of America, which represents mill workers.

"Cathers would be alive today if the WCB inspectors were doing their job properly," he said.

"The inspector had been in several times and gave the company a clean bill of health. It is small wonder they don't want to prosecute."

He accused the board of being "in bed" with some of the large forest companies.

"If this was one of the smaller companies they would have been charged with neglect long ago by the WCB," he said.

A board spokesman replied that the size of an employer doesn't enter the matter of prosecution for failure to comply with accident prevention regulations.

He pointed to the recent case where the board successfully prosecuted "a large employer in Victoria" for failure to comply with accident prevention regulations.

The employer was Yarrows Limited, in a case involving the death of a shipyard worker in a barge fire.

CHOICE OF ACTION

The board has power to launch a prosecution in the courts, levy a penalty under the Workmen's Compensation Act or take no action.

Cathers was found dead in a sawdust truck at Crofton early Jan. 30 after the truck took on a load of sawdust late Jan. 29 at the Point Ellice sawmill of B.C. Forest Products in Victoria.

The 52-year-old cleanup man was working at the time. One of his duties was to help load the sawdust truck.

A coroner's jury ruled the company negligent in the application of safety regulations. Factors in the man's death included unsafe working conditions, laxity of WCB regulations and operation of company machinery by other than qualified personnel.

A company official testified that a safety line was installed at the sawdust bunker shortly after Cather's death and the company policy had been changed to prohibit non-employees from operating machinery.

Lawyer, Ex-MLA Dies Here

Elmer V. (Mike) Finland, a native son of Victoria well-known as a lawyer and former MLA, died early this morning in Veteran's Hospital.

He was first elected to the legislature in 1937, as Conservative member for Esquimalt. He was re-elected in 1941 as a Conservative member of the coalition government.

During his time in the House he served as deputy speaker and party whip.

A member of the Royal Flying Corps in the First World War, he served with the RCAF during the Second World War.

Mr. Finland was educated at Boys' Central and Victoria High, and attended university at McGill and Stanford.

CLUBMAN

He was president of the Victoria Gyro Club in 1924 and district governor of the fraternal organization in 1925.

He was also a member of Camosun Lodge No. 60 A.F. and A.M., B.C.R.; of the Victoria Lodge of Perfection, Rose Croix; and the B.C. Consistery, A. and A.S.R.

He is survived by his wife Gladys, at 948 Old Esquimalt Rd., two daughters, Mrs. L. J. M. (Daphne Lalonde of Aylmer, Que., and Mrs. G. D. (Dianne) Loomis of Montreal. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Edna Hansen of Seattle and Mrs. Sadie O'Keffe of San Anselmo, Calif., a brother, Harold G. Finland of Edmonton, and 10 grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held Thursday at McCall Brothers Chapel, followed by cremation.

Ask The Times

Q. How can I find out about a death in the province of Alberta? M.C.

A. Registrations of births, deaths and marriages in the province are handled by the office of the Director of Vital Statistics. Write to J. Colville, Director of Vital Statistics, Alberta Jasper Building, 9815 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

EDITOR'S FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Funeral services will be held in McCall Brothers' Chapel Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. for Les Fox, who died early Saturday while attending a managing editor's conference at Jasper.

Mr. Fox, 60, was managing editor of the Victoria Daily Times for 17 years. He joined the paper as a cub reporter in 1926.

Rev. John Vickers of St. Philip's will officiate at the service.

Historic Movie Tonight

An historic Canadian film will be screened at the Victoria Amateur Movie Club tonight, and the film's 90-year-old producer will be in the audience.

The 55-minute drama, A Race for Ties, is the first full-length, amateur fiction movie made in Canada. It was produced by Miss Dorothea Mitchell, 1334 Harrison Street, who also wrote the script and directed the film.

The movie, filmed in Port Arthur, Ont., in 1929, is based on an incident which rocked the lumbering community.

The film, which contains hundreds of splices hand-made by Miss Mitchell, is destined for a place in the Public Archives in Ottawa.

Tonight's showing start at 8 o'clock at 1528 Cook Street.

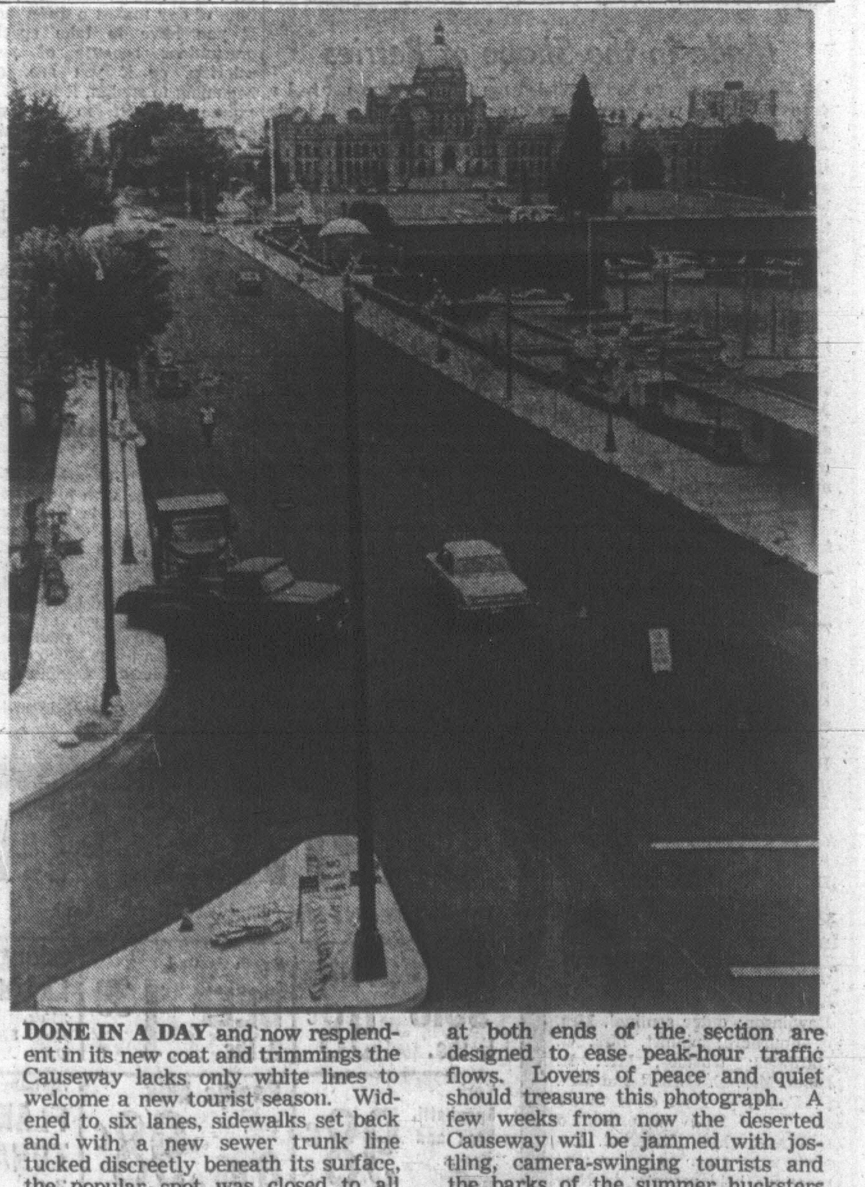
SHE ATE IT BUT HE HAD TO PAY

"It appears he had the misfortune to pick up a woman with a large appetite," commented Magistrate Ostler today when he fined a man $25 for obtaining food by fraud.

Carlos Chaves, 35, of 2316 Blanshard, pleaded guilty.

Court was told Chavos took a woman to a Chinese restaurant for tea but she insisted on ordering a $6 meal.

Police were called when Chaves was unable to pay the bill. Magistrate Ostler also ordered the accused to pay the restaurant and placed him on a six-month good behavior bond.



DONE IN A DAY and now resplendent in its new coat and trimmings the Causeway lacks only white lines to welcome a new tourist season. Widened to six lanes, sidewalks set back and with a new sewer trunk line tucked discreetly beneath its surface, the popular spot was closed to all traffic Sunday while crews worked dawn to dusk. New traffic islands at both ends of the section are designed to ease peak-hour traffic flows. Lovers of peace and quiet should treasure this photograph. A few weeks from now the deserted Causeway will be jammed with jostling, camera-swinging tourists and the barks of the summer hucksters selling guided tours of the city. (Irving Strickland photo.)

First World War Vets Propose Good Deed Before 'Embarkation'

Faced with extinction, a group of First World War veterans decided here Saturday to donate what remains of their association funds to a local charity.

Forty-five members of the 15th Brigade of the Canadian Field Artillery Association were in Victoria for the biennial reunion. Close to 800 made up the brigade in the war.

Members are all over 70 and some are in their 90s, and there soon won't be any of them left, said association president Archie Wills.

Mr. Wills said this is the first time a veterans' association has come face to face with the fact of extinction and planned for the event.

The membership has not decided which charity will receive the funds.

There was also some talk of offering the music of their song O Petawawa to Uvic to make it a campus song, Mr. Wills said.

GRANT SYSTEM PROTESTED

Indian Chiefs May Quit

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN — Indian chiefs and secretaries within Vancouver Island tribal federation may resign en bloc in protest against proposed changes in the grant system.

Chief Philip Paul of Brentwood said Saturday: "We are being blackmailed to accept the new formula or get no grants at all.

"If the worst comes to the worst we should walk off the job and give our duties back to the Indian Affairs department regional offices.

"It's one way we can get them to listen."

The federation is protesting changes which would allow a maximum annual grant of $25,000 to individual bands for welfare services, welfare housing assistance, primary road maintenance, fire protection and sanitation.

ELECTION ISSUE

The federation protest will be made a federal election issue and Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Liang and former members of parliament for Island ridings (Colin Cameron, Tom Barnett, David Groos and George Chatterton) are to be invited to a public meeting in Nanaimo Sunday, June 9, at 2 p.m.

Federation secretary Mrs. Diane Recalma, Qualicum, said regional offices had neither been notified nor consulted regarding the changes.

She said: "For once we find ourselves on the same side of a protest."

Mrs. Recalma said she is against the new formula in its entirely but particularly against individual bands being asked to take care of welfare from such a small income as $25,000.

She said no band could possibly employ a full-time manager and secretary and other necessary qualified personnel to carry out all the new duties on $25,000.

The Indian affairs department circular states the new grant system is designed to offer Indian bands a greater measure of self-government.

It says the role of the federal government in relation to the Indian community should be similar to that of the provincial government to the non-Indian community insofar as financial aid is concerned.

'INSULTING'

Chief Paul said the meagre grants were "downright insulting" and could not possibly bring about self-government on the reserves.

Mrs. Recalma said: "Through no fault of our own we do not have the people qualified to handle the jobs now allocated to use and yet if we don't do them we won't get the grants.

"Sure we want to handle our own affairs but to be handed a big job without the necessary training is out of the question."

Chief Paul is to be chairman of a committee to study the new grant circular and come up with alternative suggestions.

Other volunteer members of the committee are federation president Ross Modeste, Mrs. Recalma, Don Williams, Mrs. Florence Thomas and Charles Elliott.

'Chutist Snared By Pole

North Cowichan firemen were called Saturday at noon to release a parachute entangled in the wires and pole of B.C. Telephone Company on Somenos Road, just west of St. Mary's Church.

Bert Robinson, a student at Royal Roads Service College, Colwood, was the lucky 'chutist.

He was supposed to land in a field on the old Watson Evans farm but a gust of wind shifted him south. He missed the B.C. Hydro wires on the west side of the road. Had he been less lucky he might have landed in the hydro substation a couple of hundred yards southward.

He actually landed on the ground, uninjured and the parachute wasn't damaged either. Like many sky-diving fans from Victoria, Bert Robinson belongs to the Duncan Parachute Club.

Separate Polls Discriminate —Federation

DUNCAN — Vancouver Island Tribal Federation is to protest to the federal electoral officer against the setting up of separate polling stations on Indian reserves.

Cowichan Chief Dennis Alphonse said Saturday: "They preach integration but practice segregation.

"I strongly object to separate polling stations for Indians. Immediately the polling station closes the public knows exactly how we Indians voted."

Chief Alphonse said: "Polling is integrated provincially so why should it be different for a federal election?"

Mrs. Diane Recalma, federation secretary, said there would be no objection to mixed polling stations being established on reserves.

Sylvia Sweeps 4-H Day

Sylvia Mayer, 17, member of the Cowichan Jersey Calf Club and of the Cowichan Basting Belles Home Arts Club, won the grand aggregate score at the annual 4-H field day held in Cowichan Exhibition grounds, Saturday.

Sylvia took home the Cowichan Creamery Cup and will later be given a gold watch by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. She was first in judging dairy cattle, first in beef cattle, second in sheep judging, second in a 4-H quiz contest, and first with her twin sister, Alison, in the demonstration class.

Runners-up for the grand aggregate score were Maureen Hogan and Roberta Jameson. The marks of the three top scorers were 370, 336 and 334.

All three were seniors, 15 years and over. The three top intermediates, 12-14, were Pamela Jickling, Angela Rodman, Ruth Jameson. The top juniors, under 12, were Jeannine Rodman, Dagmar Roemer, Margaret Horton and Karen Ottosen (tied for third place).

The results were a clean sweep for the girls of the district. Instruction was given in sheep by Noel Dinsdale, Cowichan Bay; in beef cattle by Tom Groves, Westholme; in dairy cattle by Archie Stevenson, Maple Bay, and in home arts by Miss Olwen Sanderson, Cobble Hill.

District agriculturists Ken Jameson and Graham Bradshaw were in charge of events and prizes were given by North Cowichan Mayor Don Morton.

THE TRUTH ABOUT WHAT'S GOING ON AT THE BOTTOM OF FORT STREET

Without fanfare Grenadier Enterprises Ltd. has converted the Old Pacific Club at the corner of Fort and Wharf into Victoria's newest Dining and Dancing establishment. It is called A.J.'s. FREE BOAT RIDE is always a draw . . . and especially when it's going to Nanaimo's beautiful Newcastle Island. About 6,000 revellers took one of three navy "ferries" to resort island Sunday for Coal Tyee Day. Indian council couldn't get provincial ferry and went through political candidate to get navy help.

Sailors Save Day For Indian Party

NANAIMO—Coal Tyee Indian Days almost didn't happen Sunday — until the Navy got into the act with a three-boat ferry service.

Then they almost couldn't stop. Estimates today suggest the Navy carried 6,000 citizens of Nanaimo across to Newcastle Island between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Normally a provincial gocernment subsidized ferry runs out to the island during July and August. Officials planning for the day of Indian festivities could not get authority for its earlier use.

The Indian Council said it tried to get the ferry—sitting idle in Nanaaimo Harbor—out for the day. When they had no luck, they went to federal Liberal candidate Mladen Zorkin, who went in turn to Indian Affairs minister Arthur Laing.

And that is why the Navy provided three harbor craft.

Setting a limit of 100 passengers in each, they ran a shuttle service on the 10-minute trip out to the island. And most of Nanaimo decided to go along for the (free) ride.

Coal Tyee Day — started last year to bring back the ancient Indian days — was a success.

So much a success it took the Navy until midnight Sunday to get everyone back from the island. And the Indians are wondering if they can wangle a federal election next year too.

YOUTH CRUSHED BY CAR

PORT ALBERNI — A city youth was killed here Friday night when a car he was repairing slipped and crushed his chest.

James Anthony Young, 19, died almost instantly, RCMP here said.

The youth was apparently working under the rear of the car — a 1956 Chevrolet — at his home when the jack slipped. The accident occurred about 6 p.m.

The Volvo 145 is a logical extension of the Volvo 144.

On the outside, it's no longer, wider, or higher than the Volvo 144 Sedan. Which makes it just as easy to park and handle.

With the back seat folded out of the way, the 145's cargo compartment gives you 70 cubic feet of carrying space. (And 70 cubic feet, by the way, is space for enough groceries to fill six large refrigerators.) Underneath that compartment is another compartment that gives you 4 cubic feet of hiding space.

So when you've got a lot of things to haul around, you can turn the back seat down and use the Volvo 145 as a station wagon.

And when all you're hauling around is people, you can turn the seat up again and use the 145 as a Volvo.

Major distiller bows to British Columbia taste...

continues producing Double Distilled whisky despite trend to national brands

At a time when whisky producers across Canada are moving to national brands, the B.C. Distillery Company is focussing attention on Double Distilled – a whisky sold almost exclusively in British Columbia. Why? In brief, because Double Distilled wouldn't go away. Small wonder, when you consider its background.

63 years of quality

Since 1904, Double Distilled whisky has been produced in British Columbia for British Columbians. From the beginning its distinctive flavor gained acceptance throughout the province, and over the years its reputation for quality and value stood unsurpassed. It came to be regarded, quite naturally, as British Columbia's own whisky. Yet, ironically, this mark of distinction placed Double Distilled in jeopardy. For as the company began producing other whiskies for national distribution, Double Distilled came to be regarded as a "minor" brand . . . a local oddity. Finally the day arrived when overall operating efficiency demanded the end of Double Distilled.

A logical decision

Logic demanded replacement of the company's only local brand by a nationally-known whisky. Double Distilled, while still produced to meet existing demand, would be ignored. Gradually it would fade away. And indeed, the grand old brand slowly waned. Sales diminished and the end seemed near. Then a remarkable thing happened. Double Distilled stood firm, as British Columbians refused to forget it. Confounded, the company could only relent.

Great days ahead

Who cares that Double Distilled is unheard of in Ontario? That Quebecers know it not? Whisky taste is highly personal . . . and a taste developed over 63 years is something to cherish. Here in British Columbia we know and enjoy the unsurpassed quality and value of the whisky that couldn't be ignored:

'HEY, RUBE!'

Swarming over pitching mound, players of Oakland Athletics and Detroit Tigers transformed sixth inning of American League baseball game into free-for-all. Eruption at Oakland was touched off after Detroit's Jim Northrup (5) had been hit by Jack Aker pitch. Oakland went on to defeat first-place Tigers 7-6 in 10th inning. (AP Wirephoto.)

Tigers Battered By Oakland Visit

Kaline Injured; Drysdale Flings Fourth Shutout

By The Associated Press

The sweetness of an Oakland Athletics' victory over first-place Detroit Tigers was lost in the bitterness of a beanball feud Sunday.

The game, won by Oakland 7-6 in the 10th, was halted for almost 15 minutes—with the score tied 6-6 in the sixth—after Athletics reliever Jack Aker hit Tiger outfielder Jim Northrup in the back of the batting helmet with a pitch.

Northrup went down in a heap but quickly charged the mound and started punching.

Separate fights began and Eddie Mathews of Detroit landed the best punch, hitting Aker below the right eye.

OUT OF ACTION

Aker, scratched and bruised, with the right side of his uniform in shreds, left the game because of injuries.

Umpires Ed Runge and Cal Drummond, explaining the incident later, said they booted Northrup, "because he started it all," and Oakland pitchers Lew Krausse "because he used some badly chosen words" and John Odom "because he kicked Dick McAuliffe of the Tigers in the ribs."

Pinch-hitter Rene Lachemann's single won the game in the 10th, scoring Jim Hunter, a pinch runner for Jim Pagliaroni, who doubled.

The Athletics had staked Chuck Dobson to a 6-0 lead. The Tigers fought back in the fifth with two runs.

KENNEDY CHASED

Don Wert led off the Tigers' sixth with a double and Ray Oyler singled him in and took second when Ted Kubiak dropped the cutoff throw.

Aker replaced Dobson and Jim Price greeted him with a single, Oyler barely beating the throw to the plate.

After Oakland manager Bob Kennedy protested the call and was ejected, Mickey Stanley tripled Price home and scored the tying run on Dick Tracewaski's sacrifice fly.

"I was trying to brush him back but the pitch didn't sail," Aker said about the pitch that hit Northrup. "It sank and Northrup ducked right into it."

Northrup was released from the hospital in ime to join the Tigers for a trip to Anaheim, Calif.

Manager Mayo Smith kept the Tigers' dressing room locked for 30 minutes after the game.

When told that Aker had called Northrup and apologized, Smith shot back: "Then ask Aker what happened. He seems to have all the answers."

"Those things happen in baseball," said Kennedy, who missed most of the fight.

FAN INJURED

During the brawl some of the 14,587 fans tossed debris and one of the Tiger players retaliated by firing a ball into the stands.

It hit Mary Alamieda, 52, San Leandro, Calif., above the right eye, and caused a three-inch gash. She said she didn't know who threw the ball.

Earlier in the game, a pitch by Krausse struck Detroit's injury-plagued Al Kaline and knocked the veteran out of action for two to three weeks. Kaline suffered a hairline fracture of his right forearm.

In the same game, Detroit second baseman Dick McAuliffe tossed his bat in disgust while running out a pop fly, tripped over the bat and severely bruised his thigh. He sat out Sunday's game, and outfielder Willie Horton joined him on the sidelines in the fourth inning after injuring his leg while running out a bunt single.

DRYSDALE TIES MARK

The fireworks at Oakland took away the play from Los Angeles Dodger ace Don Drysdale.

The big righthander tied a modern National League record by scoring his fourth straight shutout. The Dodgers downed Houston Astros 5-0 and Drysdale, in running his scoreless string to 36 consecutive innings, now shares the record with five other pitchers. The major league record is five, set by G. Harris (Doc) White, pitching for Chicago White Sox in 1904.

Adanacs Grab One-Goal Win

By The Canadian Press

The race for top spot in the Western Division of the National Lacrosse Association tightened during the weekend, but Detroit Olympics widened their lead in the Eastern Division.

Portland Adanacs moved into a tie for second just two points out of first, by edging Vancouver Carls 7-6 in a Western Division game Saturday.

In Eastern Division action Sunday, Detroit swamped Toronto Maple Leafs 17-3 to move six points ahead of second-place Peterborough Lakers.

Portland's victory gave the Adanacs four points, the same as New Westminster Salmonbellies and two less than Victoria Shamrocks.

Carls get a chance to make it a three-way tie for the second berth Wednesday when they tackle the Shamrocks in Victoria.

SCORES WINNING GOAL

Kerry Gallagher scored the winning goal for Portland midway through the third period to delight 2,463 fans in Portland.

Gallagher scored two goals for the Adanacs while single goals came from Keith Scott, Bill Bradley, Dick Crompton, Mike Gates and Ivan Stewart.

Vancouver's scorers were Sid Warrick, Dennis Nagy, Ross McDonald, Bob Salt, Bob Babcock and Gord Frederickson.

Ross Jones paced Detroit with five goals. Doug Favell and Grant Heffernan added three each while Gaylord Powless had two. Single goals went to Glen and Bob Brown.

Graeme Gair, John Roberts and Ron McNeil replied for Toronto.

'Poor' Carlings Still Suffering

The Senior's Men's Softball League's "wealthy ones" put away more points Sunday, so you'd have to shed a tear for the "poor".

The sufferers include Victoria Carlings. Their record (no wins in six tries) doesn't give a true picture of the talent in Carls' lineup.

The problem has been hitting.

Sunday, for the first time this season, Carlings out-hit the opposition but still bowed, 2-1, to front-running Nanaimo O'Keefes. The leaders made it a sweep at Central Park by blanking Bate Construction 6-0.

O'Keefes thus remained two points ahead of Victoria Molsons, who also posted a sweep by defeating Tally-Ho 4-1 and 3-2 at Nanaimo.

British Tars Win Soccer Against Vets

Visiting sailors from the HMS Fyfe and HMS Glamorgan had fun on the soccer pitch Sunday but ran into considerable trouble against Victoria teams Saturday in cricket and rugby matches.

Booting British tars thumped Victoria Old-timers 10-3 in Sunday's soccer clash at Naden as Jack Frampton supplied two goals for the host club.

Fyfe cricketers dropped a close, eight-run decision to a Victoria and District Cricket Association side Saturday at Beacon Hill. Geoff Rooper (52 not out) and Doug Doidge (27) were the top batsmen as the Victorians scored 130, all out, while batting first.

The visitors, getting 62, not out, from Lieut. Lobeck, were dismissed for 122.

CFB Esquimalt downed HMS Glamorgan 10-0 and Oak Bay trimmed HMS Fyfe 40-16 in rugby matches at Colville Road.

Rasslin' Title In New Hands

Professional wrestling's "world" tag-team championship fell into new hands at Memorial Arena on Saturday.

That's because the defending champions, the Assassins, stretched the rules too much for the referee's liking. The Assassins were disqualified and the world title went to Haystack Calhoun and Paddy Barrett.

In other bouts, Abdullah defeated Don McLarty, Tex Mckenzie beat Kurt Steiger and Arman Hussein won over Bruce Kirk.

Rain Ruins Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Qualifications for the 500-mile auto race on Thursday went into an extra session today at Indianapolis Motor Speedway for the first time since 1952.

Rain on all but one day of the last three weeks left the time trials schedule in a shambles.

Nine cars qualified in high winds Saturday, headed by Mel Kenyon, Lebanon, Ind., at a modest 165.191 miles per hour. Eight spots remain open in the 33-car line-up.

The track was too wet for speed until well after the 6 p.m. scheduled close of time trials Sunday.

ONE MORE TRY

Rules permitted the Speedway to complete the line-up any way it saw fit, and it decided to let every healthy unqualified car—about 25—make one more run. The 25 already qualified cars were ruled safe from "bumping" by any subsequent superior speeds.

Two provisional qualifications were made at dusk Sunday. Veteran Bill Cheesbourg, Tucson, Ariz., had a slow 157.274 in an Eagle-Ford, and rookie Bill Puterbaugh, Roxanna, Ill., 157.301 in a Gerhardt-Ford.

The three Lotus turbines — driven by Joe Leonard, Graham Hill and Art Pollard — are favored to win the race. Hill won the Grand Prix of Monaco Sunday in a record time after taking the Spanish Grand Prix two weeks ago.

Denis Hulme, New Zealand, world road racing champion last year, qualified Saturday and then rushed off to finish fifth Sunday at Monte Carlo.

Other Saturday qualifiers included rookie sons of two famous drivers who were killed on the Indianapolis track—Tony Bettenhausen's son, Gary, and Bill Vukovich's son, Billy.

MAJOR RULE CHANGES IN WORLD CUP SOCCER

LONDON (AP) — Major changes in the rules governing World Cup soccer play were disclosed Saturday by Harry Caven, president of the Irish Football Association and a vice-president of the International Federation of Football Associations.

Caven, speaking at the annual summer school for Scottish referees, said that substitution of goalkeepers will be allowed at any time. One other player may be substituted up to halftime.

Caven said the rules will apply in the 1970 World Cup finals in Mexico.

It was the first time that such new rules have been made known to the public. Previously no substitutes have been allowed in World Cup matches.

AT SPEEDWAY MEET

Power Pays Dividend For Seattle Drivers

Pilots of local stock cars took on a tough chore Saturday night at Western Speedway and eventually had to yield major honors to Seattle visitors.

Three Sound City throttle-pushers showed up with super stocks for Saturday's meet and were invited to compete against the less-powerful Island stockers.

Only the determined driving of Albert Smith prevented the visitors from sweeping the top three places in the "A" main event.

Leading the pack until the 15th lap of the 25-lap main, Smith finally yielded to the challenges of Seattleites Dennis Scott and Steve Kaiser. He held off against Mike Willard, the other Seattle pilot, to finish third behind Scott and runner-up Kaiser.

WINS TROPHY DASH

Scott also collected a victory in the "A" trophy dash before 2,790 fans after setting the pace in time trials with a clocking of 20:52 seconds.

Islanders dominated the fast heat with Mel Marshall getting the checkered flag ahead of Garry Kershaw and Larry Walker. Kaiser finished fourth.

Another visitor, Ron Morrison of Vancouver, drove a regular stocker to a third place finish in the "B" main event.

Kershaw continued his outstanding performance of past weeks with a fast time of 20:58 among regular stockers in the trials. This is .01-second off his track record set last week. He also provided some excitement in the last lap of the "A" main event by crossing the finish line sideways after connecting with the grandstand wall.

FLIPPED FOUR TIMES

Rookie George Anderson was unhurt after flipping over four times in the first heat.

Another mishap occurred in one of the 10-minute sports car events, as Gary Pepin lost control and crashed into the grandstand wall. Same placings were pasted in both of these races — Dave Anderson first, followed by Dave Hutton and John Storr.

"A" dash: 1. Dennis Scott (Seattle); 2. Rick O'Dell; 3. Larry Walker; 4. Gary Kershaw.

"B" dash: 1. Earl Pollard; 2. Barry Cook; 3. Ron Morrison (Vancouver).

Miller Runs The 'Cleaner' To Drag Win

"Street Cleaner" mopped up all opposition in the featured event Sunday at Van Isle Dragways.

Ron Miller, of Richmond, driving the 427-cubic-inch Falcon, left Al Clark and Brian Roberts' Chev-powered dragster in the dust for two straight runs in a match race.

Next meet is Sunday with gates opening at 9:30 a.m. and eliminations at 1:30 p.m.

Eliminator winners were:

Match race—Ron Miller (Richmond).

Competition eliminator — Bill Egland (Sidney).

Street eliminator — Henry Haslam (Nanaimo).

Top eliminator — Ron Tim (Campbell River).

Super stock eliminator—George Davies (Richmond).

Pure stock eliminator — Tom Harper (Victoria).

Powder puff—Terry Loisalle (Duncan).

Victoria Gunners Right on Target

Two Victoria gunners reaped a harvest of five titles in the two-day British Columbia trapshooting championships that concluded Sunday at Vancouver Gun Club.

Bert Thomas took the big crown, grabbing the A class open singles by shattering 100 straight targets. He also collected the provincial closed A class singles with a score of 197 out of a possible 200.

Rick Bate blasted birds for three titles. Rick took the provincial junior crown (97x100), the B class open singles (98x100) and the C class doubles (89x100).

At Montreal, Canadians took the lion's share of open titles in the Canadian skeet shooting championships despite one of the strongest entries in years from the U.S.

The only crowns to be won without a shootoff went to Bill Rudyk of Oshawa, Ont., who took the open and closed Canadian all-round championships with 494 out of 500. Rudyk lost two shootoffs for other titles, losing to Arch Cumming, Montreal, in both the closed 12-gauge singles and in the closed .410-gauge singles.

Other champions included: Doug Reed, Amherst, N.Y. (12-gauge open singles); Doug Burdett, Angus, Ont. (20-gauge open and closed singles); John Hunter, Lindsay, Ont. (28-gauge open and closed singles); Margaret Burdette, Angus, Ont. (women's open and closed all-around championships); Barney Hartman, Montreal (professional 12-gauge singles).

RUSSIA ADVANCES . . . . . . IN DAVIS CUP

Czechs Edge Belgians

Czechoslovakia needed a final singles victory to join Spain in clinching European Zone Davis Cup victories Sunday while Russia and Romania completed 5-0 sweeps.

The Czechs edged Belgium 3-2 as Milan Holecek held off Eric Drossart 6-3, 6-1, 3-6, 5-7, 6-2 at Brussels after Belgium's Patrick Hombergen had tied the match with a 3-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Jan Kodes.

Juan Gisbert outlasted N. Nerell 10-8, 6-0, 7-9, 3-6, 7-5, and Manuel Santana trounced Ove Bengtson 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 to give Spain a 4-1 count over Sweden at Barcelona.

Russia, which had clinched victory over Yugoslavia Saturday, added two singles victories Sunday for a 5-0 sweep at Moscow.

Romania took the last two singles matches at Oslo to finish with a 5-0 victory over Norway.

England (over Finland) and Italy (over Monaco) completed 5-0 sweeps Saturday.

In Berkeley, Calif, booming serves and strong net play gave Clark Graebner and Arthur Ashe victory Sunday in concluding singles matches as the U.S. wrapped up the American zone semi-final over Mexico 5-0.

In Guayaquil, Ecuador defeated Chile in doubles play for a 2-1 lead in the South American zone final.
